NO FRENCH TREATY, U. S. SAYS

REFUSES TO GIVE GUARANTEE OF AID IN WARTIME

Move Puts Parley in Cloud of Gloom.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—On behalf of the American delegation, Secretary of State Stimson today threw out of the window all of the various and voluminous security pacts that France has been demanding as the price for consenting to an actual reduction in naval disarmament. The United States, says the American delegation, will have none of them—not even a consultative pact or an addition to the Kellogg pact.

Inasmuch as Great Britain is no less opposed than America to entering any agreement underwriting the security of France, the action of the American delegation is tantamount to complete rejection of the terms for armament reduction proposed by the French delegation.

U. S. Delegates Gloomy.

Whether the French, in view of this refusal, will consent to enter a five power treaty, except on the basis of a general increase, instead of a reduction, of armaments, remains to be seen.

The American delegation is extremely gloomy over the prospect. To the American delegates, it looks as if the result will be either a five power treaty with not only no reduction but an increase in armaments, or a three of four power treaty with a string tied to it whereby the powers will be released from compliance with the limitations imposed in the event that France carries out her big building program.

In any event, it would appear that there is little chance of Mr. Stimson making good his claim to a reduction of 30,000 tons in the American navy. In order to effect such a reduction it might be necessary to scrape more than the three battleships already provided for in the Anglo-American agreement.

Hoover Notified of Action.

There are numerous versions of the reasons why the American delegation turned thumbs down on a consultative pact and an addition to the Kellogg pact.

It appears, however, that the order to take this step did not emanate from the White House. As a matter of fact, the White House was notified tonight of Mr. Stimson's action.

According to one version, the American delegation was forced to reject the French terms by Senators David A. Reed and Joseph T. Robinson, who, after hearing from their colleagues in the senate, flatly declared that the inclusion of any political guarantees would jeopardize ratification of the treaty.

According to another story, it was the opposition of the British to the French terms that had most to do with the course taken by Mr. Stimson.

Prime Minister MacDonald declared against any political pact for the reason that the British people are clearly opposed to any further commitments by their government to use their army and navy to protect continental countries.

BRIAND PESSIMISTIC

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—Aristide Briand, head of the French delegation, right experienced extreme pessimism over the outcome of the naval conference. The veteran French foreign minister first endeavored to dispel the idea that he is asking for a military alliance," as the London press labels his demands.

"What France suggests is merely a renewal of mutual assistance, as specifically laid down in the covenant of the league of nations," he said. "The age of alliances is past and the peoples of today will not stand for military conventions. Our political proposals tend only to strengthen the league covenant and implement the Kellogg pact in uniting nations against permitting future warfare."

Paves Way for Failure.

Apparently paving the way for a failure of the conference, Mr. Briand continued: "The great trouble is that too much is expected from these international gatherings. The French people has always been that the real object of this conference was to prepare a foundation for league of nations preparatory disarmament commission to proceed further in its work of arranging for an international disarmament conference."

HOUSE DRY QUIZ JUST STUNT TO HELP KILL TIME

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—It now seems these hearings on the prohibition matter, which have been covering so much space in the papers of late, do not mean anything, because the judiciary committee of the house of representatives, which is taking the testimony, went into the thing merely to kill time, having nothing else to do while waiting for the senate to pass the tariff.

There is no business before the house of representatives at this time and there are usually no more than twenty and sometimes as few as five members present at the sessions, with, perhaps, half a dozen lobbyists hanging around to see that none of the boys become unfixed on anything important that just barely might arise, and no newspaper men at all to report the proceedings.

Like an Owl Lunchroom.

A man who has been dropping in there occasionally tells me the place reminds him of an owl lunchroom at a street car junction in some such town as Des Moines at 3 o'clock in the morning, where one may usually find two or three printers, a night side reporter, a postoffice hand, and, maybe, one of the gay devils of the town, drowsily waiting to get home and call it a night.

But during the session the wets in the house had been tossing a great variety of anti-prohibition bills into the basket and a little while ago old Mr. George S. Graham of Pennsylvania, a wet, who remembers, I cannot say with longing, the days when a statesman could chafe his vest against the bar in the halls of congress and buy a drink, and be damned to the Anti-Saloon League of Ohio, suddenly announced the judiciary committee, of which he is chairman, would hold a hearing on these bills.

Not Really Its Job.

I should think, judging from its name, that the judiciary committee would be concerned only with hiring and, in certain cases which might be plausibly urged upon it, with firing federal judges, and does not know why it should hold hearings on prohibition which can but mock the tenderest feelings of an ever hopeful minority.

But, although sport is my business, neither do I know by just what authority the New York prize fight commissioners presume to bar a prize fighter in Ohio on the ground that his manager hasn't paid his alimony in Idaho.

One may spare one's self no little perplexity by merely admitting that such things are, without demanding to know how they can be. Congressmen and prize fight commissioners are politicians and that, I am coming to believe, is the final explanation of all their vagaries.

Diehard Defender.

At any rate, old Mr. Graham is 81 and a diehard defender of every man's right, as he conceives it, to wet down his personal thirst according to his own taste and means. When he called this hearing on the anti-prohibition bills, all concerned, including himself, were quite aware nothing could come of it.

In the first place, the committee has no intention of making a report of its finding, and furthermore, even if the boys should make one, the eighteen drys would be certain to say prohibition was a very fine thing for the country, against which there would be only five wets to insist prohibition was debauching the young, undermining the law and such as that.

They Do What They're Told.

Irrespective of the evidence, there is no reason for blaming the drys for that, because, regardless of whether they individually do or not take an occasional drink or achieve an occasional Brannigan, they were sent down to Washington to vote dry in all instances. The wets are equally impervious to impudence and argument, because they were sent here with the explicit understanding they must not vote dry on any issue, even though they might become absolutely convinced prohibition were accountable for the current prosperity, if any, the early spring and all other boons which might come to their notice at any given time.

Similarly, the mere fact of a man's instructions from his constituency to vote dry at all times does not embarrass him in his personal drinking, or by the same logic, it might be held obligatory for all wet congressmen to stay drunk at all times.

There are many subsidiary ethical

VOTE WORKER IS SLAIN NEAR POLLING PLACE

William Slaughter, 30 year old Negro of 1158 Larrabee street, was shot in the head last evening in an alley near a polling place at 603 West Division street. Slaughter, a precinct worker for Charles Peace, Thompson Republican committeeman of the Forty-second ward, died an hour later in Henrotin hospital without naming his slayer.

Chicago avenue police took a score of persons in custody, including John Pampinella, 25 years old, 1125 Larrabee street, a worker for Sam Cherry, Deneen precinct captain in the ward. Several of the Negro witnesses declared Slaughter and Pampinella had quarreled during the day over the number of Negroes the former had brought to the polls for registration.

Officials of the polling place, including Samuel Palermo, judge; Anthony and Rose Jeffery, clerks, and Thomas Gennaldi, clerk, denied that the Negro had quarreled with Pampinella in their presence. A flurry was occasioned during examination of the witnesses when Richard Prendergast, defeated for alderman of the 42d ward by Dorsey Crowe in the last election, entered the station and demanded that the police either produce evidence against Pampinella or release him. Lieut. De Mar refused and ordered Pampinella held for the inquest this morning.

HOLD MAIL PLANE FOR INHALATOR TO SAVE BABY

The mail plane for Denver was held ten minutes at the Municipal airport last night while attendants worked swiftly to box an oxygen inhalator, urgently needed for treatment of a 6 year old child critically ill of pneumonia in a hospital at Broadmoor, near Denver.

The patient, a daughter of Harold Ingersoll, formerly of Rockford, Ill., has been ill a week, as is her mother.

By telephone yesterday the father requested Dr. W. L. Crawford of Rockford to get another inhalator in Chicago. The physician communicated with Howard F. Ingram, agent of the inhalator manufacturers, who borrowed one from the Auburn Park hospital, sped with it to the airport, and within 45 minutes of receiving the request saw it packed aboard the plane for Denver.

200 Canaries Sing Bass; Made Hoarse by Smoke

A rubbish fire in the basement of Vaughan's Seed store, 10 West Randolph street, had filled the shop with smoke last night when a pedestrian, Harold Larson, 4655 Lowell avenue, sounded an alarm. Battalion Chief Frank Oswald and his men, who extinguished the fire, reported no damage except for a huskiness, with a slight basso effect, in the chirps of 200 canaries in the store.

Chicago voters again broke all registration figures yesterday by raising the total on the city's poll lists to 1,583,000. This figure will come down materially with the revision Saturday night but it set a new mark for registration before revision, the previous high having been 1,449,442 before the spring primary two years ago.

The total number of names put on the books during the day was 232,271, according to the unofficial figures.

The unrevised registration in each of the fifty wards of the city, showing each ward's previous total, the registration yesterday, and the new totals as they will stand until Saturday night's revision, was as follows:

There were no definite political conclusions announced as a result of the figures from the various wards. Those sections where there is a great deal of moving and those outlying wards that are growing the most rapidly showed the biggest increases.

The Thirty-ninth, up on the northwest side, broke all records by passing the 60,000 mark. A neighbor, the Thirty-seventh, was not far behind with a total of 56,923, and the Seventh, down on the south shore, piled up 53,878, only to be beaten by the Seventeenth with 54,371.

There were few complaints concerning efforts to pad the poll list. One came from the 11th precinct of the 27th ward. The state's attorney's office rushed a police squad there but failed to find proof of the charges said to have been made by Deneen watchers.

Hospital Bars Baby, but Woman Leaves It on Steps

Miss Ella Maley, superintendent of the St Margaret's Maternity home, 2501 West Monroe street, last evening informed a well dressed woman who pleaded poverty and tried to leave a baby there that there was no room left in the home. The woman departed, but a little later Miss Maley opened the door and the baby was on the step. The infant was taken to the St. Vincent orphanage.

S. M. Felton, Veteran Rail Executive, Dies

Samuel Morse Felton, dean of Chicago railroad executives and chairman of the Chicago Great Western railroad, died late last night at the Passavant Memorial hospital. He was 77 years old. He had been a patient at the hospital since last Nov. 19, when he suffered a heart attack that was accompanied by a slight stroke of paralysis.

Mr. Felton's long experience as a railroad leader was recognized by the government when the United States entered the world war. He was appointed director general of military railways by Secretary of War Baker and in this capacity he had charge of the organization and dispatch to France of all American railway forces and supplies. He also supervised the transportation of troops to the Atlantic seaboard. At the close of the war he was given the American Distinguished Service medal and awarded the cross of the Legion of Honor by the French government.

Native of Pennsylvania.

Born on Feb. 3, 1853, at Philadelphia, Mr. Felton was a descendant of colonial ancestors who settled in Salem, Mass., in 1633. His father, Samuel Morse Felton, was a railroad man before him, superintendent of the Fitchburg railroad in 1843 and later president of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore line. During the civil war the elder Felton arranged for the secret passage of President Lincoln from Harrisburg, Pa., to Washington through Baltimore, where a plot had been arranged for the wrecking of the train and the assassination of Lincoln.

The younger Felton attended private schools and the Philadelphia Military academy and was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1873.

In Chicago Since 1899.

He first came to Chicago in 1899 as president of the Chicago and Alton railroad after 26 years with various roads in the southern and eastern parts of the country. He remained with the Alton until 1907, when he became president of the Mexican Central railway. Two years later he was made president of the Chicago Great Western and held that position until 1925, when he became chairman of the board of directors of that railroad.

After his war service Mr. Felton was appointed vice chairman of the port and harbor facilities commission of the United States shipping board.

In 1880 Mr. Felton married Miss Dora Hamilton, the daughter of a well known lawyer in Philadelphia. Mrs. Felton died in 1923. Their four children all survive. They are Mrs. Hopewell L. Rogers, 900 Michigan avenue; Mrs. William Campbell Posey of Philadelphia; Mrs. William F. Sowers of Washington, D. C., and Samuel Morse Felton Jr. of Philadelphia.

Lived With Daughter.

For many years Mr. and Mrs. Felton resided in a mansion at the southwest corner of Dearborn and Schiller streets. Recently, however, Mr. Felton had made his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers.

He was a past president of the Western Railway association. He was a member of the Western Society of Engineers, the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the Sons of the American Revolution. He was a member of the Chicago, Chicago Golf, and the Saddle and Cycle clubs, the Chicago Athletic association, and also of the University club of New York and of the Commercial club in Cincinnati.

Funeral services probably will be held tomorrow at St. Chrysostom's church, 1406 North Dearborn street. Burial will be at Philadelphia.

10,000 MARCH BY WHILE BODY LIES IN STATE

Soldiers Escort Bier to Church, Grave.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

The only President to rest in the famous cemetery, he lies in a secluded oak grove, a little apart from generals, admirals and others who fought in the country's wars. As his body was lowered to its grave late today the sun broke through the skies that had been heavily overcast during a day marred by driving rain and blustering wind.

Half an hour later the skies were clear, in striking contrast to the earlier hours, which were reminiscent of the Taft inauguration day a little more than 21 years ago.

Cortége in Rainstorm.

While there was no snow today, as in March, 1909, when the inaugural parade was abandoned and the city was cut off from communication with the outside world, the elements again today seemed to conspire to put obstacles in the way of honors planned for him.

A terrific rainstorm was at its height as the body was conveyed by an imposing military escort in the middle of the day from the capitol to All Souls' Unitarian church.

The troops from the army, navy, and marine corps were drenched to the skin as they marched behind an artillery caisson carrying the flag draped body of the former President and chief justice.

Throughout the morning a drizzling rain fell as the body lay in state in the rotunda of the capitol. Ten thousand persons passed by to view his face despite the adverse conditions.

120 Autos in Procession.

The rain continued to fall as the church services were in progress early in the afternoon and as a procession of 120 automobiles followed a motor hearse carrying the body to the cemetery.

Although the weather was adverse, the nation's capital accorded every possible honor to the man who had held an unparalleled succession of public offices. The government departments closed at noon, as did places of business.

The presidential salute of twenty-one guns boomed out from Fort Myer as the funeral procession approached the cemetery. An army squad fired three salvos as the services at the grave came to a close. The military forces of which Mr. Taft was once the commander in chief figured in the ceremonies throughout the day.

Hoovers at Services.

President Hoover and Mrs. Hoover, Vice President Curtis and his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann; Speaker and Mrs. Longworth, members of the cabinet, delegations from the senate and house, foreign diplomats, and many others of prominence were at the church services and at the grave.

The eight justices of the Supreme court, headed by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, acted as honorary pallbearers. Gen. John J. Pershing, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, and others of the high officials of the army and navy also were present.

As the procession reached the cemetery the Third cavalry, headed by its band, swung into line and preceded the automobiles to the grave. Already lined up at the grave were detachments of troops from the army, navy, and marine corps, together with the navy band.

Soldiers Carry Casket.

The casket was carried up a slope to the grave by noncommissioned officers of the three military services, the navy band playing "Abide with Me."

Following the body were the justices of the Supreme court. Then came members of the Taft family. Mrs. Taft was on the arm of her son, Robert A. Taft.

Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, the daughter, was with Charles P. Taft, the other son.

The two brothers of the former President, Henry and Horace Taft, and other relatives also were in the group.

The Rev. Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, pastor of All Soul's Unitarian church, Mr. Taft's pastor for nearly 25 years, officiated at the grave as well as at the church.

Dr. Pierce opened the simple committal service by reading the Lord's prayer. He then recited Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," and closed with a few words of scripture. The stillness was broken by three shots from the firing squad and taps then were sounded by Sergt. Frank Wichet of the 3d cavalry band, who had paid the same tribute to President Harding, William Jennings Bryan, and the Unknown Soldier.

At the church services, which commenced promptly at 2 o'clock as the military procession arrived from the capitol, there was no eulogy nor choir. Music was furnished by an organ, chimes, and a string quartet.

President and Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by their military and naval aids, arrived at the church at 1:45 o'clock. They were seated on the front seat at the center. Vice President Curtis and Mrs. Gann, who arrived a little later, were seated beside the Hoovers. Behind the presidential party were justices of the Supreme court, diplomats, and others. Members of the Taft family sat on one side of the church.

Flowers in great profusion were banked across the entire altar.

Play "Lead, Kindly Light."

The church, seating about 900, was nearly full as the procession arrived. The strains of "Lead, Kindly Light," from one of the military bands, could be heard within the church. The church bell, 107 years old, began to toll and the casket, covered with a flag, was borne up the center aisle. Dr. Pierce preceded the casket and the Supreme court justices followed immediately behind it. The minister recited verses of scripture as he led the processional. When the casket had been placed in position at the front of the church the organ and chimes played "Lead, Kindly Light." Dr. Pierce read from the 18th chapter of the Book of Exodus and then led in prayer.

Dr. Pierce then read from two poems, Wordsworth's "The Happy Warrior" and Tennyson's "Ode on the Death of Wellington." The organ and string quartet played and Dr. Pierce pronounced the benediction. The bell again tolled as the casket was carried out and placed in a motor hearse for its final journey to Arlington.

Lies in Capitol Rotunda.

The former President's body rested for nearly three hours in the rotunda of the capitol this morning while thousands filed by to see him for the last time. Encircled by floral wreaths and half draped in the folds of a flag, the bronze and silver casket lay in the center of the great circular chamber, on the catafalque which bore the bodies of Abraham Lincoln, James A. Garfield, William McKinley, Warren G. Harding, Admiral George Dewey, and the Unknown Soldier.

In double columns the mourners walked by the bier at the rate of sixty a minute. From 9:15 a. m. until noon, when the body was removed to All Souls' church, they streamed by.

Soldiers on Guard.

At each corner of the bier throughout the morning stood one of the guard of honor composed of two infantry sergeants, a marine sergeant, and a petty officer of the navy.

A single wreath of butterfly roses, delphiniums, and mignonettes, sent by President and Mrs. Hoover, lay at the foot of the casket. Grouped around were a profusion of huge sprays and wreaths sent by the diplomatic corps, the Red Cross, and other groups and friends of Mr. Taft.

Unmindful of the unfavorable weather, thousands lined the streets as the body, in a flag draped casket borne on an artillery caisson, was taken from the Taft home to the capitol and later to All Saints Unitarian church. It had been drizzling for more than an hour when two troops of cavalry followed by the funeral caisson drew up before the Taft home in Wyoming avenue this morning. The black caisson, drawn by perfectly matched white artillery horses, took its place directly in front of the house while the cavalrymen, their sabers at "present," drew up against the far curb facing the home.

Hundreds Bare Heads in Rain.

A few minutes before 9 o'clock, eight picked enlisted men of the army, navy and marine corps entered the house and as they reappeared, bearing the casket, a bugle sounded. Five hundred or more persons stood bareheaded in the rain as the casket with the blue field of its flag over Mr. Taft's face was lifted to the caisson and strapped into position. The bodybearers stepped back, an officer far down the street gave the order "Fours right" and William Howard Taft had begun his last journey.

One troop of cavalry, with the national flag, the regimental flag, and the troop guidons preceded the caisson, with motorcycle policemen to clear the route to the capitol.

Just at 9:30 the procession entered Pennsylvania avenue after passing through West Executive avenue, where President and Mrs. Hoover stood with heads bared under the north portico of the White House. Down Pennsylvania avenue the cortège passed, rounding Peace monument at the foot of Capitol hill and up the winding roadway to the east plaza of the capitol.

While the casket was being borne up the great stairs through the east door into the capitol rotunda, the cavalry escort took its place with other rain soaked and shivering units of artillery, infantry, marines, and bluejackets drawn up on the plaza.

As a bugle sounded, the soldiers, sailors, and marines snapped to attention and the casket, borne gently down the steps, was again strapped on the caisson. As the body bearers stepped back the marine band played "Onward, Christian Soldiers," and as last notes died away the cortège moved off with the army band playing Chopin's Funeral March.

Back again through Pennsylvania avenue to the treasury, passing the White House, through Madison place and H street into 16th street, "the Avenue of the Presidents," the cortège wound its way to All Souls' Unitarian church at Harvard street.

As the head of the procession reached the church where Mr. Taft had worshiped throughout the years he spent in Washington, the army band played "Lead, Kindly Light," one of the former President's favorite hymns, and one unit after another the escort swung into position before the church.

Twenty-one Foreign Nations Pay Official Tribute to Taft

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—World-wide sorrow caused by the death of former President Taft was reflected in the messages of condolence received by President Hoover from the capitals of foreign nations.

Germany, Canada, Belgium, Italy, Japan, Spain, Austria, Bulgaria, Denmark, China, Norway, Sweden, and virtually all the Latin-American states were among the twenty-one countries which made known their sympathy in communications sent directly by the heads of states or by their diplomatic representatives in Washington.

"I express to your excellency, on the occasion of the demise of the former President, Mr. Taft, my heartfelt sympathy," President Von Hindenburg of Germany stated in a message of condolence.

Ambassador di Martino of Italy informed the President that his government had learned with deep sorrow of the death of Mr. Taft.

"This noble figure will remain always in the hearts of all his friends and admirers, and his name as a perennial example of work, duty, and devotion to the country," the ambassador said.

"I am directed to express on behalf of the Japanese government the most sincere sympathy and condolence to the government and people of the United States for the loss they have sustained in the passing away of William Howard Taft," Ambassador Debuchi stated in his message.

Vincent Massey, Canadian minister to the United States, praised Mr. Taft as a promoter of interhational good will.

"Canada," he said, "shares with other countries the loss which the world has sustained in the passing of one who was a friend at all times to those causes which have as their object the promotion of international friendship and good will."

PLEAS OF VICTIM FREE 3 CHARGED WITH EXTORTION

Case Reported Closed in Grand Jury Room.

The grand jury yesterday was reported to have decided not to indict three young men who were charged with writing letters threatening death to Erik Borg, 7000 Pingree street, a wealthy building contractor, and his daughter, Beatrice, 17 years old, and demanding $1,000. From what could be learned of the grand jury proceedings, it was reported that Borg himself had pleaded with the grand jurors to vote no bills against the men, who had previously been held in $10,000 bonds by Judge Howard Hayes in the Municipal court.

The three young men accused of the attempted extortion are Gunner Hartzell, 19 years old, 6744 North Maplewood avenue; his brother, Carl, 21 years old; and Arden Brooks, 18 years old, 2322 Morse avenue, son of a retired policeman. They were arrested by Policemen James Ryan, Rocco Filetti, and William Balzano, who appeared yesterday to testify at the grand jury hearing.

"McConnell from Deneen's Office."

Borg also appeared and he had with him a man whom he introduced to the policemen as "McConnell from Senator Deneen's office." Another present was Assistant State's Attorney A. J. Vlachos, a recent appointee to the staff of State's Attorney Swanson, who joined Borg in declaring himself worried about a possible blemish against the names of the defendants, the policemen said.

Last night Ryan, Filetti, and Balzano wrote reports to Commissioner of Police Russell describing the case on which they had worked day and night for two weeks and telling what had happened to it.

The facts in the case, as given at the municipal court hearing, were as follows:

About the middle of February Borg received his first threatening letter. He was told to put $500 in a package beside his garage and was told death would follow if he failed. He ignored the threat and a short time later he received a second letter raising the demand to $1,000. This letter included a threat against his daughter.

The policemen then took up the case and finally captured Brooks when he appeared in the yard of the Armstrong public school to pick up a decoy package. Brooks confessed and named his companions.

Borg testified against the youths in the municipal court and expressed a determination to see the defendants brought to justice. He wrote a letter to Commissioner Russell praising the work of the policemen, they said.

Case Goes to Grand Jury.

Judge Hayes held the defendants to the grand jury and the case was scheduled for disposition yesterday. Ryan, Filetti, and Balzano met Borg with "McConnell from Senator Deneen's office" outside the grand jury room and Prosecutor Vlachos joined the group. The policemen reported to their superiors that they were questioned by Borg, McConnell and Vlachos about what they intended to do when called before the jury.

The policemen said they would testify to the facts. It was then that Borg came forward, they said, with an explanation that he had just discovered recently that he was a good friend and church associate of the parents of the Hartzell boys. He thought the boys had been punished enough and had "learned their lesson," the policemen said he told them.

Prosecutor Argues with Police.

Prosecutor Vlachos also argued that it would not be the right thing to indict the youths, according to the policemen. Ryan, Filetti and Balzano suggested the possibility of indictment, trial and probation, but they said they were told that would never do because it would put a blemish against the names of the young men and that was the thing to be avoided.

Borg and Policeman Ryan testified before the jury. Borg told the jurors, it was reported, that he felt sorry for the boys and would be satisfied with no indictment. In response to questions from the jurors, he denied he had been 'fixed,' it was said. Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Spiro was reported to have advised the jurors that they could disregard Borg's recommendation for clemency if they desired.

Two Policemen Not Called.

Policemen Balzano and Filetti, who were away for a few minutes testifying in a courtroom, were not called before the grand jury. When told that a no bill had been voted without their testimony they announced they would report to Commissioner Russell.

Borg later said he had consulted the Rev. Victor Hedberg, pastor of the First Baptist church, which he and the Hartzells attend, about the situation. He said that Mr. Hedberg referred him to his son, Victor Hedberg Jr., an attorney, and then Mr. Connell was called into the case. The younger Hedberg could not be reached, but his father said he thought it a good thing to give the defendants another chance.

The only McConnell connected with Senator Deneen's office, it was said, is an Attorney McConnell working individually for John H. S. Lee, a member of the law firm of which Mr. Deneen is also a member.

OBERTA BURIED IN ACCUSTOMED GANGLAND STYLE

10,000 Struggle to See $15,000 Coffin.

ST KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Dion [Dingbat] Oberta, last week's victim of gangland's sinister custom of "taking 'em for a ride" was buried yesterday in the style to which he had been accustomed.

Even the extravagant predictions of the extent and scale of the obsequies were surpassed in the vast throng that pushed and argued for three hours yesterday morning around and about the residence at 5544 South Richmond street.

A detachment of police battled helplessly against an estimated crowd of 3,000 swarming through the block, avid for a glimpse of the casket valued at $15,000, or for a peep at the blanket of orchids that covered it—called by experts on gang funerals the most costly floral piece ever assembled in Chicago. The latter was the final memento of Dingbat's widow, Mrs. Florence Oberta.

Mother Is Grief Stricken.

The elbowing throng became silent as the pallbearers, conspicuous in black suits, appeared on the porch. As they prepared to carry the casket out, Oberta's mother began to scream hysterically, and the door was hastily closed as efforts were made to quiet her. The mother and the widow clung to the casket for tearful farewells before it was finally closed, and they were led away. Joe Saltis, gangland chieftain who formerly was a close friend of the slain man, was the last to leave, and he mumbled to himself as he turned away.

"Carry my Johnnie out the back way—don't let them see him," begged Mrs. Antoinette Oberta, referring to the crowds outside, "they didn't care about him."

Widow Calm Before Crowd.

Behind her Mrs. Florence Oberta, wearing a widow's garb for the second time in less than two years, waited composedly. A few minutes before she had been almost in a state of collapse for the first time since she heard, last Wednesday night, that John Oberta had gone the way of her first husband, Big Tim Murphy, who died from machine gun bullets on the lawn of his own home on Morse avenue. But the widow quickly controlled the outward evidence of her grief as she came within view of the crowd.

Two priests of the Independent Polish National Catholic church conducted a brief prayer service in the house. They were Father J. W. Kobiawski and Father L. W. Koziawski. Another clergyman, the Rev. Joseph Gawryck, accompanied the funeral to the Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

As the cortége, which was two miles in length, arrived at the cemetery, it was found that hundreds had preceded the procession and had grouped themselves about the grave to witness the last rites. Oberta was laid in the same lot and beside the last resting place of Big Tim for whom he had been a pallbearer.

Four carloads of flowers followed the hearse to the cemetery. The casket was borne by Michael Ruddy, state representative; William Pierzynski, congressional candidate from the fourth district; John Shea, Oberta's secretary as ward committeeman; George Haas, Stanley Cimba, and Paul Beiskis.

BOY KILLED BY TRUCK; COUNTY TOLL NOW 177

Ten year old Peter Martinis, 535 North Leavitt street, was fatally injured yesterday when struck by a truck at Ohio and Leavitt streets while he was on his way to the Ellen Mitchell school, at Oakley avenue and Ohio street. The driver, Anthony Schwocher, 3432 North Campbell avenue, was held.

The boy's death and two others raised the 1930 Cook county motor toll to 177. The victims:

Ike Salisberry, 38 years old, colored, 8 West 24th street; died in the county hospital of injuries received when struck by a hit and run motorist at State and 51st streets on March 1.

Frank Gunslorowski, 56 years old, 8501 Brandon avenue; died in the South Chicago hospital of injuries received Sunday when struck by an automobile at Burley avenue and 84th street. The driver, Merritt Coolman of Hammond, was charged with assault.

James G. Holderness, candidate for alderman in the 5th ward of De Kalb, Ill., died in a De Kalb hospital of injuries received in that city Monday night when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by the Los Angeles Limited of the Chicago and North Western railroad. Two companions were instantly killed. Holderness was the father of five children.

James Johnstone, 37 years old, of East Chicago, Ind., was killed, and Guy Marsh, 36 years old, also of East Chicago, Ind., was seriously injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a telegraph pole on Indianapolis boulevard at Calumet avenue in Hammond.

Grave in which Oberta was buried, a few feet from the tombstone of Big Tim Murphy, also victim of gunmen, whose widow he married.

Charge for Alley Parking Is Investigated by City

Charges that the proprietors of a paid parking space are also taxing motorists for parking in an adjoining alley, leading off Clark street between Wacker drive and Lake street, were being investigated yesterday at the request of Ald. John J. Coughlin [1st]. On the Clark street entrance to the alley a sign, "Use Other Entrance," forces the motorist into the hands of the concessionaire, according to the complaints.

Langguth, Defunct Bank Head, Gives $50,000 Bond

Elmer P. Langguth, president of the defunct People's State bank of Maywood, surrendered yesterday and gave bonds of $50,000 to guarantee his appearance at trial for embezzling funds of the bank. He was indicted several weeks ago with Miss Lavergne Lindgren, cashier of the bank. Mrs. Beatrice Langguth, wife of the defendant, and his father, accompanied the former bank president to the courtroom.

BANDITS SHOOT POLICEMAN; 2 ARE CAPTURED

One Confesses Posing as Gang's Victim.

After posing for five hours as the victim of three bandits who, he said, had robbed him of his automobile and later wounded a south park policeman in a pistol battle at 67th street and South Shore drive, John Dobbeck, 25 years old, 6018 Kenwood avenue, a meat inspector at a government warehouse, confessed to the Woodlawn police early this morning that he and two others had shot the policeman.

Dobbeck said he went almost directly from the scene of the shooting to the station to report his automobile stolen as a means of averting suspicion. He was arrested when the "stolen" car was found parked in front of the station.

Policeman Shot Three Times.

The policeman, Patrick F. McMahon, who is 39 years old and lives at 7814 Euclid avenue, is in the Illinois Central hospital with three bullet wounds in the abdomen.

He was shot when he came upon three men attempting to rob Raymond Schmidt, 23 years old, 2319 North Avers avenue, and Miss Agnes Smith, 20 years old, 5145 Union avenue, as they were seated in their parked car listening to a radio built into the car.

Dobbeck's first story to the police was that he had been forced to drive to 70th street and Chappel avenue by three bandits who took his car and $14. In his confession he named his brother, Stanley, as one of his companions on the robbery expedition, but refused to identify the third member of the party except as Joe. The police went to the Dobbeck home and arrested Stanley.

Seek Wounded Robber.

The police learned that John and Stanley Dobbeck have a brother named Joe, and he was taken into custody. He convinced Lieut. George Teeling, however, that he had nothing to do with the shooting. Lieut. Teeling said he had a line on the identity of "Joe" and expected to have him in custody before morning. There was a possibility, police said, that "Joe" was wounded by Policeman McMahon. Teeling that after shooting McMahon he dropped Stanley Dobbeck in the park and went home. From there his common law wife, Alice Moore, accompanied him to the station and sat in the car while he reported the "theft."

UNION LEAGUE OF NEW YORK "WET" IN POLL

New York, March 11.—[Special.]—By an overwhelming majority the Union League club, often referred to as the "solid rock of the G. O. P.," has decided in its membership poll on pronibition to go on record as "wet." About 1,000, or two-thirds of the total membership of 1,500, responded to the poll, it was learned at the club tonight. Of these 900, or 90 per cent, expressed opposition to the present dry laws.

Two questions were submitted. One asked whether repeal of the eighteenth amendment were favored. The second asked whether, in case the voter did not desire repeal of the amendment, he would prefer to have the Volstead act amended. It was said that a "surprising majority" favored a straight repeal.

While the Union League club follows the national Republican club in coming out against prohibition, the Union League action is conceded to have a far more powerful effect on the Republican party in the nation. The national Republican club, after a bitter fight, adopted a resolution Monday night urging repeal of the eighteenth amendment by a vote of 461 to 345.

An unusual atmospheric condition afforded Chicago a brief aftertaste of winter weather yesterday. With the temperature at 42 degrees, 10 points above freezing, snow flurries occurred shortly after midday. It was only an apparent violation of the natural laws, however, as explained by C. A. Donnel, chief of the weather bureau.

A cold wave, passing through a stratum of air between the clouds and the earth's surface, precipitated moisture in snow crystals, which were too firmly frozen to melt before they touched the ground, Mr. Donnel said. A sportive March wind, which attended the snow flurries, caused feminine pedestrians some effort to keep their apparel in order. Mr. Donnel predicted fair weather today.

Receiver for Hotel Gary Asked by Bondholders

A receiver for the Hotel Gary company was asked yesterday in a petition filed on behalf of the Central Trust company and M. Ernest Greenebaum Jr., trustees for holders of $1,000,000 in first mortgage bonds. The hotel was erected three years ago at a cost of $2,500,000. The company has failed to pay approximately $80,000 in principal and interest due last Jan. 1, according to the plaintiffs.

901 ARRESTED AS GUN TOTERS; 595 ESCAPE JAIL

Figures Show How Courts Freed Arrested Men.

The Chicago police arrested 901 gun toters between Jan. 1, 1929, and Feb. 28 of this year, it was revealed yesterday in figures prepared by James A. Kearns, clerk of the Municipal court.

The figures were brought forth to answer charges that the police had not been doing their full duty in rounding up gunmen. They followed a statement by Commissioner of Police Russell that his men had been doing their utmost. He emphasized that the policemen could do not more than arrest the criminals.

Mr. Kearns' tables showed that of the gunmen arrested only 283 of those whose cases came before the courts had been sentenced to jail. Of these only 53 received the maximum imprisonment of one year; 46 were sentenced to six months, with or without a fine, and 184 escaped with jail sentences ranging from five days to six months. A total of 595 escaped jail terms.

Sends Cases to Grand Jury.

A month ago Commissioner Russell adopted the policy of sending gun toters directly to the grand jury for indictment and prosecution instead of taking them before Municipal court judges, and he said he expected more drastic treatment for gunmen under the new system. The commissioner would not comment last night on the figures of the Municipal court regarding gun cases.

It was shown that 32 cases were dismissed in the court of Judge Matthew D. Hartigan, while the court of Judge Samuel H. Trude was second in the number of dismissals with 28.

Why Gunmen Were Freed.

Court attachés said that in many cases where the accused were discharged by the judge or jury the assistant state's attorney handling the prosecution had failed to present proof that the weapon was "on or about the person" of the defendant, a number of the cases being decided on evidence that the gun was found in an automobile in which the defendant was riding.

It was explained, also, that several cases were dismissed because of the contention that the gunman was illegally searched—that the policeman had no authority to search his person. The assistant state's attorneys nol prossed [caused to be dismissed without trial] 46 of the 901 cases, the records showed, and it was said that illegal search was the reason given for the dropping of many of these cases.

126 Put on Probation.

At the clerk's office it was said some judges were much more lenient than others with gun carriers. Chief of Detectives Stege looked over the list of cases and put his pencil on the names of 22 well known underworld characters who fared well in the municipal courts. He called attention to the fact that 126 gun carriers were put on probation during the 14 months for which the list was compiled.

It was explained that a number of the cases were listed as dismissed for want of prosecution. Stege said that if a policeman arrested a man for gun toting and din't appear in court to prosecute he believed the judge and assistant state's attorney should have investigated and perhaps ordered a continuance until the policeman could be called into court.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN TO CLEAR CITY OF CRIME REPUTATION

Plans to remove the impression that Chicago is a crime stronghold will be made at a dinner of 1,200 executives and business men within the next three weeks, according to an announcement from the Better Business bureau yesterday. Last week the directors of the bureau met to discuss the situation and a campaign to protect the reputation of the city will be completed at the dinner.

In explaining the bureau's object last night Elmer F. Wiebolt, president of the directors, said: "Chicago business leaders who have the city's prosperity at heart realize that Chicago's industrial growth is endangered by the false light in which the city has been placed by its unfair reputation for being a stronghold of gunmen and thugs.

"I am assured by dozens of men who have written to me that all agree that the time has come when business itself must rise to protect the reputation of the city, if we are to expect strangers to visit us, new industries to settle here, and if we expect the nation to have confidence in Chicago.

"The time for fine words has passed. Chicago's bad reputation is today exacting a toll in dollars and cents, for conservative business interests of the nation hesitate to place confidence in the institutions of a city that allows itself to acquire a reputation for harboring bad men and thugs."

Found Guilty of Charges.

Court attachés pointed out that in the 126 cases where probation was granted and in the 127 cases where only fines were imposed, the defendants were actually found guilty of the charges.

Miscellaneous figures were furnished by Mr. Kearns which showed, in addition to the cases accounted for in the tables, that six gun carriers were sent to the Juvenile court for trial, one was held to the grand jury, no disposition order was found in six cases, the bond of six gun toters were forfeited, three cases are pending and one man was sentenced to one year in jail by a country judge and another was dismissed by another country judge sitting temporarily in the Municipal court.

O'DONNELL IS FOR PEACE

Peace reigns on the south side and will continue to reign as far as Edward (Spike) O'Donnell is concerned, O'Donnell assured Chief of Detectives Stege yesterday. O'Donnell made a formal call at the detective bureau to inquire if he was wanted, either in connection with the slaying of John (Dingbat) Oberta or in the general roundup of hoodlums.

"Not me," O'Donnell asserted when questioned about the beer war. "I'm in the coal business. Why, I sell coal to the city. I even deliver coal right to this building and to the city hall. I'm not mixed up with those fellows on the south side."

"Are there going to be any more shootings out that way?" Stege asked.

"As far as I'm concerned there won't be any," O'Donnell said. "I had a few narrow escapes in my time, but that time is gone."

Recalls One Narrow Escape.

Stege said he knew that O'Donnell and Oberta were enemies and O'Donnell said that he had not cared much for the slain gangster. One of his narrow escapes, he recalled, was the time some one shot at him with machine guns two years ago, and he found Oberta's automobile near his home. "I'm not sorry he's dead," O'Donnell added.

He went his way unmolested, having convinced the police he is not dangerous at present, but city officials later declared there is no truth to O'Donnell's claim of selling coal to the city.

George [Bugs] Moran, his bodyguard, Leo Mongoven, and his friend, Julian [Potatoes] Kauffman, were also freed yesterday when the state's attorney did not press any charges against them, though the prosecutor's office had demanded the arrest of all known gangsters.

It was intimated yesterday at the state's attorney's office that, failing to prove crimes against the gangsters, the prosecutors would request Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackidge, federal collector of internal revenue, to investigate the income tax affairs of such characters as Moran, Kauffman, Joe Saltis and Spike O'Donnell.

TRY 3 AS KILLERS OF DOCTOR AFTER YEAR OF DELAYS

Three alleged slayers of Dr. George Thilo were put on trial yesterday in Judge John J. Sullivan's Criminal court. The case has been delayed for more than a year. Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and Nat Ruvell are seeking a jury that will be ready to recommend the death penalty. Four jurors have been selected.

The delays in bringing the trio to trial for the murder, which occurred during an attempt to rob the physician and his wife, have caused the Chicago Medical society and the Chicago Crime commission to issue bulletins criticising the authorities for apparent lack of interest in the case. The case has been shunted from courtroom to courtroom and from prosecutor to prosecutor.

The accused, Allan Goldstein, 19 years old; Lawrence Ogden, 25, and Raymond Scott, 20, have finally been brought to trial as a result of the insistence of Dr. Thilo's widow. She kept urging the authorities to try the men for the murder of her husband after they had apparently slipped unnoticed into Pontiac reformatory on robbery charges. They were not even indicted for the murder at the time and the excuse offered was that the mittimus for holding the trio in the murder case had been mislaid.

The crime occurred when Dr. and Mrs. Thilo were walking toward their home at 3850 North Kildare avenue on the night of Dec. 14, 1928. The defendants, it is charged, jumped from their automobile and put revolvers against the physician. Dr. Thilo failed to obey the command to hold up his hands quick enough and was knocked to the pavement. He died a few days later as a result of being kicked by the bandits

U. S. TAX RETURNS FALL; ONLY 4 DAYS LEFT FOR FILING

With only four more days to file federal income tax returns, collections in the Chicago area at the close of business yesterday showed a decrease of $1,706,542 as compared to the figures of a year ago.

The stock market crash of last fall has been blamed for a general slump in the collections over the country, but the decline here is attributed by Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackidge, collector of internal revenue, to the lower tax rate more than to the business depression.

From Jan. 1 to March 11 a total of 60,900 returns were filed in 1929, while 75,200 returns had been filed last night. Total collections to date this year are $8,779,484.41, as compared to $10,486,031 up to March 11 last year.

The 1930 rate for individual tax payers with incomes of $4,000 or less is ½ of 1 per cent, while last year it was 1½ per cent. For the next $4,000 the rate was reduced from 3 to 2 per cent, and for higher incomes it was reduced from 5 to 3 per cent. The corporation tax was reduced from 12 to 11 per cent.

All returns must be filed or mailed by midnight Saturday.

BRITISH LABOR RULE SUFFERS FIRST DEFEAT

MacDonald Refuses to Quit as Premier.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government met its first defeat in the house of commons tonight. It was beaten by eight votes on the Conservative party's amendment to the proposal in the government's mines bill to impose a levy on all coal mined, so as to allow a bounty being paid on the export of fuel. The voting on the amendment to delete the government's proposal was 282 for and 274 against it.

Although the opposition greeted the result with shouts of "Resign, resign!" and both Conservatives and Liberals rose and cheered wildly, waving order papers, while counter demonstrations started among the ministerialists, Prime Minister MacDonald definitely refused, announcing that the government "intended to go on with their program until a vote of censure was passed on a major question."

To Face Vote of Censure.

The government front bench sat still and glum, while the rest of the house was wildly excited as Mr. MacDonald declared, in reply to a query by Stanley Baldwin, that he was prepared to face on Thursday the proposed vote of censure on Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden's timid attitude regarding his "safeguarding" intentions in next month's budget "as a test of strength."

The prime minister took the view that the levy was not an essential part of the coal bill, and said that the government intended to proceed with the measure.

With this announcement most of the members poured out of the house into the smoking rooms and lobbies, while a faithful few remained to debate upon another amendment.

Foes Unite in Attack.

Almost a solid combination of the Conservative and Liberal sections of the opposition brought the adverse vote. Two hundred and forty Conservatives and 42 Liberals marked in the division lobbies. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, was absent through indisposition, and one or two other Liberals had left the house earlier.

The amendment which brought defeat was moved by Col. Lane Fox, who declared that the government's levy proposal, enabling coal to be sold at a lower price for export than for home consumption, was a "crazy scheme and an act of madness and a proposal that we should subsidize foreign competition against which our heavy industries are finding it so difficult to compete."

Fireworks Start.

Then followed a rapid enfilading fire from both sides of the opposition.

"A crazy idea," declared Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, former minister of the board of trade.

"Disastrous to every trade," cried Sir Albert Ward, a Conservative.

"Thoroughly reactionary and a strange and inverted kind of protection," shouted Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal stalwart.

After the fateful division it was indicated that the government would not take a serious view of the defeat in so far as it may show the possible fate of the bill's third reading. In the lobbies tonight there is no question of the Conservatives altering their motion of censure on Thursday against Chancellor Snowden in order to make it general in response to Prime Minister MacDonald's challenge.

The lobbies seethed with excitement until after midnight, the opposition members declaring that the defeat "marks the beginning of the end of the present Socialist administration." The members insisted that Mr. MacDonald and his colleagues have been treated with the utmost consideration, but "the days of political truce are now over."

Labor members expressed bitter denunciation of the Liberals, declaring excitedly that they would meet them on "public platforms."

Back bench supporters of the government appeared more concerned over the events than did the ministers who, though obviously taken by surprise, argued that it wasn't a question of confidence, and accordingly could be treated as an incident of something less than major importance.

BEGINS MARCH

MAHATMA GANDHI.

AHMADABAD, India, March 12.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, Indian leader and mystic, led his pioneer band of volunteers out of his quarters here at 6:30 a. m. today and started his march to the Gulf of Cambay, opening his campaign of civil disobedience to the Indian government.

He will lead his volunteers to Jalalpur, where they will try to manufacture salt in violation of the government's monopoly. They will stop at more than a hundred towns and villages, whose inhabitants are expected to furnish supplies.

Last night Mahatma Gandhi delivered a last message to his followers. Surrounded by enormous crowds of visitors and protected from possible arrest by volunteers, Gandhi offered up a prayer for success in his campaign. He told his followers that even if he and his marchers were arrested "the Indian people must preserve peace and carry out the instructions of the national congress working committee."

SLAIN SQUAW'S TRIBE SEES HER DAUGHTER TRIED

Girl and White Suitor Accused by State.

Colville, Wash., March 11.—(AP)—The barbaric colors of the old red man's west today brightened the prosaic little court house where Helen Moses, comely flapper of the Colville tribe, is defending herself against charges that she killed the mother who objected to her white sweetheart.

Wrinkled Indians wrapped in blankets of red and yellow and blue sat shoulder to shoulder with young squaws whose copper skins are used to the feel of silks and muslins from modern department stores.

F. S. Thomas, county engineer, described the location of the Northport cabin where the state contends Helen Moses, assisted by Clarence Hartley, the man she loves, shot her old mother to death.

The body of Mrs. Susie Moses was found in some bushes. Police have said the girl signed a confession saying she fired after her mother threatened her with a knife and beat her because of the love affair.

Pictures of the cabin which the girl and Hartley are said to have wrecked, to make the crime look like the work of a burglar, were introduced.

The 20 year old defendant seemed gay and her white sweetheart appeared unconcerned. Hartley is awaiting trial on a charge of being an accessory to the killing.

The judges awarded second place to Miss Alberta McKellop, 17, of Los Angeles as "Miss California," while third honors went to Miss Margaret Ek Dahl of Tampa, "Miss Florida."

WOMAN CHARGES HUSBAND FROZE HER OUT OF HOME

It was a long, cold winter for Mrs. Elizabeth Jahn. And it wasn't altogether the weather man's fault, as one may gather by reading the bill for divorce which she filed yesterday in the Circuit court against her husband, Gregory Jahn. For therein she complains that her husband froze her out of their home.

With the approach of winter, she charges Jahn moved into the basement of their home at 4138 North Claremont avenue and established himself beside a small stove. He had a store of provisions and placed a vicious dog on guard to keep his wife from the furnace, according to the suit.

Mrs. Jahn was forced to resort to oil stoves, canned heat, and calisthenics to keep warm. And she adds with some feeling, when she ventured into the basement to beg for heat and food the dog attacked her and her husband hit her over the head with a shovel. When the subzero weather set in she left the house of the husband with whom she had lived for 30 years and went to live with a son.

TOWN DEMANDS THAT JURY FREE PULPIT GUNMAN

Pastor Admits Shooting 2 to Save Reputation.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mendota, Ill., March 11.—This little village buzzed with indignation today at the report that the Rev. James A. Wilson, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church, might be indicted for attempted murder before a grand jury at Ottawa, the county seat.

Here was offered a paradox which bewilders State's Attorney Russell O. Hanson, who has charge of the minister's prosecution. He expressed it pithily in these words:

"If a man was caught operating a two gallon still in that town or a youth pilfered a couple of chickens, the residents would be exerting every effort to punish such lawlessness. Yet when a minister of the gospel deliberately shoots down two persons merely because he feared they would injure his reputation, those same residents are up in arms in his defense."

Prosecutor Hanson did not mention it, but it is common report that he has been visited by ministers who have threatened to denounce him from the pulpit if he persisted in bringing the Rev. Mr. Wilson to justice. In the face of this pressure the state's attorney has gone ahead marshaling evidence against the clergyman.

This evidence was discussed by the grand jury today. It included the pastor's own confession that he shot down Mr. and Mrs. Amos Elliott of his congregation because they had possession of an indiscreet letter he had written to Mrs. Emma Wagner, a widow.

Mrs. Wagner has told of her pursuit by the pastor.

The grand jury will report its decision tomorrow. The jurors were under guard today after the state's attorney's office had been warned that attempts would be made to intimidate them.

While there were scores of townspeople in Mendota bubbling with sympathy for the Rev. Mr. Wilson today, Elliott, the victim of the pastor's bullets, lay in his home suffering from his wounds.

"Nobody has sympathized with me," he said feebly. "They fired me from my job as sexton and janitor in the church and they've been visiting me and telling me to drop my case against the pastor. The doctor says my wounds will never heal as long as they keep pestering me and bothering me.

"I've even been threatened with suit for slander because I had possession of the letter which incriminated the pastor. God knows I had no wish to harm him, but I thought the board of trustees ought to know if he was pursuing a woman member of his congregation and driving her into hysterics."

Charles Powell, deacon of the church and prominent business man here, is leader of the faction which is defending the minister.

When a Chicago afternoon newspaper sent down an extra edition on the shooting, and newsboys began hawking the papers, the local council met in emergency session and ordered the police to drive the boys from the street.

The local newspaper refers to the shooting as "an unfortunate occurrence" and states that the Rev. Mr. Wilson is more to be pitied than to be censured.

In this connection a quotation from Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" is recalled by one Mendota resident. Hawthorne wrote:

"This was an instance of that stubborn fidelity with which a man's friends—and especially a clergyman's friends—will sometimes uphold his character when proofs, clear as the midday sunshine, establish him a false and sin stained creature of the dust."

Mendota, it seems, is not very different from a Puritan colony of nearly three centuries ago.

Evanston Colored Pastor Wins Reversal on Appeal

The Rev. Isaac A. Thomas of the Second Baptist church (colored) of Evanston, gained a victory yesterday in his fight to retain his pastorate when the Appellate court reversed a ruling made last August by Judge Fisher. The case will return to the Circuit court.

NAVAL ENVOYS AGREE ON EXEMPT CLASSES OF SHIPS

Would Bar Replacement of Special Vessels.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—The technical work of the naval conference was speeded up today. The French and British naval ministers, with their experts, and Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow as United States observer, met to discuss the French figures and finally agreed on a set of figures as a basis for discussion.

The first committee, which is equivalent to a full conference, received a report from the subcommitee of experts on exempt and special vessels. The draft of the report was unanimously accepted and forwarded to the heads of the delegations.

Two questions referred to the delegation heads for final decision were small airplane carriers and the maximum sizes of light cruisers and destroyed leaders.

French Yield Stand.

Settlement of this question of exempt and special vessels was important progress, as it was one of the causes for the failure of the Geneva conference. The French have yielded in fact, though retaining their original stand in principle. They have agreed that for the period of the treaty such vessels shall not be included in the calculation of global tonnage for replacement purposes, but retain the right to revert to their old contention in any future treaty. This means that the French will not be able to replace old hulks used as training ships, store vessels, etc., by new vessels which may be of fighting value.

This meeting was followed by a meeting of the heads of the delegations, where the report of the first committee just referred to was passed and a verbal report heard on the work of the first committee on submarines. The "big five" was told that an agreement on submarines was almost reached and a report would soon be ready.

Meet Again Tomorrow.

In the words of the communique, "the position with regard to exchanges of views now in progress between the various delegations has passed review." It is understood that this was meant to describe the refusal by America today to accept a security pact. The chief delegates arranged to meet again Thursday afternoon, when it is hoped that several other reports from the committees will be ready for their approval.

Immediately at the conclusion of this meeting, A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty; J. L. Dumesnil, French minister of marine, and Ambassador Morrow went into a huddle again on the category figures and remained until late tonight, not even stopping for dinner. They had before them great charts covered with figures, showing the state of the navies now and the state expected under the existing programs at various future dates.

Argue Gap in Sizes.

One of the matters they were working on was the question of the hiatus between the light cruiser and destroyer tonnage. The Americans, British and Italians want the smallest light cruisers fixed at 2,500 tons and the heaviest destroyer leaders at 1,750 tons. The French insist on no gap and the Japanese do not care. The question is now being argued out and a settlement is expected before Thursday.

M. Briand, in the meantime, is pressing for a public plenary conference at which he may state the whole French case and make all the play possible concerning France's great sacrifices. It is likely that a plenary session will be called for either the end of this week or the first of next week. It is also reported that Premier Tardieu may come over for the plenary meeting.

U. S. REFUSES FRENCH DEMAND FOR AID IN WAR

Stimson Turns Down All Forms of Security Pact.

armament conference at Geneva. We have already achieved considerable progress, elaborating tonnage and category requirements for the various powers represented here, which will be invaluable at the next session of the Geneva commission. We have decided on a method whereby naval armaments can be limited and reduced, which is what the league commission has been seeking for the last two years."

M. Briand showed indifference when asked whether the United States, Japan, and Great Britain might agree on a three power naval treaty here, but added that it is possible that further discussion may reveal means for reaching a five power accord for five years. He promised to make a complete exposé of the situation from the French viewpoint tomorrow.

Delegates at Two Fêtes.

The delegates were invited to two receptions tonight, half of them to the Middle temple, where the benchers were hosts, and the others to the room of the speaker of the house of commons in Westminster.

Nearly 1,000 persons assembled in the state dining room of the speaker, which was decorated with yellow, mauve, and pink tulips and lilies.

One of the most beautiful specimens of carved oaken ceilings of the Elizabethan period is in the hall of the Middle temple, where daily the members of this legal inn lunch and dine along long trestle tables of oak, sitting at benches without backs. This made a picturesque setting for the naval delegates and their wives. Wines from the spacious cellars which Zeppelin bombs failed to penetrate when air raiders attacked the Middle temple during the war were set out on the huge oaken tables. Beer in ancient tankards also was placed on the tables.

GERMANY VOTES YOUNG PLAN; GETS NEW BANK CHIEF

Hindenburg Quells Reichstag Foes.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 11.—The reichstag today accepted the laws for enforcement of the Young reparations plan with a majority of 77 votes. The final and third reading, merely a formality, will take place tomorrow. With 26 abstentions, 251 members voted for the Young plan and 174 against it.

The Schacht crisis also ended today, when the board of directors of the German Reichsbank unanimously elected Dr. Hans Luther, former chancellor, as Dr. Hjalmar Schacht's successor to the presidency. The American, Gates W. McGarragh, Jonkheer Bachmann of Holland, and Mr. Bruins were among the foreign members of the board personally present at the meeting. Three other members of the board intrusted their vote to Mr. Bruins in favor of Dr. Luther. Seven German members were present, including Dr. Schacht, who also voted for his successor.

New Chief in Statement.

Dr. Luther was at Frankfort-am-Main attending the directors' meeting of a private bank, when notified of his election. He remarked he would "do his best to further the improvement of Germany's financial situation and endeavor to keep in close touch with public opinion."

The government owes the Young plan victory to the old warrior, President von Hinderburg, who proved a master strategist. He called in the leader of the refractory centrists, Herr Bruening, today and flatly told him that he would refuse to ratify the Young plan, if the reichstag did not think enough of it to accept it with a dignified majority.

President von Hinderburg added that Germany needed a clear financial program to pay its war obligations on April 1, and he would make use of every legal means at his disposal, including dissolution of the reichstag, to enforce the financial reform plan of Paul Moldenhauer, minister of finance.

Two Other Agreements Pass.

Herr Bruening hotfooted back to the centrists of the reichstag, and, since a dissolution of the reichstag was feared, the centrists ended their resistance and threw their votes in with the majority of the governmental parties. The Young plan was passed by the votes of the Centrists, the Socialists, Democrats and the bulk of the German People's party. The government is confident they will stick by their vote in the final reading.

The German-Polish liquidation agreement had a harder time getting the majority it needed, but finally 224 members of the reichstag voted for it and 207 against it, with the Nationalists and Hitlerites shrieking with indignation.

The American-German agreement for payment of Germany's debt was accepted without a struggle. The separate German-British liquidation agreement, which the Germans consider an unfair exploitation of wartime seizure of enemy property, met with greater resistance, but was finally accepted in what the Germans call a "sheep's jump vote," in which the ayes and nays file into the hall through separate doors and are counted as they pass.

Protests Reform Plan Foes.

The financial reform plans were turned over to the reichstag's budget committee of the national council by Finance Minister Moldenhauer, who protested against the efforts of the so-called Weimar coalition, composed of Centrists, Socialists and Democrats, to draw up a separate financial reform plan.

WRIT BARES GUN ATTACK UPON MINUET CLUB

That the Minuet club, 942 Rush street, was the target of a pistol fusillade last Saturday night was disclosed yesterday when Circuit Judge Fisher issued a writ of habeas corpus, returnable this morning, for Albert Bergar, 26 years old, a prisoner of the Chicago avenue police for the last 48 hours.

Shortly before midnight on Saturday Patrolman John Duffy of the Chicago avenue district, assigned to guard the Little club since it was bombed, saw four men in a large roadster fire about 20 shots at the door of the Minuet club. He opened fire as the coupé sped north in Rush street.

At State and Oak streets the flivver squad led by Detective E. J. Kelly took up the chase but was outdistanced in Lincoln park. A hat, dropped by one of the gunmen sitting in the rumble seat of the coupe, was picked up by Patrolman Duffy and traced through a cleaner's mark to Bergar. Learning he was sought, Bergar surrendered on Sunday to Capt. John Ryan at West North avenue station.

ERLANGER GROUP PLANS HUGE NEW THEATER IN LOOP

"Several Millions" to Be Cost of Enterprise.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 11.—[Special.]—A new theater, costing "several millions," in Chicago's loop district will be the first step in an expansion program announced today by the Erlanger Amusement Enterprises, Inc., founded by the late Abraham Lincoln Erlanger.

Mitchell L. Erlanger, former State supreme court justice, has been elected president to succeed his brother and will direct the future policy of the organization.

A board of managing directors also was chosen this afternoon. It includes Charles B. Dillingham, Florenz Ziegfeld, Marcus Heiman, and Saul J. Baron.

The decision to carry out an expansion program is in accord with the late Mr. Erlanger's plans, cut short by his death. It is understood there will be a gradual entry into the talking picture field until eventually the organization occupies the same place in the film world it now holds in vaudeville and drama circles.

One of City's Finest.

At the Erlanger offices here it was said the plans had not yet been drawn for the Chicago theater, but that it would be "one of the finest in Chicago."

It also was said it would be built with all modern innovations at a cost of several million dollars for talking pictures.

"We have not gone into the details of our first new theater," said Mr. Erlanger, "but it most certainly will be in the loop district. We have decided to erect it immediately. The theater will be one of our finest and will have a large stage and seating capacity."

Other Associates.

Among the late A. L. Erlanger's associates and allies not already named who will continue with the organization are David Belasco, George C. Tyler, the Theater guild, George M. Cohan, Brock Pemberton, John Golden, Harry J. Powers, W. H. Rapley, Horace Liveright, Vincent Youmans, Otis Skinner, Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertoire company, John Murray Anderson, the Stanley Company of America, and others.

No move to probate the Erlanger will was made today. Mrs. Charlotte Fiscal Erlanger, who says she is the theatrical magnate's common law widow and who has engaged Max Steuer as her attorney in an attempt to obtain half of the $75,000,000 estate, which was bequeathed to blood relatives, continued to remain in seclusion in the Erlanger apartment on Riverside drive.

Mitchell L. Erlanger, the brother, said the probate was being delayed in order to get in communication with "a nephew." Mr. Steuer said he would "wait a few days longer" before starting any court action. The family continued to ignore the existence of the "widow," but friends said an understanding undoubtedly would be reached out of court.

AMERICAN TOURISTS SPEND $300,000,000 IN YEAR IN CANADA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, March 11.—American tourists left almost $300,000,000 in Canada during the year 1929, according to an estimate made public today by the dominion bureau of statistics. About 4,508,800 American automobiles entered the dominion, as compared with 3,645,455 in 1928. The expenditure of these automobile tourists was $208,744,000, while the expenditure of tourists coming from the United States by rail and steamer was estimated at $80,000,000. Tourists other than Americans spent only $10,000,000 in Canada in 1929.

Canadian tourists spent in 1929 in the United States just over $90,000,000, the bureau estimated. This was a gain of about $10,000,000. Canadians were estimated to have spent abroad only about $20,000,000.

DRIVER SPEEDS AUTO AT COP AND KILLS HIM

Then Aims Car at Second Policeman.

New York, March 11.—[Special.]—Three men in a heavy green coupe, speeding along St. Nicholas avenue today, deliberately ran down and killed a policeman, tried unsucessfully to strike another one with their machine and escaped after a chase through lower Harlem and the upper east side.

The patrolman killed was Joseph J. Scott, 28. Witnesses said Scott was patrolling the east side of the avenue when he heard the roar of the automobile coming south and stepped into the roadway to stop it. He raised his arm.

The driver of the car deliberately swerved it toward the curb so it smashed into Scott. The upper part of the policeman's body was entangled in the machine's bumper. The car mounted the sidewalk and bounded back into the roadway.

Two blocks down the street Patrolman John Sullivan saw the car climb the sidewalk, swing back into the street and speed toward him. He, too, stepped into the street to stop the machine.

Again the driver of the car deliberately swerved toward the curb. Sullivan jumped.

BRITISH BOARD PLACES O. K. ON CHANNEL TUNNEL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Mach 11.—The channel tunnel committee's report favors a bore, linking England and France, and the committee recommends that a $25,000,000 experimental tube be constructed to determine exactly what difficulties may be met, according to authoritative reports. J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal, will issue a complete report Friday.

The government must consider both political and military aspects of the $150,000,000 project before going ahead with the plan. All schemes for a channel tunnel during the last 30 years were predicated on an agreement between England and France to defend the tube and prevent its seizure in case of war by any continental power, which might attempt an invasion through it.

Plans under consideration provide elaborate mechanical arrangements for flooding or dynamiting the tunnel in case of hostilities or French defenders on the continental end are unable to safeguard it against forces hostile to England.

problems in the routine of a representative in congress, that of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen of Miami, representative of the Florida east coast from Jacksonville to Key West, being, I believe, the most fascinating of all.

A Lady of Ability.

Mrs. Owen is a lady of uncommon ability and the citizens of her district decided to avail themselves of her intelligence and fresh initiative regardless of the fact she is dry and bootlegging one of the indispensable key industries of their coast. Here is a stewardship which is going to require infinite tact. As a dry Mrs. Bryan Owen must sympathize with any movement which might be initiated by some such obstreperous wet as Mr. Loring Black of New York to set the sea going cossack of the coast guard and the secret agents of the land forces to harassing Miami with shot, shell, blackjack, and fire ax next winter in the same determined enforcement of the law that is constantly raging on land and sea from New York to Boston. But any such campaign would depopulate the Miami hotels and inflict great hardship on the resident merchants and working people who voted for her.

Not that any weighty evidence could make any difference in the political division of the vote in the judiciary committee, if the boys had any intention of voting. The wets made a much more dignified and generally plausible case for themselves in their allotted seven days of testimony than the drys had permitted themselves to anticipate.

Of all their witnesses, the most impressive from the standpoint of those unfortunates in the cities who still think it possible to impress politicians with facts was a genuine farmer from North Dakota, with indubitable callouses on his hands. His name was Pierce Blewett. He said prohibition had destroyed the greatest market for rye and barley and created a wheat surplus besides diverting a great deal of cash money to Canada to buy liquor, and the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition, and public morals became just a mite apprehensive. Before the hearings began the Methodist board of temperance and so forth had announced that it would ignore the hearings, but after Blewett told his story the prohibition people began to wire around the country for their regular staff of witnesses to come a-running, prepared to talk back for seven days.

They're Very Efficient.

The prohibition people are very efficient. They divided their allotted time according to the phases which they wished to discuss and popped their witnesses on to the stand and yanked them off in quick, progressive succession. Their first day was Prosperity day. Next came Farmers' day. Then Ladies' day. And so forth.

On Prosperity day they offered telegrams from Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison, and it is a curious thing that, although these two elderly tinkers have never been known to take a drink or shoot a few passes with the dice, they are supposed to be infallible on the subject of human pleasure in the U. S. A.

The prohibition people flatter them constantly and the newspapers, wet and dry, have paid them so much heed, printing their idealist remarks as news, that they have come to regard themselves very important people in fields of authority very far removed from the only fields in which they really have any authority at all.

Avoided Capital.

However, I notice Mr. Ford did not come to Washington to testify personally. With the very irreverent Mr. Fiorella H. La Guardia of New York waiting to tear into him on cross-examination for the wet side and remembering his previous experience under cross-examination when the lawyer asked him who Benedict Arnold was, this decision is certainly not to be condemned on political grounds, anyway, say what one may about his sincerity as compared with that of the farmer from North Dakota.

The wets introduced some well known authors who had proxies to speak for all the best known authors in the country in condemnation of prohibition, and the drys are rather hard up for refutation in this department. But not to yield the literary front entirely, they decided to bring in a lady named Mrs. Clarence Marshall Busch, the president of the National League of Pen Women. Most of the lady witnesses for the drys speak for pure American womanhood in blocks of not less than twelve million, and I suppose therefore that there must be at least twelve million pen women in Mrs. Busch's league, although I must state that in a rather extensive acquaintance among the leading lady authors of fiction, plays, poetry and essays I have never met one who belonged to any league of pen women or even looked as though she was the kind of girl who would.

Leagues of pen women usually are composed of domestic ladies in towns like Macon, Ga., who write articles on current events and read them to one another on alternate Thursdays with the columnists or church editor of the Raleigh News and Observer as the principal speaker on some such topic as "Thirty Years in a State Capital; Some Reminiscences of Great Men and Events."

WICKERSHAM LIQUOR TRIAL PLAN SPLITS HOUSE GROUP TWICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—For the second time today, a subcommittee of the house judiciary committee failed to agree upon a bill sponsored by the Wickersham law enforcement commission, to permit United States commissioners to act as judges in minor liquor cases.

Representative C. A. Christopherson [Rep., S. D.], chairman of the subcommittee and author of the bill, announced that the group will report it to the full judiciary committee without recommendation. Following a failure of his subcommittee to agree on a similar bill previously, Christopherson revised the measure and reintroduced it. The same objection, however, was raised against the second bill, namely, that it imperils the right to a trial by jury.

While it handed the principal bill back without a report, the subcommittee approved two supplemental measures, one to define slight or casual offenses under the Volstead act and another to amend the criminal code to provide for definition and maximum punishment of all petty federal offenses.

As the full judiciary committee is occupied with public hearings on pending wet legislation, which are to be resumed tomorrow, it is not expected to turn its attention to the Christopherson bills for at least two or three weeks.

DAIRYMEN RAISE FEES TO INSPECT THEIR OWN MILK

Paring of City's Health Staff Hastens Action.

The Pure Milk association, whose 18,259 farm members produce virtually the entire milk supply of Chicago and 14 nearby cities and towns, voted yesterday to treble its income to provide increased inspection service and promote greater consumption of dairy products. The increase in revenue will be effected by taking from the producer 3 cents for each hundred pounds of milk produced, instead of 1 cent as in the last two years. As a result, dairymen in 28 counties in the Chicago milk producing area will provide a fund of about $375,000 during the comin,, year.

"This is another step forward by farmers in their two year old coöperative marketing agency," said W. C. McQueen, president of the association, in speaking before 1,800 farmers at a meeting at the Morrison hotel, where the new plan was announced. "It is another pledge that dairymen will take every possible action to insure Chicago a continued superior quality of milk."

City Paring Hastens Action.

Curtailment of the city health department's budget, which eliminated nearly half its facilities for milk inspection precipitated the action, Don Geyer, secretary of the farm organization, said.

Expressing the gratification of farmers of the country over the fact that the government had not only provided ample financing and leadership for coöperatives by creating the federal farm board, C. E. Hough, Hartford, Conn., secretary of the Connecticut Milk Producers' association and member of the farm board dairy advisory committee, declared that wherever possible farm organizations should finance their operations without depending upon the board for assistance.

"It is my hope that coöperative associations will only employ federal moneys through the board in cases where money is vitally necessary to their success," Mr. Hough said. "I am still of the opinion that the coöperating farmers, through the ability they use in the marketing of their product, will prove to be a much greater service to agriculture than will money which is loaned and must be paid back. It is easy to go in debt; it is difficult to get out of debt."

Watch Chicago Coöp Progress.

Mr. Hough, who is a former Connecticut senator, declared that dairymen of the nation had been watching the progress of coöperative marketing in Chicago.

"The Chicago milk area is a hub to which, or through which, the largest volumes of dairy products flow, of any city in the country," he said.

"The business of distributing dairy products to consumers is rapidly changing. Men and money are being mobilized into the creation of national buying, processing, and selling institutions which are revolutionizing those departments of our business. It is absolutely essential that dairy farmers equal these organizations by consolidating their activities in similar proportions."

She is Making Her Mother Happy

"A big change came over Mary Elise from the time I started giving her ACIDINE regularly for her sour stomach," says Mrs. Semmer, of 7417 Union Ave., Chicago. "She likes to take ACIDINE because it tastes just like peppermint. Therefore I can give it to her regularly enough to help her. Since she's so much brighter and happier now, I want every mother, who has the same trouble as I had, to know how she can get it off her mind."

Too much acid makes most grown folks suffer from biliousness and indigestion. You can imagine, then, why it keeps a child's delicate little stomach so upset she has no appetite and gets puny, pale and drowsy. More than 2 million people are using Acidine regularly because it actually sweetens a sour stomach so quickly, tastes so good and costs so little. Get Acidine at any drug store.

CHARGE SCHOOLS SPENDS $1,452,000 ON USELESS JOBS

26% Reduction Urged by Building Experts.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

An estimated 723 unnecessary jobs, each carrying an overage annual salary of $2,008, are being provided by the board of education in the operation of the school houses of Chicago.

This charge of an annual waste of $1,452,000 has been formally made to J. Wallace Caldwell, president of the school board, and to the other trustees by R. W. Bainbridge, J. F. Collins, Frank Erlenborn, and F. B. Orr, a committee of building managers. The report was requested by the school board.

Messrs. Bainbridge, Collins, Erlenborn, and Orr asserted twice in writing that the waste is due to politics. They presented a number of recommendations, which they said "are only another way of stating that the operation of the school buildings should be divorced from politics."

What the Report Says.

"The engineer-custodian," their report said, "is still nominally in control of and responsible for the proper operation of his school building. But he has no control over the number and personnel of his organization. He does not hire his assistants, as he formerly did. Instead they are sent to him by the labor bureau established by the school board.

"Positions are handled on a political patronage basis. Ward committeemen and others having influence are now a party to the city's educational system. The increased cost of operation produced by this general policy is an accurate measure of its economic results. It is apparent that the present arrangement does not and cannot be expected to produce satisfactory results or properly safeguard the expenditure of public funds."

No Change in Appropriation.

The report was made to the board of education on March 1, 1929. In 1928 the board spent $7,224,576 for the operation of plant—figures for 1929 are not yet available—and this year for the same purpose the board appropriated $7,263,643. The figures do not therefore disclose any substantial reform. The jobs called useless are still on the pay roll and the taxpayers trust so far has been supplying cash with which to pay their holders, despite the charge of the building managers that the jobs are political and unneeded.

These experts of building operation investigated three schools. The aggregate salary roll for the three was $85,520. The building managers said that $63,267 was sufficient. One school investigated was credited with 70,000 square feet. The building operators said that the useable area above the basement was only 40,900 square feet and it is upon that basis they asserted that help should be employed.

Another school had been credited with 214,000 square feet for the purpose of creating jobs, while the building operators said that the useable area above the basement was only 128,900 square feet.

Propose Plan for 26% Saving.

The third school, credited by the school board with 322,000 square feet, had only 204,000 that was considered useable by the building managers. The latter proposed organizations for cleaning these schools which would have reduced the expense 26 per cent. That would have been accomplished without any reduction in wages.

If that 26 per cent saving were applied to the jobs and compensation which the board of education has provided in its 1930 budget there would be a reduction of 723 jobs and $1,452,000 in expenditure.

A 26 per cent reduction would be mild in comparison with what other large cities spend for the same service. Chicago spends less on teachers and more on operation of plant, per pupil, than other large cities in the country. In the cost of operation Chicago schools lead the nation.

The National Education association has collected data on school expenditures from ten cities of more than 500,000 inhabitants for the school year of 1928-'29. The association makes its comparisons on the basis of the number of pupils in average attendance. It shows the cost of operation of plant per pupil and the cost of instruction per pupil in the 10 cities as follows:

	Operating cost.	Instruction cost.
Chicago	$17.40	$83.97
Pittsburgh	14.59	95.76
Cleveland	12.88	80.85
Detroit	12.06	80.82
Los Angeles	11.85	104.36
St. Louis	11.66	87.95
San Francisco	11.26	103.46
Baltimore	9.05	72.72
New York	8.82	114.00
Philadelphia	8.22	82.89
Average	11.37	97.60

These costs include not only labor but fuel, gas, electricity, telephone, soap, mops, and other supplies. It will be noticed that Chicago's cost of operation is 53 per cent higher than the average for the 10 cities. But in the cost of instruction the comparison shows that the average for the 10 cities is 16 per cent above the expenditure in Chicago.

BILL GIVES WASHING TO CHICAGO POSTOFFICE FOR 1933 WORLD FAIR

Washington, D. C., March 11.—[Special.]—A bill authorizing $10,000 for the purpose of washing the grimy sides of the old federal building at Chicago and improving its appearance prior to the World's Fair in 1933 will be introduced in the house tomorrow. Representative Fred A Britten [Rep., Ill.] stated tonight that a measure has been prepared and will be offered at noon.

The bill is the outgrowth of interest taken by art organizations at Chicago in having the building, which now houses the postoffice and the federal courts, in spick and span condition when the hordes of world's fair guests arrive.

Ontario Divorce Court Bill Lost After Tie Vote

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 11.—Divorce proponents and opponents battled to a tie vote in the Canadian commons tonight on the issue of establishing a separate divorce court for the province of Ontario. The speaker voted nay and thus left the Canadian senate Ontario's matrimonial difficulties. Religious rather than party lines were drawn in the division, practically every Roman Catholic in the house voting against the Ontario divorce court bill.

SONS OF TWO OLD ROMAN FAMILIES TO FIGHT A DUEL

Duke Seeks to Avenge Insult to Father.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 11.—As soon as Prince Altieri, scion of an old Roman aristocratic house, whose family tree was started in the days of Pope Clement X., recovers from the results of a fist fight which took place last night before the doors of the exclusive, blue blooded "Caccia," meaning hunt club, there will be a duel between him and the young Duke Ivan de Vargas of a scarcely less aristocratic family.

Despite the fact that the Fascist penal code frowns on dueling, challenges have been issued following the fist fight between the two. The incident is causing a furore in the élite salons of the Eternal city.

Ill Feeling Centuries Old.

Yesterday's street fracas was the outcome of a long smouldering animosity which has for centuries existed between the section of nobility which claims to be distinctly Roman and the ordinary nobility. The Roman nobility claims precedent over the others in all table seating arrangements, during calls on the pope or king, or in any other situations where pompous rank makes a difference.

The strife culminating with yesterday's fight came about through Prince Altieri's importunities to the duke de Vargas, father of the young Duke Ivan de Vargas. The elder duke is director of what is called "Consulta Eraldica," or the state committee which determines the authenticity and rank of titles and nobility. Prince Altieri wanted the elder duke de Vargas to list him not as a plain prince, but as a Roman prince. When the duke refused Prince Altieri's insistence became so annoying that the elder duke complained to Premier Mussolini. The duce's secretary wrote Prince Altieri admonishing him to let the duke alone.

Calls Elder Duke a Spy.

A few days later in the dining room of the aristocratic Caccia Prince Altieri refused to sit at a table with the duke.

"I will not sit down with a spy," he said.

In order to avenge this insult to his father, the young Duke Ivan de Vargas, whose family is of ancient Spanish origin, waited outside the doors of the club last night and when Prince Altieri came out hit him on the nose, drawing blood. Prince Altieri shouted for the police, who decided not to intervene when it was explained that it was an affair of honor. Accordingly swords or pistols are to settle the matter out behind the old Roman walls within a few days.

F. C. AUSTIN LOSES COURT FIGHT OVER $100,000 PEARLS

The Appellate court yesterday added another chapter to the eight year legal battle over a string of 57 matched pearls, valued at $100,000. For the second time the court upheld the award of the value of the pearls by codicil of the will of Mrs. Anna B. Austin to her grandchildren by her first marriage.

Mrs. Austin died in 1922, leaving most of her estate to her two sons by her former marriage to John W. Ogden. She provided that the pearls be sold and the proceeds divided among her grandchildren, Mary, Harold, Ogden, and Barbara Richardson of New York and Richard W. Ogden, son of Wesley Ogden of Chicago. The sons shared $2,000,000. The remainder of the estate of $2,500,000 was left to the husband, Frederick Carleton Austin, millionaire manufacturer.

The day before her death Mrs. Austin wrote to her jewelers and bankers instructing them to give all her property to her husband. On the strength of these letters, Austin tried to set aside the codicil bequeathing the proceeds from pearls, which were sold in 1923. He will appeal to the Supreme court.

Wesley Ogden yesterday was named defendant in a suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Bella Vocke Ogden in the Circuit court. She charges cruelty and habitual drunkenness and asks that her husband be enjoined from disposing of his share in the estate. The Ogdens were married on Dec. 28, 1920, and separated on last Feb. 26.

Bleeds to Death as She Tries to Phone to Doctor

Mrs. Agnes Patke, 66 years old, 2040 North Kedzie avenue, died yesterday as a result of a ruptured blood vessel in her leg as she tried to telephone for a doctor. The telephone operator, unable to get a response, notified the Shakespeare avenue police, who found Mrs. Patke dead from loss of blood.

BRITAIN SEEKING WAY TO CONTROL BUYING OF WHEAT

May Form Monopoly to Offset U. S. Surplus.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—The Labor government is seriously considering means for taking over control of Great Britain's wheat buying in order to offset the action of the American farm board and the Canadian wheat pool in holding the North American supply from the market, it was learned today.

It was also learned that a large portion of Prime Minister MacDonald's last week-end conferences was confined to consideration of home affairs, particularly agriculture, and that the prime minister called in Noel Buxton, minister of agriculture, and several grain experts for discussion of the wheat situation. As a matter of fact, wheat occupied a more important place in his deliberations than did the naval conference.

Buying System Necessary.

All the political parties now realise that a unified system of buying here is necessary to combat the unified selling in North America. At the same time the Labor party sees in the situation an excellent lever to reinforce its own ranks. Foreign Secretary Henderson pointed out that the Labor party must have 70 seats in the country districts. The measures to improve the wheat situation are thus seen as an excellent lure to the farmers to support the Labor program.

The American farm board's 153,000,000 bushel surplus is still paralyzing the market here, despite the American reassurance that this wheat will not be dumped on the European market.

In speaking of the desperate situation today, A. H. Hurst, an internationally known grain expert, confined himself to a single, sinister prophecy.

"Gamble May Prove Disastrous."

"By holding up the price above the export level," he said, "the farm board is gambling with the prospects of the winter crop being poor. If these crops happen to be good there will be a terrible situation."

Mr. Hurst's book, "The Bread of Great Britain," widely read recently in England and America, has done much to bring the situation to a head. After pointing out that less than one-fifth of the wheat that Great Britain consumes is home grown, he says:

"Whether our supplies are cut off or diminished by the action of enemy warships, or by the manipulations of foreign controllers of wheat, we are equally in peril of being deprived of means of subsistence. Under the existing conditions, the free flow of grain to the United Kingdom is interfered with. This condition of affairs has been growing for some time, but only in recent years has it become so accentuated as to change completely the economics of the importation of wheat into this country. There is no longer a free market."

McDONOUGH ASKS MORE LIGHT ON BANKS' CAR PLAN

Progress Is Reported in California Parleys.

Chairman Joseph B. McDonough of the city council's local transportation committee has decided to ask members of the bankers' committee some questions about their suggested program for financing the proposed consolidation of the transportation systems. A meeting of the aldermanic committee has been called for Saturday morning at 11 o'clock and McDonough has invited Frank O. Wetmore of the First National bank and Harry L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co. to be present.

"I want to find out," said Ald. McDonough yesterday, "whether these bankers are contemplating any plan which may interfere with the maximum of good service at the lowest reasonable fare, before they get too far along. Nearly every day I am told about the progress which the transportation interests and bankers are making among themselves on a plan of consolidation which has not yet been made public.

"I am glad to hear they are getting together. From my viewpoint, however, they should be ready to talk out in the open."

Plan Taken to California.

The plan of consoli dation, evolved by the bankers' committee, is now being submitted to the protective committees of holders of various securities in the surface and elevated lines.

To place the program before George M. Reynolds, Arthur Reynolds, B. E. Sunny, Albert W. Harris, John V. Farwell, Charles H. Thorne and others interested in transit securities, Frank Gordon of the First Union Trust company and George Pearson of the Continental Illinois banks, went to California last Thursday. They have been explaining the plan and press reports yesterday indicated that the sojourners in California are looking at it favorably. The Associated Press quoted Arthur Reynolds as saying that "all seem to be in accord on the particular questions being discussed."

An Accord with One Exception.

The bankers' plan, for the agreement on which Frank O. Wetmore is given chief credit, represents an accord on all points at issue in a consolidation, except an agreement on the first mortgage bonds of the surface lines.

Mr. Harris is chairman of the protective committee of the first mortgage bonds of the west and north side surface lines. He has hesitated to approve of any consolidation plan which did not give his bondholders first lien paper in the proposed new company. For that reason he declined to serve on the bankers' committee.

It is understood that all that is being attempted in California is an agreement on the bankers' plan, which omits first mortgage bonds of the surface lines at present. If an agreement up to that point can be obtained, then every one interested in first mortgage bonds will be asked to return to Chicago to thrash out that question.

Simpson Gives His Opinion.

Mr. Simpson is head of the citizens' transit settlement committee. In reply to Mr. Lobdell's wire he said:

"It looks to me as if it is a choice between the kind of solution proposed by the bankers' committee or nothing at all for a number of years. Unless the kind of plan proposed is consummated in the near future all work that has been done will have been wasted and the traction question will be worse than it was two years ago, with no possible solution in sight and the value of the properties constantly suffering incalculable damage by reason of injudicious council action, encroachment of motor buses, etc.

"The proposed plan insures competent management which is an absolute necessity, and which cannot be too strongly emphasized. This is the logical time to obtain a fair and reasonable franchise from the city."

FAHERTY LISTS 34 IMPROVEMENT PLANS FOR PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing on ordinances for 34 street paving and sewer projects, estimated to cost $2,487,746, will be held in the council chambers Friday morning by the board of local improvements. The hearing is the first to be held in several months and was scheduled to follow upon the return of Michael J. Faherty, president of the board, who is due back from Florida tonight.

The largest project in the list is the proposed paving of 103d street from Cottage Grove avenue to Torrence avenue at a cost of $855,000. The route crosses the Nickel Plate tracks, which the city is attempting to have the railroad elevate at that point. Before the pavement is laid the improvement board proposes to lay a sewer in the street at a cost of $86,000.

Five paving projects, with the streets bounding each project and the cost of each, follow:

1. Green and Peoria streets and 127th and 129th places, $104,000.
2. George and Sayer streets and Belmont and Harlem avenues, $190,000.
3. Belmont and Harlem avenues and Addison and Nottingham streets, $182,000.
4. Fullerton and Central avenues and Schubert and Major streets, $119,000.
5. Bennett avenue and Van Vlissingen road and 95th and 99th streets, $263,000.

Two other projects are the paving of 103d street from Western avenue to California avenue, to cost $101,000, and the paving of 111th street between Western and Vincennes avenues.

Four resurfacing improvements, at a cost of $77,000, are included in the Faherty list for a hearing. Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe started a year ago to issue permits to contractors to resurface streets. Faherty, aroused by the action, sent his paving inspectors into the field to tell property owners that the improvement board could do the jobs for one-half the prices charged by Wolfe's contractors.

AUDIT REVEALS UNDER ASSESSING FOR 1927 TAXES

Discrepancies Shown by Figures for 1928.

Gross underassessments by the boards of assessors and review in the 1927 quadrennial assessment as compared with that of 1928 were revealed yesterday in a report to William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, by Evans, Marshall & Pease, certified public accountants. The accounting concern is making an audit of assessment books as certified by the board of review for the state commission.

The tax officials have maintained that in 1927 assessments were made on a basis of 60 per cent of the full value. Under the reassessment the assessments are made on 37 per cent of the full value. In comparisons submitted to Chairman Malone the auditors find, their figures indicate, that the percentages used by the boards ranged from 5 to 25 per cent instead of 60 per cent.

Figures Cited by Auditors.

Valuations on I. W. A. C.

John P. Murphy apartment building at 3100 Sheridan road; $365,100 in 1927 and $544,695 in 1928.

Building and land at southeast corner of Michigan and Grand avenues; $241,100 in 1927 and $334,750 in 1928.

The old Kirk Soap factory, East North Water street; $1,087,000 in 1927 and $1,509,307 in 1928.

"These figures show that the 60 per cent assessments as claimed by the assessors and reviewers are pure myth," Chairman Malone said. "It was the low assessments of this nature on large buildings that put the burden of inequality on the small home owner in the past. It is the bringing up of these properties which will work a reduction in taxes for the small home owner.

The board of assessors again marked time on pruning its pay roll as requested by the Strawn citizens' committee. After more than two hours of deliberation the assessors made known a tentative cut of ten positions from their staff of 102 employés. Final action is scheduled for this morning.

DOCTOR MAY WED PRINCESS AFTER MONACO DIVORCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMONE, Italy, March 11.—Dr. Piero Dalmas, private physician of Princess Charlotte of Monaco, will become her second husband as soon as she gets a divorce, according to the physician's friends. Dr. Dalmas was a native of this city before going to Monte Carlo.

According to his friends, the romance began some months ago, the physician becoming councillor for the princess and acting as mediator in troubles between the prince and his subjects last summer.

Princess Charlotte came here last September as the guest of Dr. Dalmas at his villa, remaining two weeks. Dr. Dalmas is reputed to be wealthy.

SUSPECT FIRM IN DENIALS OF LAVANDER DEATH

Persistent questioning by Deputy Commissioner of Police James Mooney yesterday failed to shake Harry Fisher, 46 year old ex-convict, 4956 North Harding avenue, in his denial of any connection with the murder of Mrs. Agnes Lavander on Feb. 17. Fisher's answers were evasive, Deputy Mooney said, and he will be held until police have definitely established his whereabouts at the time of the crime.

Fisher was arrested Friday after a petty theft.

FIRST CITY HALL RECORDS SENT TO PROSECUTOR

The state's attorney's office yesterday finally received some of the records of the office of Commissioner of Public Works Richard Wolfe. The prosecutors have been trying for one week to get the records in pursuance to a promise made when an application was filed before Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court asking permission for the grand jury to seize them. The hearing on the petition had been continued until yesterday.

"I want the subpoena and not promises," said Assistant State's Attorney Homer Dodge to First Assistant Corporation Counsel James W. Breen.

Breen retorted that the prosecutors did not know what they wanted and that the state's attorney had political aspirations. Judge Normoyle suggested that the records be turned over in batches of seven wards at a time. This was agreed on and the first of the records were turned over yesterday afternoon.

An Appreciation

In introducing the new Blackstone Shop to Chicago, Mr. Stanley Korshak wishes to call further attention to those who are largely responsible for the materialization of this magnificent shop.

The design represents a new feeling in architecture and interior treatment. In achieving this, the furniture and decoration were created with a definite relationship to the building as a whole.

Philip B. Maher, the Architect, is responsible for all design of architecture and interior decoration; Watson & Boaler, Inc., for the execution of the furnishings; Walter G. Warren for the lighting fixtures and E. P. Strandberg Co. for building construction.

These and all others who have, in any way, contributed to the impressiveness of the new Blackstone Shop are worthy of unreserved praise.

It is entirely fitting that this superb building should house the sort of thoroughbred fashions which the Blackstone Shop has always sponsored.

HAITI CRISIS PUT UP TO HOOVER BY HIS COMMISSION

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

CAPE HAITIEN, March 11.—The tension caused by President Borno's declaration that legislative elections would not be held before 1932 relaxed today as word came from Port-au-Prince that all was quiet there. But President Hoover's commission has not had information yet indicating that President Borno has receded from his disconcerting stand. It is understood the new turn in the situation has been fully laid before President Hoover by radio.

The commission received reassuring word today from James Clement Dunn, counsellor of the commission, saying that the situation was in hand, the opposition leaders having calmed their followers. The message added that Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, American high commissioner, had several conferences with President Borno.

Return on Warship.

With this information the commission decided it would be unnecessary to rush by automobile to Port-au-Prince. Instead the group sailed this evening on the cruiser Rochester. They will arrive at Port-au-Prince tomorrow evening.

The commission divided today, W. Forbes and William Allen White interrogating witnesses at the American consulate, while James Kerney and Elie Vezina visited a large American plantation owned by the Haitien-American Development company. Henry P. Fletcher visited the famous citadel of Black King Henri Cristophe atop a near by mountain.

Today's hearings developed testimony similar to that given at the capital—against the American occupation and the Borno government.

Publish Report on Disorders.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—(AP)—The official report on revolutionary disorders which occurred late last year in Haiti, included in Brig. Gen. Russell's annual report as American high commissioner at Port au Prince, was made public today at the state department.

Coming just as indications from Haiti and the White House are that the marine commander may be supplanted before long by a diplomatic representative, with the formation of a stable representative Haitian government, unusual interest has been attached here to Gen. Russell's views.

The report covers events up to the end of 1929 and so made no mention of the American commission now engaged in straightening the political tangle in Haiti. It accepted as a closed incident the plan for holding national elections for senators and deputies this year.

Outliens Causes of Rioting.

The November student strike, which finally involved at Aux Cayes the killing of ten demonstrators by American marines, was said by Gen. Russell not to possess intrinsically the importance ascribed to it in the American press. After outlining the causes of the revolutionary activities, which he said included "Liquor, hatred of the town (Aux Cayes), and the expectation of loot." Gen. Russell said that only the inexperience and numerical weakness of the Garde d'Haiti made action by the marines necessary.

"Had previous Haitian history permitted the establishment of an adequate police force of long experience and tradition, or had the Haitian government been able completely to reorganize the courts so that offenders against public order would have had prompt justice instead of acquittal meted out to them, martial law and the support of the American marines would not have been necessary in this case," the general reported.

Justifies Harsh Measures.

"However, until the mentality of the people becomes accustomed to stable government, as long as ignorance and poverty of the people furnishes a revolutionary field for irresponsible politicians, as long as a large, irresponsible mob element of the population exists, as long as cheap alcohol can be obtained for this 'hoodlum fringe,' any police force in Haiti must be ready to act promptly and decisively, and, until the courts are reorganized to do their share in preserving public order, extraordinary measures must occasionally be taken."

"This is the lesson of the strike," he said. "The further lesson is the unwelcome one that revolutionary mentality is not dead in Haiti. It has been weakened and will weaken further as the lot and intelligence of the common people — already improved—gradually approaches standards of more fortunate countries."

30,000 APPLY FOR WORLD BANK JOBS; 80 POSITIONS OPEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 11.—For the eighty or so jobs open with the Bank of International Settlements 30,000 applications have already been received. The officials of the bank, who are now gathered here to meet Gates W. McGarrah of New York, president designate of the world bank, revealed this today.

Many of the applications came from the Bank of England and many from the Banque de France.

Fully 5,000 applications came from America, mostly from bankers who said that, having made their piles, they are willing to work from now on for honor. Most of the European applicants claim to know five or six languages.

New Recipe for Coloring Gray Hair

By LOIS PAGE

One of the questions most frequently asked me is: "What shall I do for my graying hair?" Unhesitatingly I recommend that tried and proven recipe of sage tea and sulphur. A brew of common garden sage with sulphur and alcohol added, make the best hair restorer I know of.

You can either prepare the mixture yourself at home, or as most people prefer to do, buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the ready-to-use preparation and since all druggists sell it at 75c a bottle, there is really no need of going to the bother of making it yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it, and draw it through the hair, one strand at a time. One application banishes the gray and one or two more completely restores your gray, faded or streaked hair to its original color. There is no hard, dyed look. The whole effect is one of perfect naturalness. Thousands of men and women use this preparation with no one suspecting it.

"THE WORLD'S FINEST AIRPORT" SPURS AIR PROGRESS

WHEN Maitland-Hegenberger and their successors boomed down the runway at Oakland, taking off to Hawaii and fame, they initiated an aeronautic development unparalleled in history. The bare field of 1927 has become renowned Oakland Airport . . an aerial harbor without peer, according to Antony Fokker and Col. Lindbergh. In the ample hangars and office space of this $2,000,000 development are sheltered repair shops, aircraft supply stores, schools, airplane sales concerns, and the nation's first aviation college. A short distance away, in the city of Alameda, has been created Alameda Airport, Inc., property of the Curtiss-Wright system. . Here also lies San Francisco Bay Airdrome, most accessible of all airports to the community it serves. In Berkeley, Livermore, and San Leandro are smaller fields. From this center operate the great Boeing Air Mail and T. A. MYSTERY VEILS BYRNES DEMOTION IN SCHOOL JOBS

Veteran Employe Shifted to Reduced Pay Post.

John E. Byrnes, business manager of the board of education during the administration of the late Mayor Dever and more recently head of the board's real estate bureau, has been transferred to another position, it was learned yesterday. Mystery shrouded the transfer, which caused much discussion among school employés.

Mr. Byrnes is a veteran employé of the board and is spoken of by his associates as an "efficient and valuable worker." He was shifted from the real estate bureau in the business administration offices to the post of chief clerk for superintendents in the educational offices by an overnight order. The change became effective today.

His salary as real estate manager was $6,000 a year, which is more than he will be paid in his new capacity, according to the school pay rolls.

Byrnes' Second Demotion.

Under the administration of H. Wallace Caldwell, president of the school board by appointment of Mayor Thompson, Mr. Byrnes has been twice demoted. He was first removed as business manager to make room for Ernest Withall, a public employé of many years' standing but with no previous experience with school work. By the latest move he is replaced by William Sheehan, a clerk.

School officials yesterday seemed unable to explain who ordered the transfer or why it was made. Byrnes said he could give no explanation. "I'm over here today. I know nothing more about it," he said.

"The order must have been given by Mr. Withall, the business manager," said President Caldwell. "That is all I know about it."

Withall appeared unwilling to discuss the matter, but by motions he indicated the order came from President Caldwell.

"Did Mr. Caldwell order you to transfer Mr. Byrnes?" Withall was asked.

"I don't want to say any more about it," he replied. "I don't want to start any trouble."

Move Attributed to Politics.

Observers of school affairs attributed the transfer to politics. Byrnes, they pointed out, is a Democrat.

Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, a school trustee appointed by Mayor Dever, indicated yesterday that she would demand an explanation of Mr. Byrnes' transfer when the board of education meets today. When informed of the matter she asked Charles Gilbert, secretary of the board, who was responsible for the order and by what authority it was given.

Mr. Gilbert said he is of the opinion the change must be authorized by board action, although he has not yet received any report in this regard.

Slayer of Cop Loses Last Battle Against Execution

Aaron Woodward, colored slayer of Policeman Jeremiah O'Connell, lost his last ditch fight to escape the electric chair when a jury in Judge Walter Steffen's Criminal court found him to be sane. He had filed a last minute insanity petition. He is to be executed on March 17. Woodward had previously exhausted all other methods of appeal. He shot and killed the policeman when the latter trapped him during a robbery.

J. J. DAVIS, LABOR SECRETARY, IN RACE FOR SENATE

Backed by Vare, Runs Against Grundy.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—(AP)—James J. Davis, secretary of labor, said today that he would make formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania Saturday in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Davis' statement was made after he had been informed that William S. Vare had withdrawn from the senate race and would throw him his support.

Grateful for Vare's Support.

The secretary of labor said that Vare's announcement was "gratefully received," adding that he was grateful for the support of any good woman or man.

"I take the votes of the high and low," he said, "the rich and poor, the fortunate and unfortunate. I welcome the support of all."

Referring to a report that he would resign from the cabinet to make the campaign, Mr. Davis asserted, emphatically:

"That is not true."

Vare Announces Withdrawal.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 11.—(AP)—William S. Vare today announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the United States senate and asked his friends to support Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for the nomination.

Mr. Vare announced last December when the senate refused him a seat on account of alleged excessive campaign expenses in the senatorial campaign of 1926, that he would be a candidate "to the finish," and later he made a second statement that he was not "bluffing."

In his statement today, Mr. Vare said that he was withdrawing because of the state of his health.

Secretary Davis by his candidacy for the senate will oppose Senator Joseph R. Grundy, who was appointed to Mr. Vare's seat by Gov. Fisher when the senate rejected the Philadelphia organization leader.

STARTS SAFETY DRIVE DESPITE SCHOOL PROTEST

Singleton Acts from New Office with Board.

A new safety campaign among the 500,000 public school children of Chicago was started yesterday by Frank C. Singleton, head of the school board's bureau of safety. This announcement was made by Mr. Singleton, who called himself a "traffic safety expert," although less than three months ago he was informed by Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan that his safety propaganda among the school children was no longer needed.

Supt. Bogan and other school officials yesterday were striving to find out where Singleton derived his authority to continue as the declared guardian of the school children. Supt. Bogan's own safety campaign in the schools has been in full swing for three months. Two safety campaigns in the schools at the same time are hardly necessary, they said.

In Business Offices.

Since Jan. 15 Singleton has been assigned to the school board's business administration offices for the single purpose of spreading safety among the school employés.

During the school finance committee's budget meetings in January, Supt. Bogan recommended the abolishment of the safety bureau at an annual saving of $8,000. He declared safety work was the duty of the principals and district superintendents only.

Three times the economy measure was suggested to the school trustees who were trying vainly to make reductions in the 1930 school budget of $101,000,000.

Transfer Is Made.

The trustees refused to adopt the measure but compromised by divorcing the safety bureau from the educational department and reëstablishing it in the business side of the school system. Gossip at the board rooms at that time was that certain trustees prevailed upon Ernest Withall, business manager of the board, to employ the safety expert.

Recently, Singleton was censured by Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, a school trustee, and Supt. Bogan. They charged him with scheming to profit from the sales of a safety magazine, using as salesmen the 10,000 school patrol boys who were indirectly in his charge. It was reported this prompted Supt. Bogan to demand the removal of the safety supervisor.

Starts Second Campaign.

Supt. Bogan last night said Singleton's latest activity is not looked upon favorably by the board of superintendents. A comprehensive safety program is now being carried on by education officials and a second campaign of the same nature will interfere, he said.

According to Singleton, his campaign "will be the most extensive drive ever staged by any city." Four hundred massmeetings will be held in the schools with thousands of children taking part in dramatized programs, he declared.

"The plans have been completed and the first series of community meetings to sweep the city in the interests of child safety will open this week on the south side," he said. "We must save the boys and girls from being crushed to death by automobiles."

LINDY'S MOTHER MAY LOSE JOB IN DETROIT SCHOOLS

Detroit, Mich., March 11.—[Special.]—Adoption of the proposed Detroit residence rule for teachers would mean dismissal of 736 instructors in the school system, including Mrs. Evangeline L. L. Lindbergh, mother of the famous flyer, Superintendent of Schools Frank Cody reported to the board of education today. Mrs. Lindbergh, a chemistry teacher at Cass Technical High school and a board employé seven years, lives in Grosse Pointe.

The board deferred action on the proposal and likewise on the demand that all employés who are not citizens be discharged.

Cody listed 294 workers who would be effected.

MORE COMPETITION FOR THE FARMERS.

The dedication of the Coolidge dam across the Gila river in Arizona was a picturesque event; the ex-President himself and a good many Indian tribesmen took part in it. Accordingly, the ceremonies have been widely pictured in rotogravure and the movies. No doubt the pageantry has lent a certain value to the business of irrigating the Florence and Casa Grande valleys which the thing in reality lacks. If the history of previous irrigation schemes is repeated, as it is more than likely to be, the money spent in building the dam may be regarded as wasted and worse. The owners of the irrigated lands are always expected to repay the cost of constructing the dams with their annual water fees, but they seldom do.

If that were the worst aspect of the matter, the building of these irrigation dams might be regarded as merely another raid on the public treasury, but, unfortunately, that is not the whole story. Every reclamation dam means hundreds of thousands of acres of farm land added to an existing surplus of lands under cultivation. What this country and especially the agricultural states on both sides of the Mississippi river do not want or need is more competition and greater agricultural surpluses. A government which is forced to undertake extraordinary and costly measures to rescue existing farms from the sheriff is also found opening up more farm lands to make the rescue even more difficult. To call this policy absurd is to flatter it.

The reply may be made that the farmers of the central states will not be injured because the Arizona acres will not be used for crops which compete with those of the corn belt. The fact is otherwise. To the extent that the Arizona lands will be used for growing foodstuffs, the new lands will be in competition with Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and the other states of the central valleys. Michigan apples are in competition with Arizona oranges. If the new lands grow cotton, the added cotton acreage will encourage some Mississippi planter, who can grow either cotton or corn, to turn to corn because of the added competition in cotton. In the end it is the existing agriculture of the country which must pay in lowered income for the Coolidge dam, and the payment must be made at a time when agriculture in the central states can least afford to stand any further reduction of income.

After the Coolidge dam will come Boulder dam, for which many misguided representatives of agriculture have voted, though their reasons must ever remain a mystery to students of representative government. It is to be hoped that the absurdity and injustice will end there. It is time that the interest of American agriculture carried at least as much weight in congress as the wishes of real estate speculators.

AN EMOTIONAL TRAGEDY ABROAD.

Michael Rosenberg, a handsome Parisian of the boulevards, has begun suit in the Supreme court of New York against Mrs. Doris Mercer Kresge, seeking $500,000 compensation for injury to his affections and emotional nature. Mrs. Kresge is the former wife of S. S. Kresge and is very rich. Mr. Kresge is the 5 and 10 cent man who subsidized the Anti-Saloon league with much money, although, according to testimony introduced in court, he mixed his own amours with evidences of Bacchus.

M. Rosenberg, in the preliminary papers in his suit, says that Mrs. Kresge was responsive to his ardent attentions at first in Paris and persuaded him that her intention was matrimony. He understood that their future was assured in the holy bonds and had committed himself to anticipation of a solvent life when he was thrown down almost at the altar, if not over it. Some males might accept that as a bad break and cross over to work the other side of the street, but not in a country where males are men, where courting time is valuable, and where money is a religion.

A self-respecting Parisian big game hunter will not stand for trifling with his passion for a bank account and his emotional regard for anything to add to it. Vivacious American ladies must have more consideration for the spiritual values of life in a man's country. They may not with immunity stir a man's profoundest depths by the sight of their pocketbook and then close it with a snap and walk out of the picture. They must consider the soul.

America, unfortunately, is not a man's country. It has no soul. It does not consider the spirituality of a man's attachment for a rich woman's securities and dividends. Here it's the woman who puts the poor fish in the pan and tries to fry him to a rich brown. There is an increasing number of breach of promise suits of this nature, economically explainable. The stock market has been unkind to many romances. Any number of solvent gentlemen have been reduced to one domestic establishment and have sought to close some of their accounts and slice the overhead until there is a return of easy money.

The prospects of a bread line in Park avenue lead to active protective measures, but these are cases which must not be confused with the spiritual wreck on the Paris boulevard. They are merely social readjustments to tide over stock market uncertainties.

THE CASE OF THE DRYS.

The drys in their turn at the hearings on prohibition legislation before the judiciary committee of the house of representatives make a poor showing. They face the confounding of their predictions and the invalidating of their promises. When they procured the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act it was with a definite setup of results to be obtained. This was to be as cause and effect. The consequences are observed and they are the opposite of the dry forecast.

The opposition to prohibition presented representatives of a thoughtful citizenship concerned for the future of the country. The drys are not interested in the facts but in the preservation of their own dominance in government. They seek to maintain a rule regardless of consequences, an ambition natural to a dictatorship.

They find that the opposition has a higher character in citizenship than their own, a more intelligent knowledge of the conditions, and more regard for the good of the country. The drys have only the arguments which experience has exploded. They offer nothing but a continuation of intolerable abuses to be made worse, if that be possible, by more repressive laws which cannot be enforced.

Their audience is disappearing. It cannot be held by fanaticism and dictatorial disregard of national welfare and of individual rights.

THE "AMERICAN ELITE."

There is French criticism of Mr. MacDonald for taking the line he did in his recent radio talk to America and speaking to the "uneducated masses of the middle west" against military entanglements. The British prime minister is condemned for doing this just at a time when the "American elite" were coming to realize the inevitability of participation in European affairs. Most unfortunate, at such a time, to flatter the rabble and arouse it to oppose and embarrass the superior people.

The American elite will always be found dependable in such emergencies and they will not be disturbed by the uneducated masses. The French critics have too little faith in them if they suspect them of a sentimental weakness for their own national affairs at any time. Their admiration of alien advantages is enduring. They are and will remain debt cancellationists, leaguists and world courters. They are for a small American navy and many entanglements.

To doubt them is ungenerous. It is an unmerited reflection upon their patient recognition of alien purposes and interests as superior to any claims of home land. Semper fidelis—to the land of the foreigner.

OPPORTUNITY FOR THE LITTLE BROWN BROTHERS.

Nearly everywhere the beneficiaries of white custody indicate their realization of the fact that this is the time to make trouble. It is the time of times to strike. The white custodians were never better equipped with the force needed to suppress their rebellious wards and never wanted less to use it. Modern arms, available only to highly industrialized countries, have made primitive warfare folly to undertake and futile to wage. Gas, high explosives, airplanes, long range and quick firing guns, have given their possessors advantages which make opposition madness to consider, but the very means of repression are an embarrassment to the governments confronted with the problems of unrest in the massed ranks of the brown brothers.

The moral world of the whites is in ferment against the instruments of domination, and a government responsible for turning loose adequate whiffs of gas, sprays of machine gun bullets, or ash cans of high explosives would be ducking from the uproar at home. Ramsay MacDonald does not crave to come out of the holy odors of a peace conference to learn that there has been another and a worse Amritsar dedicated to history with the blood of Gandhi's disciples of freedom exercising civil disobedience in large numbers. Mr. Hoover will ask with intense feeling that fate keep him from having anything to do with the annihilation of a mob of protesting Filipinos yearning for the full freedom so often promised them by American political parties.

The strength of the supervising whites is their weakness in these moral days when strength is dreaded and when there is an avowed intention to make the next war civilized and painless. A recognition of the altruistic predicament of the bossing races prevails in the leadership of the bossed.

Editorial of the Day

BEHIND THE FARM BOARD'S POLICY.

[Kansas City, Mo., Star.]

A private statistical service furnishes this information and inference about the wheat situation:

It is reported that shipments of wheat from North America between the beginning of the 1929-'30 crop year on July 1, last, and Feb. 24 totaled about 212 million bushels as compared with 294 million bushels a year ago and about the same amount in 1927. Europe's takings from our market declined abruptly and this seems to be equally true of their importations from the Argentine and from Australia. Within recent weeks the exports from North America have declined to the smallest volume for any similar period since 1910. This general situation suggests that quite possibly Europe has been staying out of the market, has not yet satisfied its requirements, and that, therefore, there is a possibility that rather than there having been an artificial character to the market because of price fixing at too high levels there may have been attempts to force liquidation at low levels. To the extent that this has been prevented by activities of our farm board it may prove a later stimulant to the wheat market and of a very decided benefit to the American farmer.

The inference that Europe is bound to come into the market for its supplies in the near future and thus to boost prices may be optimistic. But it was this view of the situation, with a European boycott of North American wheat, and the belief that the depression was temporary, that led to avowedly emergency action of the farm board in attempting to tide the wheat farmers over until normal conditions should return.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. M. B.

WELCOME, DICK BYRD; WE'LL GIVE YOU THE LOWDOWN—

on what's happened since you've been away down there in the ice around the south pole. Of course you've had bulletins over the radio now and then, but no real news for a year and more. So here goes. Delegates from all the more prominent nations are holding a naval parley over in London with a view to sinking the war ships and cutting the navies of the world all to smithereens. And they told you over the air that you had been made a rear admiral. Looks as though there was a joker in that somewhere; but cheer up. The conference in London hasn't even sunk a tugboat, much less a battleship. They go to banquets and luncheons and breakfasts and suppers and teas and things and seem to be eating the British empire out of house and home, but your job as a rear admiral is still good.

You've probably heard disconnected bits about the farm board getting one hundred and fifty million dollars to save the farmer by buying his wheat. They didn't save him the first time (at least not to brag about, what with wheat going from a dollar fifty-three, or something like that, to a dollar five or something like that), so they asked congress for another hundred million. And if he isn't saved then maybe they'll have to spend another hundred million. You may ask what the farmer does with all the money he gets from the farm board. Well, sir, we asked a farmer that very question and he said he didn't know—he hadn't got any yet.

And now, some more news. You, or some of your crew, may want to know if the country is still dry. Well, yes and no. When you land in the U. S. of A. you will read items about people drinking anti-freeze solution from the radiators of automobiles, and also partaking of canned heat, hair oil, and gasoline; so you will know that things haven't changed much. Anyway, it's a great economic success. Ask the drys; they're great on proving that. And ask the bootleggers; they don't have to prove it.

Racketeering is probably something that will be practically new to you. When you left it was just a sort of infant industry, but now it's grown into big business. You will probably be called on as soon as you come ashore by two or three gentlemen who will tell you they have organized the Vice Admiral Mutual Benevolent and Protective association and that they would like to have you join and contribute fifty dollars. They won't say it just that way. They'll probably say, "Come across, kick in wid fifty bucks, or we'll take you for a ride."

But don't accept their invitation to go for a ride. You wouldn't enjoy it. We'd like to tell you more about this, but we haven't time to go into it now, but we'll write to you again.

"ARE YOU WILLING to go to war for prohibition?" asked the Rev. William Bartlett of Chicago, an Anti-Saloon league speaker, of a church audience in Boston the other night. Everybody said, yes, they were ready to go to war. This might be dismissed offhand as the boloney, but sometimes when people keep talking war and getting themselves all worked up over it war actually happens. We think, Rev. Bartlett, that you are monkeying with the buzzsaw.

MARCH 15TH! Next Saturday! The day of doom! Oh tears! Oh sorrow! Oh poignant wails of agony! Oh income tax! Oh gee! Oh gosh! MIAMI, through its city council, says very sternly and somewhat sadly that the presence of Mr. A. Capone, now a guest of the city of Philadelphia, is not desired. MILK-BORNE SORE THROAT.

SEPTIC sore throat is caused by a milk-borne streptococcus of a particular kind, called streptococcus epidemicus. This streptococcus differs from those other varieties of streptococci which cause scarlet fever, erysipelas, rheumatism, pneumonia, tonsillitis, in man, and spoiled udder in cows. The finding of streptococci in milk throws no light on an investigation of septic sore throat unless the search is carried far enough to prove that it is or it is not this particular streptococcus.

Finding that a milk handler has had a sore throat, or that a cow in a herd has a spoiled quarter, likewise means nothing unless the particular streptococcus of septic sore throat is found. Finding this particular coccus in the throat of workers or on their hands, in milk or in the udders of milk cows, does not prove that an epidemic is due to break out, though such a condition does lay a foundation for such an epidemic, and the discovery should put everybody on guard.

These are the conclusions of Dr. W. D. Frost and associates who have studied the subject at the University of Wisconsin for four years. They have had more than a thousand cows, a great many milk handlers, and many milk farms under observation, and they have examined many thousand specimens of milk. They have found methods of differentiating between this coccus and other streptococci, and now they will try a new method used by Dr. Tunnicliffe to find streptococci of scarlet fever.

They found there was no relationship between ordinary cases of spoiled udder and the cocci in the milk from them and those cocci which caused septic sore throat. However, septic sore throat is nearly always, if not always, caused from drinking raw milk from an infected udder. The streptococcus of septic sore throat gets into a teat, establishes itself, increases in numbers, and causes a slow inflammatory process, different, however, from abscess of the udder. The coccus gets into the human throat. There are men who are carriers of it. But it has not been shown just how these men infect cows, or infect people, for that matter, if they do.

Dr. Frost says the public can be protected against septic throat. Pasteurization does it. So do very careful repeated bacteriologic examinations of throats of milkers, and of milks. If the cocci are found in a milk, search must be made for the infected cow.

COMPENSATION FOR HEART LEAK.

Mrs. M. writes:

1. Just what do you mean by compensation for a heart leak?
2. Is coffee harmful to one with a heart leak?
3. What causes enlarged glands of the neck? Can they be cured?
4. What causes the saliva to come into the mouth and keep the person swallowing all the time? Some nights he cannot sleep for it.
5. Is drinking raw milk from tuberculin negative cows dangerous?

REPLY.

1. Enough increase in efficiency of the heart muscle to make it easily able to do the extra work required.
2. In large quantities, yes. In small quantities, no.
3. As a rule some kind of an infection. Tubercular infection is probable.
4. Among several causes are nervousness and improper dental work.
5. There is practically no danger of tuberculosis, but undulant fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, and typhoid are possible.

MAKING MILK ACID.

Mrs. T. T. writes: I was put on a milk diet and it caused diarrhea. The doctor said I did not have enough acid in my stomach, so after each glass of milk he had me run my tongue over a piece of cut lemon, and I had no further trouble and I gained in weight.

REPLY.

There are some who develop diarrhea when they go on a milk diet. Making the milk acid with fruit juice is sometimes an advantage.

PROMINENT SHOULDER BLADES.

J. N. writes:

1. Can large, prominent shoulder blades be reduced to normal through exercise?
2. Are such defects due to abnormal growth of bones, or to misplacement?

REPLY.

1. In some cases this is possible. Work is better than play for this purpose.
2. The principal cause is round chest. This in turn is caused by rickets. Poor muscle development is an important contributing factor. The chest develops poorly and the shoulder blades slide forward and tilt.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 12, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—[March 7 correspondence.]—The time honored national inauguration ball came off last night in the marble halls of the patent office. As early as 9 o'clock the carriages began to arrive and soon the ballroom was thronged. At about 10:30 President Lincoln, accompanied by Speaker Colfax, entered the hall. Following came Mrs. Lincoln upon the arm of Senator Sumner. They walked down the center of the long hall and then returned midway to a dais where sofas and chairs in blue and gold had been placed. Mr. Lincoln was evidently trying to throw off care for the time, but with rather ill success, and looked very old; yet he seemed pleased and gratified as he was greeted by the people. He wore a plain black suit and white gloves. Mrs. Lincoln looked extremely well and was attired in the most elegant manner. A grand supper was served about the hour of 12, after which the presidential party departed and dancing was resumed.

CHICAGO.—L. S. Charlette of Chicago and Miss Lizzie Smethurst of Racine were married at the home of the bride's father in the latter city on Feb. 28 by the Rev. A. D. Benedict. Samuel N. Calkin and Adelia George were married in this city on March 9 by the Rev. Dr. T. M. Eddy.

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Stephen Ratford and Miss Mary E. Ruby were married on March 9 by the Rev. W. W. Whitcomb.

NEW YORK.—The Post's Washington special says: "Washington is filled with rumors of a battle in North Carolina between Gen. Schofield's forces and the rebels." Another dispatch says that nothing definite can be ascertained, but the reports of a battle are evidently founded on a boastful dispatch from Bragg to a Richmond paper stating that he had checked Schofield.

CHICAGO.—Among notables in the city is Gen. Sully, commander of the forces operating against the hostile Indians of the northwest. He has just completed organization of two regiments of penitent rebel prisoners at Rock Island.

MARCH 12, 1900.

LONDON.—The beginning of the end of the Boer war apparently is in sight. While President Kruger and Steyn were preparing messages regarding peace terms to Lord Salisbury, Gen. Roberts was advancing and last night was at the gates of Bloemfontein. It is expected the Free State capital will fall today if it has not already done so. In addition to official representations for peace, Kruger and Steyn have called upon foreign consuls to request their governments to intervene and stop further bloodshed. Five of Lord Roberts' regiments met the advance guard of Gen. Joubert's force in strong position among Dreitfontein kopjes and fought a severe engagement, resulting in the putting to rout of the Boers, who left 102 dead on the field.

CHICAGO.—Christ Reformed Episcopal church was thronged with parishioners and friends gathered to help Bishop Charles E. Cheney keep his fortieth anniversary as rector. Tears came to many eyes and many a speaker's voice broke as he recalled old days of the church.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from Constantinople says: "A ukase by the czar orders the rapid mobilization of the Russian army and navy reserves. This movement appears to have as its objective India and north Asia Minor. A Russian cruiser stationed here was ordered to hold itself in readiness for immediate service."

CHICAGO.—Prof. Henry Cohn of Northwestern university was stricken with hemorrhage of the brain and lies in a critical condition at his home, 1610 Lake street, Evanston.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 12, 1920.

CHICAGO.—William A. Mills, manager of the Crawford theater, Crawford avenue and Madison street, was mysteriously shot to death in the box office by a young man who jerked the door open, fired one shot without saying a word, and vanished. Mills and Miss Helen Landsman were counting the day's receipts when the man appeared. The shot halted the show and emptied the theater within three minutes. The fleeing slayer joined a companion outside and they escaped in a taxicab.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Proposed soldiers' bonus legislation was dealt a staggering blow when Secretary of the Treasury Houston and W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board, asserted that a two billion dollar bond issue would be disastrous to the credit of the country and to Liberty bond holders. As a result the compensation plan is regarded as dead, for this session of congress at least.

CHICAGO.—Albert Blumberg, 6325 South Claremont avenue, was killed and two men injured when a three inch shell, a souvenir from overseas, and believed to be a dud, exploded.

CHICAGO.—The brokerage house of Marcuse & Co. suspended business yesterday after Bruno Benjamin (Ben) Marcuse had been expelled from the New York stock exchange. The house was represented to the New York exchange as a "bucket shop."

HISTORY IN 500 WORDS.

Chicago, March 9.—One reads with pleasure, but concludes with amazement, the two charming essays which you have this day published as the top prize winners in your laudable effort to produce in five hundred words the history of this country. Contestants were advised to present matter in such a way that an uninformed person might learn, in outline therefrom, that particular history. The result, so published, signally fails to accomplish that purpose. You quote one of the judges in saying that the first prize winner is "exceptionally good, standing out above the others in every way." Permit me to say that both of them stand out but not "above" the others, I trust. They both stand out from others in one material aspect at least. Neither of them gives the correct name of this country which the constitution provides: The United States of America. ROY WRIGHT.

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 10.—Cal Coolidge may be only a "creek fisherman," but I'll eat your old hat if he can't write a better 500 word history of the U. S. with his eyes shut than the two prize winners that appeared in your Sunday print. As histories these two little essays contained nothing and lots of it. Take the sweet little tid-bit that won the grand, for instance. The first 55 words had no more to do with U. S. history than a last year's bird nest. It prates of "oriental products, Italian ships carrying products, Englishmen trained to the seas"—and what have you! My conception of a history is one that at least tells who found us and when. The second prize winner says, "Lincoln abolished slavery," but who was Lincoln—king, President, senator, or general? Roll your own. So if Chicago gunmen ever wipe us out and any future visitor should perchance visit this land dependng on these two 500 word histories for enlightenment, he certainly will have to do a whole lot of guessing.

We very much fear that THE TRIBUNE has been kidded. It smacks too much like a professors' contest—judged by professors. So we pin an abiding faith to Cal. We may be disappointed, but we know he can't be worse. F. C. SORRELS.

GOOD AND NOT SO GOOD.

Chicago, March 9.—Your editorial on "The Navy Sinkers" is most excellent and is much needed at this time. Your paper is quite a puzzle to me because in the same issue you publish pro-American and anti-American readings. The prize history containing 500 words was as poor as your editorial was excellent. From a literary standpoint Prof. Sweet's composition is very good, but it is poor from a historical viewpoint, and upon its historical value it should chiefly be judged.

It contains no mention that Washington was the commander in chief of the American revolutionary forces, although he ranks as one of the world's greatest generals. There was plenty of space to mention this, for Prof. Sweet gave more than half the space of his article to events prior to 1789.

The war of 1812 is not even mentioned. When I attended grammar school the children rose from their seats in anger that our government put up with such indignities from both France and England and that we delayed so long in fighting. Then, too, our most stirring anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," was inspired by an event in that war.

The professor speaks of disregarding neutral rights and ignores the fact that we let England break our neutrality time and again. Moreover, Germany said she would give up her blockade if England gave up hers, which was for the purpose of starving the people throughout central Europe. England would not give up her blockade and we declared war on Germany. If the professor thought he had not space to give the whole truth, he should not have mentioned a cause at all.

C. CHRISTINE HOEHN.

FROM THE CELLAR.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., March 10.—I wonder if Carey Orr really believes the stuff set forth in the cartoon "Voice from the Cellar" in Sunday's issue. I believe I voice the opinion of thousands of your readers when I say THE TRIBUNE is grossly unfair in printing such bunk. There are just as fair and brave fighters on the side of "war shall cease" as there are in the military group. History will never vindicate your attitude. IRVING KELLY.

UNPAID.

Chicago, March 9.—I have a daughter who teaches; she is all I have and I'm all she has, and between us her check is all we have. We pay our rent, we have enough to eat, we have enough clothes, we carry a little insurance, save a little. When she brought her January pay we paid all we owed and now we are where we began. Who is to blame? Cannot some one unravel it? My daughter is not the only one. The worry and strain the teachers are under is having its effect upon the teaching and classroom discipline.

I wonder what these callous, indifferent people would say if these harassed teachers should strike and the parents would get their children home for a while? Awful, they would say, to take it out on the children, and how unprofessional! Yes, right now some little children are going without the necessities of life because daddy or mom did not get a February check.

Somebody do something! Chicago is not broke! Two years' taxes will soon pour into her coffers. On the strength of that, pay the teachers. L. P.

SCHOOL EXPENDITURES.

Chicago, March 8.—Having several school teachers as relatives I am learning quite a little about school finances these days. Why not elect a school board that could be held responsible?

I understand that the present board voted an increase for the school engineers in December, well knowing the emergencies that were coming in December. This raise was to be retroactive to October. Then the civic minded principals, hearing about it, had a similarly worded clause inserted in the budget making it possible for an anticipated raise for themselves. It is no wonder that the budget calls for $101,000,000 with the largest possible income $68,000,000.

The Strawn committee would do well to examine the pay roll budgets carefully. These smaller groups, engineers and principals, know raises for small groups do not loom up so large. Then when a cut is due, their real loss is comparatively nothing at all, while the teachers who have gone along complainingly will get the cut because their numbers multiplied by the amount would make a good talking point in reduction of expenditures. K. M.

INTERNATIONAL COURTS.

Chicago, March 6.—Your editorial of March 5, "The Hague vs. the World Court," saying "The Hague court still represents the American ideal on international arbitration and of peaceable adjustment of controversies. The permanent court is a departure from all American traditions," certainly is against the facts in the case.

The United States government sent to the first Hague conference in 1899 a delegation specifically instructed to work for an international court of justice. In fact, they carried a plan similar to the organization of our Supreme court which they were "enjoined to propose at an opportune moment." The opportune moment did not arrive at that conference. The court of arbitration plan was adopted. Our government sent to the second Hague conference in 1907 another delegation instructed "to seek a development of The Hague tribunal into a permanent tribunal composed of judges who are judicial officers and nothing else, who are paid adequate salaries, who have no other occupation, and who will devote their entire time to the trial and decision of international cases by judicial methods and under a sense of judicial responsibility." This plan prevailed, but it did not become effective because conferences to agree upon a plan for the election of the judges had not arrived at an agreement when the world war intervened. Thus it appears that if there are any "American traditions" touching this matter they are plainly that we have favored a world court of justice rather than a court of arbitration. ALMER PENNEWELL.

THE NARCOTIC LAW.

Chicago, March 9.—A doctor charged me $3 for a prescription for one ounce of Squibb's mixture (one-fifth of which was laudanum in a mixture too hot to swallow), which was filled at a pie counter drug store for 85 cents and emptied in the sewer.

The same doctor charged me $1 for a duplicate prescription that was filled at a real drug store for 65 cents. So I paid $6.50 for one ounce of Squibb's mixture that formerly retailed for 35 cents. I finally got what I wanted, but who was benefited most by the narcotic law? FRED A. COX.

LIFE FOR PINT WOMAN IS FREED AFTER ONE YEAR

Granted New Trial, but May Escape It.

Lansing, Mich., March 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Etta Mae Miller, Michigan's world-famous "life for a pint" law victim, returned home late today a free woman.

Within an hour after her arrival at the county jail in Mason, Mrs. Miller was released under $2,500 bond.

She had been in prison since the fall of 1928. The mother of 10 children, she was brought from the Detroit house of correction by Sheriff Hugh Silsby. She was met by her husband, Alvin, and one son.

Mandatory Life Sentence.

Mrs. Miller was optimistic and hopeful that she will be freed permanently when she is tried again on a charge of selling two pints of liquor to Emmet Clark and John Haynes. This alleged sale, of which she was convicted a December, 1928, constituted her fourth prohibition law violation and brought her a mandatory life sentence. Her sentence later was commuted to 7½ to 15 years in line with a modification of the habitual criminal law by the 1929 legislature, and she was granted a new trial by the Supreme court, which held that the trial judge erred in presenting in his charge to the jury only the prosecution's side of the case.

Charges She was "Framed."

Whether Mrs. Miller can again be convicted may depend largely upon whether Eastman can be located and will give the same testimony as at the first trial. In a statement made shortly after his dismissal from the police force Eastman charged Mrs. Miller had been framed by the officers and he offered to testify to that effect before a grand jury. Eastman's charges were given wide publicity and it is questionable if a jury can be found which has not heard of them. It is claimed that officers know where Eastman can be found, although he left Lansing several weeks ago, shortly after the dismissal of a charge of bootlegging which had been placed against him.

The prosecution also may have difficulty in locating Clark and Haynes, who were claimed to have purchased the liquor from Mrs. Miller, but who refused to testify. They later were sent to jail for perjury by the trial judge, who said their stories on the stand differed from their admissions in private.

Mrs. Miller insists that she was not guilty of the liquor sale of which she was convicted, although she admits having sold liquor.

HIS VESTMENTS AFIRE, PRIEST KEEPS ON WITH PRAYER TO HALT PANIC

Franklin, N. H., March 11.—(AP)—The coolness of a priest and the prompt action of a worshiper today averted a threatened panic in crowded St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, when the vestments of the Rev. John Brophy caught fire as the clergyman was bringing to a close the forty hours devotion.

Father Brophy's robes had brushed one of the lighted candles on the high altar. The lacy vestments caught fire instantly. A number of women cried out and, seizing their children, began a confused movement toward the exists.

Others crowded forward into the sanctuary. Father Brophy continued to intone the service, however, as he tried to beat out the flames with his hands. Arthur Marteau, a worshiper, rushed to the altar and tore off the vestments, while the Rev. James Creedon of Dover, who was assisting in the services, helped to quiet the congregation and restore order. Father Brophy was not seriously burned.

STATE TO SPEED TRIAL OF FIVE FOR KIDNAPING

The state's attorney's office will endeavor to speed the trial of the five alleged kidnapers of Theodore Kopelman, an insurance broker, 548 Surf street, because of the fear that efforts might be made to spirit away the witnesses. This announcement was made yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller as he issued orders to the indictment department to hurry the draft of indictments which have been voted against Charles [Chick] Hadesman, Seymour Pellar, Norman Resnick, Irving Sandler and Sam Gold.

Mrs. Myrtle Thoren, former wife of Kopelman, who posed as the widow of Pete Gusenberg, one of the victim's in the St. Valentine's day gang massacre, probably will not be tried with the men. She is named only in the conspiracy indictment while the men are named in a straight kidnaping indictment carrying with it a death penalty.

The prosecutors have hopes that before trial Mrs. Thoren might weaken and agree to help out with testimony. So far she has resisted efforts of Chief Investigator Pat Roche and Prosecutor Mueller to make her talk. That is why she was indicted.

Publisher Is Ordered to Answer in Alimony Fight

L. E. Wheeler-Reid, Hollywood publisher, was given ten days to show why he should not be ordered to pay temporary allmony to his wife, Mrs. Olive Lillian Wheeler-Reid, who was a movie actress under the name of Lillian Coolidge. The wife said her husband deserted her and came to Chicago to sue for divorce. Last Sept. 25 the husband was arrested while he was with Mrs. Dolly Lee, white wife of Tom Lee, head of the On Leong Merchants' association. He charged he had been "framed" by his wife, whom he caused to be arrested earlier when she was found in an apartment with Delbert Sponey, an accountant.

HISTORIC SCENES LURING TOURISTS INTO TENNESSEE

Spring Brings Horde of Frozen Northerners.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 11.—The birds are singing peacefully today in Chickamauga National park, among the cannon, tablets, and monuments that mark the woods where 34,000 Union and Confederate soldiers lost their lives in September of '63. Cherry and peach trees bloom on Missionary Ridge, where 12,500 were killed in a gallant charge a month later.

Spring has come to these memorial battle grounds where Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota gave so many of their sons to save the Union. The warm sunshine in the national cemetery is like the immortality refrain from a regimental band at a military funeral.

The season is bringing tourists to this historic city. From the south, come automobiles from Florida en route north. From the north, come motorists advancing on the warm season, eager for summer driving after a long and severe winter on snow covered pavements.

Revival of Interest.

The civil war scenes, Lookout mountain, Signal Mountain, Missionary Ridge, Chickamauga Park, and Snodgrass Hill, are being visited more than ever before, according to the Chattanooga Automobile club. There seems to be a revival of interest in this history entirely removed from sectionalism, which has faded with time and is being erased completely by the automobile and modern highways.

THE TRIBUNE road car arrived here on the third day of a spring tour recommended by the Chicago Motor club. By a more direct route, through Louisville and Nashville, Chattanooga is only two days' drive from Chicago over 647 miles of fair to good highway.

THE TRIBUNE car was driven here from Asheville, N. C., after having spent the first night out of Chicago at Lexington, Ky.

242 Scenic Miles.

From Asheville here, via Knoxville, Tenn., is 242 miles, scenic and pleasant for the man at the wheel. Concrete, better than most Illinois pavements, covers 130 miles. There are 41 miles of new asphalt, 26 miles of bituminous macadam, 41.5 of good gravel, and a mile of dirt. Incidentally, construction crews were at work on a new location for a concrete road to replace most of the macadam.

U. S. 70, the Boon way, is taken out of Asheville over the trail followed by pioneer settlers through what is now the Pisgah national forest, 300,000 acres of wooded mountains, to Newport, Tenn., and then to Knoxville, which was occupied by Gen. Burnside during the Chattanooga campaign.

Knoxville, 632 miles from Chicago, a two day drive, is a gateway to the Smoky mountains, which became a national park by an act of congress last year. There, in virtually a primeval state, are 428,000 acres of mountains, streams, springs, pines, oaks, hickories, chestnuts, and walnuts, with wild flowers, ferns, and mosses.

LIST 90 BUSINESS MEN FOR MUNICIPAL ARBITRATION COURT

Bankers, merchants and manufacturers are included in a new list of 90 names submitted to Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal courts as potential members of the new arbitration court, which, the chief justice has announced, will begin to function soon. The court was established by the Municipal courts recently to serve in the settlement of civil suits.

Such organizations as the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Affiliated Motor clubs, the Illinois Bankers' association and the Employers' association, have sent in lists of their members who have signified a willingness to serve in the court, over which a Municipal judge will preside. Three arbiters will pass upon the facts submitted in each case, while the judge will pass upon the admissibility of evidence.

Among those whose names appear upon the latest lists are Joseph R. Noel, northwest side banker; John F. Jelke, manufacturer; Charles R. Holden of the First National bank; Ludwig Stein, manufacturer; Clayton Mark, manufacturer; and E. G. Seubert of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

CHICAGO MARINE KILLED BY GUARD IN NICARAGUA

Washington, D. C., March 11.—(AP)—Hailed by a sentry at Managua, Nicaragua, Lieut. Edward Selby of the Marine corps was shot to death Sunday night by the guard, who apparently mistook him for a bandit.

The navy department announced today that an investigation was under way. No further details were available.

Lieut. Selby's widow is in Coronado, Cal. He was a native of Chicago and joined the marine corps in 1912.

HOLD UP STORE AND CUSTOMER.

Louis Mandel, owner of a hardware store at 4418 Broadway, and a customer, Elmer Hultz, 642 Lill street, lost a total of $32.45 to a lone robber who invaded the store early yesterday.

DORR IN PRISON; VICTIM'S POLICY PAYS FOR APPEAL

Howard Dorr entered a cell yesterday in the penitentiary at Joliet where he had been sentenced for life for the murder of William J. O'Brien. The state charged that he killed O'Brien to obtain $5,000 in insurance which O'Brien carried for the benefit of his wife, Genevieve, who confessed a clandestine romance with Dorr, spruce insurance agent.

Mrs. O'Brien after her acquittal of her husband's murder, collected the $5,000 insurance and is said to have turned over $3,500 to enable Worr to carry an appeal to the Supreme court.

How a Family Doctor made Millions of Friends

FIFTEEN years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became one of the best-known members of his profession. A single prescription made him famous. And for forty years it has continued to make friends.

As fast as people could tell others about the marvelous way this prescription corrects constipation and relieves other troubles caused by sluggish bowels, demand for it spread until Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it filled in quantities; bottled and distributed through drug stores.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people would never think of using anything else when they're headachy, bilious, feverish, or weak; when breath is bad, tongue is coated or they are suffering from nausea, from gas, or lack of appetite, etc.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin as you buy it from your drug store is made in accordance with the original formula from only herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant tasting; its action is thorough in the most obstinate cases; gently effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

Demonstrating the Superior Performance of General Motors' Lowest priced EIGHT

Levels Pittsburgh's Toughest Hills

From a standing start in low and a few yards in second, the New Oakland Eight slipped into high on Pittsburgh's hardest grade, the Tokio hill, and cleared the top at 30 miles an hour. Next it conquered South Negley's tortuous heights with ease. And since that demonstration it has displayed its superior performance on every difficult grade in Pittsburgh territory.

THE CAR WITH THE GOLDEN ROCKET

During the past several weeks, many motorists have learned about the superior performance of the New Oakland Eight by watching the demonstrator marked with a Golden Rocket. They have learned that few cars can keep up with its speed, or match its pick-up and power. But only after driving the car themselves have they learned how smoothly and easily it delivers superior performance. Only then could they really appreciate the moderate price of this unusual car—General Motors' lowest priced eight.

Now, we want you to know the superior performance of the New Oakland Eight, as only a personal experience can reveal it. We want you to learn for yourself, behind the wheel, what its ratio of one horsepower to every 37 pounds of car weight can accomplish in superior speed, acceleration and power.

Only by driving this car can you appreciate its exceptional eight-cylinder smoothness, its positive brake action, its easy steering and shifting of gears. And only by riding in it can you know the restfulness and trim beauty of its interiors. Once you have done these things, we are confident you will agree that the New Oakland Eight with body by Fisher represents an innovation among cars selling at its price.

This week, when you see the Golden Rocket demonstrator, ask the driver for a ride. Or come to our showroom and take a New Oakland Eight for a trial spin. A few minutes of driving will convince you that this is truly a car of superior performance.

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

THINK OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE IN TERMS OF TOMORROW

Ultimate cost is as important as first cost in the purchase of an automobile

WHEN you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

THE first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

The difference in selling cost, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, amounts to at least $50 to $75 on each car. This is as important as economies in production in keeping down the price you pay for the new Ford.

THE low ultimate cost of the new Ford is the result of sound design, quality of material and unusual care in manufacturing. Friction and wear are reduced by the accuracy with which each part is made and assembled.

These factors combine to decrease the cost of operation and add months and years to the useful life of the car. The good performance and low yearly depreciation of the new Ford are indicative of the enduring quality built into it at the factory.

SERVICE charges are on the same fair, economical basis as the making and selling of the car and replacement parts are always available at low prices through all Ford dealers. In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost.

Think in terms of tomorrow, therefore, when you purchase an automobile. For tomorrow will reveal its true worth.

Finds Youth's Fountain!

One Happy Woman Tells Where She Discovered It

"JUST one thing has contributed more than anything else in my life toward making me the radiantly happy woman I am today," writes Mrs Walter Ruehl, of Glenbrook, Conn. "If this was selling at ten dollars a bottle instead of the few cents it costs, I know one person who would scrape the money together, if she had to go without shoes, and I don't mean maybe!"

"I guess a good many others feel the same way, judging by the number of people I know who swear by this 'Fountain of Youth.'"

That's the way Mrs. Ruehl feels about Nujol, the simple, normal natural way to keep healthy—and therefore happy.

Millions of people all over the world have discovered this simple secret, which is nothing but giving our bodies the internal lubrication that they need, as much as any machine. After you have taken Nujol for a few days, and have proved to yourself how it brightens your whole life, you will wonder how so simple a treatment can make such a great change in your health and your happiness. The reason is this:

Regularly as clock work, Nujol clears out of our bodies those poisons (we all have them) which slow us up, make us headachy, low in our minds.

Colorless and tasteless as pure water, Nujol cannot hurt you, no matter how long you take it. It is not a medicine. It contains no drugs. It forms no habit. It is non-fattening.

Why don't you find out if Nujol will make you feel better and brighter and happier? It works that way with millions of other people. Very likely it will with you! Get a bottle in its sealed package at any drug store and be sure it's trademarked "Nujol." It costs but a few cents—and it makes you feel like a million dollars! Start taking Nujol this very night!

RUSSIA TO PUSH ASSAULT ON GOD DURING EASTER

Calls Army of 2,500,000 Youthful Reds.

MOSCOW, March 11.—(AP)—With the approach of Easter and Catholic and Protestant days of "intercessory prayer on behalf of Christian Russians," soviet atheist officials are busily formulating an intensified assault upon God and religion.

Ignoring the world wide outcry against communists for their attitude toward the church, which they say is only a cloak for an economic blockade against the soviet union, these leaders today issued instructions to members of the league of communist youths, numbering 2,500,000, to have "special shock brigades and groups of light cavalry" during Easter week lead the anti-God movement and investigate schools, universities and clubs, to see how the anti-religious education of the young is being carried out.

Members are directed to organize mock religious carnivals, atheistic meetings, torchlight processions and lectures and also to fight for extermination of the kulak, the complete collectivization of farms and fulfillment of the five year industrialization plan.

Harkening undoubtedly to Stalin's recent admonition to go easier with the peasants in enforcing the government's rural policies, today's orders to anti-religious propagandists warns that that anti-religious demonstrations by the masses should be spontaneous, voluntary and not provoked by force or formal administrative orders.

On Easter day huge bonfires of icons will be made in all large cities and towns around which unbelievers will celebrate the "extinction of religion."

GERMAN EXPERTS TO HELP RUSSIA SAVE RAILROADS

Moscow Hires Engineers in Crisis.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, March 11.—An appeal by the Moscow commissariat on ways and communications to the German railroad administration to furnish trained specialists to reorganize the management of the Russian railroads has resulted in a signed agreement, according to the Moscow Isvestia. It reports that 25 German engineers are being sent to Russia and that a large number of others will arrive before April. The Germans have agreed to train Russian engineers in the project.

The agreement is expected to prevent the threatened collapse of soviet transportation. Less than 20 per cent of Russian trains are running on schedule, and wrecks and blockades are increasing.

Wrecks Are Numerous.

Interesting figures concerning the breakdown in operation of Russian railroads was published in the Moscow Economic Life, which reported 822 wrecks by broken axles, 103 from the breaking of steel tires on locomotive wheels, and 46 by broken rails.

The Economic Life reports that the transportation situation has reached a crisis and the amount of rolling stock available is decreasing. Locomotive repairs, which might be effected in America within five days, take 35 days in Russia and 80 per cent of the repaired engines are unable to operate after a fortnight's service.

Cheka Probes Rail Staff.

The number of passenger and freight trains has been cut considerably since the first of the year and both agriculture and industry, especially in Siberia, have been affected.

The Cheka recently ordered to investigate the railroad's staff, seeking counter revolutionists, suspected of plotting to wreck Russian transportation, but it reported the roads were operating with only 12 per cent of the needed technical personnel and that other industries must be blamed for including engineers to enter their employ at higher salaries.

FEEDER BUSES, O.K.'D BY JUDGE, TO START SOON

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday signed an order authorizing the Chicago Railways company to expend $954,500 for equipment to be used in the installation of the feeder bus system on the northwest side. Last week the Illinois commerce commission ordered the company to put feeder bus service in effect on seven routes, covering approximately seventeen miles of northwest side streets.

Attorney James M. Sheean announced that installation would begin at once, adding that "within six weeks trolley feeder buses will be running on Belmont and Diversey." He predicted that other lines involved in the order will be in service in four months.

The establishment of the feeder bus system on the northwest side ends a two year battle before the state commerce commission.

The Truly Amazing Low Price of Pierce-Arrow Fineness!

IT would take less than ten minutes to show the world's most unobserving person why Pierce-Arrow is regarded as America's finest motor car—and why, as such, it is amazingly low priced.

A brief glimpse of any Pierce-Arrow interior is fairly convincing. A closer examination reveals appointments of such fineness, coachcraft of such artistry, as to carry utmost conviction. Only custom creations are comparable.

The new Pierce-Arrow groups are of the distinguished, low-swung, slender design which so brilliantly captured the fine car field. And to the many fresh charms of these new cars have been added elements of performance which bring a new magic to motoring. The new Pierce-Arrow transmission, for example:

This recent Pierce-Arrow feature makes possible a speed of 60 miles an hour in intermediate—and without the usual hum or vibration common to that gear. And the gear-shift is unclashable at any speed.

All of which is relatively unimportant beside the fact that these new cars are Pierce-Arrow at its finest—and are priced, considering this fineness, amazingly low.

NEW INSURGENCY BOUNCES CHIEF COAL INSURGENTS

Rank and File Diggers Rule Convention.

BY THOMAS WREN.

Plans of the Illinois coal miners' rump convention at Springfield to reorganize the United Mine Workers of America ran into new obstructions yesterday when discord broke out anew among the 430 insurgent coal digger delegates.

Leaders of the insurgent movement defended themselves against the attacks of their rank and file dissenters. Business of the convention was suspended for nearly two hours when the miners demanded the removal of Walter Nesbit of Belleville as temporary secretary of the convention. Nesbit is the secretary of the Illinois Miners' union and was the only state officer of the union left on the rostrum at the commencement of the second day's meeting.

On Monday the insurgent coal diggers demanded removal of President Fishwick of the Illinois Miners' union as chairman and then refused to seat Frank Farrington as a delegate. With John H. Walker, head of the Illinois Federation of Labor, these two dethroned leaders had promoted the rump convention.

Hot Words Stir Delegates.

During one of the arguments Delegate Jack Toschi of Ringo, Kas., warned the Illinois delegates they were playing into the hands of President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, who is presiding over the regular convention in Indianapolis. He suggested the calling of another meeting of rank and filers after adjournment of the reorganization convention.

"Send Nesbit and Walker back to the coal fields," shouted Delegate Frank Ysunkers of Springfield. "All of them are crooks and playing politics."

Walker jumped to his feet and yelled:

"Prove I'm a crook and I'll leave the convention."

Ysunkers arose to make a speech, but was ruled out of order.

Between the periods of controversy the Springfield meeting considered the adoption of a new constitution. One provision provided for establishment of a five day work week and a work day of six hours.

With Fishwick and Farrington and Walker placed on the sidelines Alex Howat of Kansas last night loomed as the strong man of the Springfield meeting.

Lewis Attacks Insurgents.

At the regular convention of the United Mine Workers of America in Indianapolis, President Lewis, international president, assailed the men responsible for the Springfield meeting and predicted absolute failure, as he declared it represented only selfish and perverted interests.

Lewis said that Frank Farrington, while head of the Illinois Miners' union, sold out for $70,000 as a labor adviser to a coal corporation. He demanded that the American Federation of Labor take immediate action to discipline John H. Walker, who he charged is one of the labor officials responsible for the Springfield gathering of delegates from Illinois units of miners and a scattering of coal diggers from Indiana, Iowa, Alabama, Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and Kansas.

Lewis traced the Illinois insurgency back to the exposure of alleged graft among the officers of the Illinois Miners' union. He charged that the Illinois officers purchased their election and declared the average vote cost them $1.75.

BYRD SAYS SOUTH POLE EXPEDITION IS NEAR BANKRUPTCY

DUNEDIN, March 11.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd said here today that his expedition, which returned Monday from its conquest of the south pole, was on the verge of bankruptcy. He hoped, however, that it would "pull through all right."

Scared by battering ice floes, his ships, the Eleanor Bolling and the City of New York, equipped at a cost estimated at $750,000, are being refitted at Dunedin's docks. Within ten days, it is planned, they will carry Byrd and his 41 men homeward through the Panama Canal to New York.

The ships will bear small cargoes. Behind them in the antarctic they left the airplanes used by Byrd and his men to map 280,000 square miles of previously unknown land. Even the plane which carried Byrd and three others on their flight over the south pole was left at Little America, the base camp. But these planes are not to be sacrificed. They will be brought back by Norwegian whaling ships.

DEFEND BOOKMAN ARRESTED FOR SELLING CLASSIC

Two professors and a New York publisher rallied to the support of Petronius' "Satyricon" yesterday when a book seller, Gerald Nedwick, 346 North Clark street, was arraigned before Judge Freeman L. Fairbank on a charge of selling obscene literature. The complaint against Nedwick was signed by Policeman John J. Kratsmeyer, who on Feb. 11 purchased a copy of the Burnaby translation of the famous work. Judge Fairbank continued the case to Friday.

The arrest of Nedwick was termed an injustice in three letters read in court by Attorney George Crane. The letters were from Prof. Baker Brownell of Northwestern university, Prof. T. V. Smith, editor of the International Journal of Philosophy and head of the department of philosophy at the University of Chicago, and T. R. Smith, representing Horace Liveright, New York publisher.

All three letters expressed regret that authorities would interfere with the sale or distribution of the Burnaby translation.

On the advice of Dr. Clark, Bishop Griswold has temporarily relinquished the ecclesiastical authority of the diocese to the standing committee of which the Rev. J. H. Edwards, Highland Park, is president. The standing committee will act for Bishop Griswold during his illness.

PIONEERS BRAVE GLADES HORRORS TO WIN A LIVING

Floods Constant Menace to Hardy Farmers.

[A few days after reporting the Miami prize fights, Mr. Pegler went over to Palm Beach and then through the near-by Everglades to observe the pioneering, courageous, and often tragic lives of the people in that isolated region so near the nation's winter society center. This is the last of three dispatches covering Mr. Pegler's impressions.]

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PALM BEACH, Fla.—[Special.]—Not to minimize the marvels that have been wrought in Miami and on Miami Beach, where a region of scrubby tropical weed growth and mangrove swamp has been transformed into a miniature Chicago of beautiful homes, tall buildings and slums with a disproportionate content of vice, crime and brazen political thievery, one feels, nevertheless, a more friendly appreciation of the courage and tenacity of the farmers who have plunged into the Everglades, braving a region whose popular reputation was one of horrors.

The physical works performed in the creation of Miami and the pleasure island across the causeway are the more impressive when regarded in the light of historical reference. A few days ago I saw in one of the Miami papers a photograph of a clapboard schoolhouse with perhaps a dozen children standing stiffly for their picture across the front of the little building and, looking up from the page to scan a horizon of steamship masts and stacks, against a background of office buildings and high hotel structures, all picked out in electric lights at night, a gay miniature of the New York skyline, it was not easy to believe that this schoolhouse, the first ever built in Miami, was opened as recently as 1896. Some of the alumni of that charter class in Miami's first public school still are present in the town, and I heard of one of the original beach combers in that far away settlement of the nineties, who made six million dollars in the boom and lost it all in one ill timed greedy fling at land promotion just as the boom collapsed in 1925.

He is not an old man yet, but he has seen a city rise with the astounding magic of an East Indian conjurer's tree, with carlines, water works, sanitary arrangements and administrative departments, all done according to scale.

Entice Northern Capital.

It is true that in their enthusiasm to entice the spending public of the north, the resident business men and politicians lent themselves much too liberally to the purposes of the gamblers, racketeers and other predatory types from the big cities of the north, whose operations anywhere infallibly denote a larcenous sanction from the public officers of the town concerned.

In Miami and Dade county, which was named for an army major whose massacre with his command precipitated the Seminole war of 1845, these people were made welcome on the proven theory that the spenders would not come there unless they could find facilities for illegal amusements and refreshments. There is no blinking the fact that prohibitionists and others of the sanctimonious, right thinking class are likewise reluctant spenders. For specific contrasts, compare Chautauqua, N. Y., with Saratoga, or St. Petersburg, Fla., with Miami.

But, in the lack of a local Charlie Murphy or Tom Foley to pass and enforce arbitrary judgments as to just who should be permitted to operate and to what extent, the boys from up north muscle into Miami and suburbs in much too numerous force. John Broderick, the young lieutenant of detectives who travels Broadway year in and out, recently said, as he watched the crowds passing the McCallister hotel in Miami, that every thief, wire tapper and cold deck gambler who had been chased out of New York in the last five years could be picked up in Miami now.

Is Too Hospitable.

Obviously, then, Miami has been too hospitable and I suppose that in the natural course of events there will be a sudden reform in the fury of which a lot of local officials will be tried for grafting and sent to prison. They have no balance nor sense of proportion and the present over development of the extra legal pleasure program, like the real estate boom, will be followed by an abrupt retributive deflation.

I realize a world of strictly productive activity would be very forbidding and would not vote for such a rearrangement, but nevertheless there is a virtue about the productive enterprise of the Everglades farmers which, considering the denials and risks of their life, seems to reprove the luxury and rapacity of the shore.

These Everglades pioneers make so little, do so much. The radio is their night club, shine whisky their champagne, no hard boiled shirt front ever flung back the blue radiance of the jungle moon in the Everglades at night, the soughing and splashing of the steam dredge is the gondolier's song on their irrigation canals, and life is so stripped of frippery that even the hyacinth growing in the ditches is a nuisance, clogging the flow to the beans, potatoes, and cabbage.

Means and a Threat.

Lake Okeechobee is at once their means of existence and a threat of dreadful extermination in the bogs on some stormy night. The lake is sixty miles long, but very shallow, and on the eastern and southern shores, where I went asking questions, it has a depth of only three or four feet a mile from shore. The farm lands were subject to regular seasonal floods until the six great drainage arteries were grooved across the state to the sea, but even these outlets are useless as protection when the hurricanes blow—the water out of the lake bed over the present inadequate dykes, as happened on that Sunday night in September, 1928, when 3,000 people died.

The dyke is about forty miles long, but not high enough to stop the crests of these flows, and the farmers place their trust in their flivvers and the hard surfaced roads as means of escape from the district when the hurricane warnings come. There was a mild exodus to Palm Beach one day last fall and families went pelting along the canal bank to refuge in the concrete buildings in town with mattresses and stoves piled high about them. The plantation companies phoned to town for freight vans to carry out their Negro field hands and thousands of them were evacuated in a few hours.

Voted for Hoover.

"I'll tell you why we voted for Hoover down here," said one of the Belle-Glade men. "We thought he would get congress to help us build a dyke that wouldn't wash out and couldn't be topped. But I don't know. Congress never did anything for us and the next blow that comes from the same direction with the same force ought to do the same thing that happened in '28. It's a chance you have to take back here."

Among those who are taking this chance are Mrs. Gus Roberts, who sat on the attic rafters with her baby in her arms when her house went adrift in '28. Old Man Chichester, who floated on a log and slapped off moccasins which tried to share his float, is another.

And, as the classic figure of the pioneer who will not quit to disaster, I give you old Pat Burke, once the head of a clan of eighteen Burkes, his children and their children, who is back on his land alone today because the only other Burke to live through the flood was a little girl too young to batch it in the Glades with him.

CHICAGO'S REAL ESTATE OPPORTUNITIES ARE FOUND TODAY

CHICAGO'S GREATEST REAL ESTATE MARKET

One hundred years ago there was no Chicago. A trading post on Lake Michigan was the germ of the coming city. The post grew. Its expansion gathered momentum. Hundreds, then thousands flocked to the new city, where foresighted men saw vast money-making opportunities in Chicago property.

Today, opportunity still offers. Chicago's momentum continues to draw 50,000 new inhabitants per year, to attract new ventures, to raise bolder monuments to the city's industry. Real estate, offered daily in Tribune Want Ads, steadily becomes a more desirable field of investment. See some of the opportunities today in the Tribune Want Ad section. Here you will find the most attractive values.

Lace

Lace

Is responsible for many of the most romantic gowns of the season. Sheer, almost sparkling, with a texture that is like no other texture, it is a lovely expression for the modern silhouette. Long skirts, straight to the ground, are just subtly clinging, and very chic, in lace.

Our staff was enthusiastic at the showings and chose these gowns Chez Ardanse and Chez Claire Soeurs in Paris. And then ordered French lace for their reproductions.

Claire Soeurs Lace Frock

(a) Interest centers to the back of this frock, which is reproduced here in the original French lace in green or beige. Sizes for women. $150.

Caprice D'Ardanse

Ardanse "Minuit"

(c) Low decolletage is effected in the way net is used in this frock for women. Little sleeves of net support a long flowing train from either arm. Black and blue lace. In sheer French lace. $175.

SHIRES' PLEA IS UNSATISFACTORY—COMISKEY

CUBS TO BATTLE LOS ANGELES AT CATALINA TODAY

Hack Caught Loafing by McCarthy.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 11.—Joe McCarthy two timed his champion Cubs again today under a sun so hot that more than a few of the natives took to the beach for a cooling.

The immediate purpose of this extensive endeavor was to polish up a bit in preparation for a battle with the Los Angeles team here tomorrow, an event that locally is of such importance that all the merchants are going to lock their doors during the period of the engagement. No admission will be charged, which probably accounts for the anxiety to attend.

McCarthy plans to repel the Angels by using rookie hurlers who were a bust against the same team last Saturday and Sunday, so there is some reason to suspect the affair may test the sanity of the scorers.

Hack's Dogs Bark.

During the morning portion of this days' drill it developed that Hansie Frankie Wilson, as his mates call him, is about down with an attack of sore feet. His soles are so sore that Hansie moves about only with great difficulty. He has bought up all the various brands of foot powders offered by the local drug store, but without relief. He is planning to play center field tomorrow on his hands, using his feet for catching fly balls.

Because of his disability Hack laid out a modest program for himself this morning but it did not work. He donned a heavy rubber shirt and took up a position along the foul line. He figured that between the scorching sun and the rubber shirt he could sweat without exerting himself or annoying the blistered soles.

There was only one thing wrong with Hack's idea. He couldn't sell it to Boss McCarthy. The manager got one glimpse of his idle star and asked him to go out to center field. Then Joe grabbed a fungo stick and hit flies that were always well away from where Hack was standing. Hack knew he was being put on the "spot" so stuck gamely for fifteen minutes and then asked for recess. His uniform was so wet it had to be put through the wringer.

Beck's Arm on the Bum.

Another ailment reported during the day was Clyde Beck's sore arm. It was sufficiently bothersome to prevent the silent infielder from throwing. He was billed to play short in place of English tomorrow, but probably will be forced to remain idle. With Beck out of it, English is going to attempt to get his charley horse in shape so that he can be a participant. In the event that he can't operate, the berth will be given to Blair, the oly other infielder available.

The three youngsters billed to fling the ball past, or against the Angels' bats, are McAfee, Teachout and Grampp, the famous batting practice artists. When McAfee learned today that he was going to receive his baptism of fire in a game stiffer than college competition he let it be known that his arm was sore. This probably will not cause McCarthy to alter his plans.

Face Experienced Hurlers.

Jack Lelivelt, the skipper of the Angels, has promised to let his pitching be handled by Barfoot, Ballou and Delaney. All these are ex-major leaguers, so should be able to throw in a way that will be of some benefit to the batting eyes of McCarthy's clouters.

So far McCarthy has permitted his five veteran pitchers to confine themselves to a bit of batting practice hurling each day, but they are going to be called upon for something in the near future. Several of them if not all are due to give their wings the initial 1930 test in the affairs at Los Angeles next Saturday and Sunday. The only one of the five who may be excused is Hal Carlson, who still is limping slightly as the result of twisting his knee more than a week ago.

FIRST BASEMAN DODGES ISSUE, SOX BOSS SAYS

Will Be Given One More Chance.

BY FRENCH LANE.

"Not the Great Shires, but the Peculiar Shires."

That's the way Charles A. Comiskey, aged master of the White Sox, described his wayward first baseman last night, after the day's mail had brought to him an unsigned contract from Shires, also a letter in which Charles Arthur attempted in what Commy termed "a feeble way" to say he will be a good boy on and off the ball field during the impending American league pennant chase.

The old Roman, cheerful despite his broken health, talked about Shires and the White Sox at the home of his son, Louis Comiskey, at 6815 Pontiac avenue.

"The unsigned contract didn't come as much of a surprise," Commy said. "But his letter—an answer to a letter which I had written him more than a month ago—was sort of a shock to me. Shires dodged all the important questions I had asked him. If he really wants to be reinstated he made a very weak plea.

Offers Shires Another Chance.

"As far as the White Sox are concerned we are going to forget about Shires' unsigned contract," Commy continued. "It is a question now of his being reinstated. I am going to give him one more chance to make certain pledges regarding his future conduct as a member of the White Sox.

"If he dodges the issue this time," and Commy wouldn't say what the issue might be—"The White Sox will get along some way or another without him. But if he showa me he is in earnest about wanting to get back into baseball and I decide to recommend his reinstatement, then we will offer him another contract."

The contract tendered Shires and which "The Peculiar One," as Comiskey called Shires, termed a minor league salary, called for one year's services at $7,000, the old Roman said.

"And I'm not sure he's worth that much," said Commy. "As a major league ball player Shires didn't show he was anything out of the ordinary last year. He will have to be a little better than the ordinary player now to overcome his peculiarities. And you must remember the White Sox are trying to employ ball players and are not in the market for any wild men from Borneo. Seven thousand dollars is a thousand dollars more than Shires' contract called for last year.

"Put other employers in my place. Could you convince anybody that Shires' record and conduct with the White Sox last season warranted an increase in salary?"

Ready to Boost Terms?

Yet Commy indicated last night that if Shires succeeds in convincing him that he should be put back into good standing in baseball they will come to an agreement on salary.

"Will you go higher than $7,000?" the old Roman was asked.

"I might," was his reply.

Except for a few games during the early part of the season Commy does not believe Shires will be an extraordinary gate attraction unless he plays better baseball than he did last year.

"If the Sox perform as they have started out against the Giants, they won't need any side show attractions to pull the fans through the turnstiles," Commy mused.

The owner of the White Sox has been under the care of a physician since he returned from a month's stay in Florida early in the winter. But he was able to be up and around last night when he talked for the first time about his controversy with his belligerent first baseman.

N. Y. COURT HALTS A. A. U. BAN ON POLISH RUNNER

Action Is Unparalleled in Track History.

New York, March 11.—(AP)—An injunction restraining the Amateur Athletic union from interfering with the right of Stanislaw Petkiewicz, Polish middle distance star, to race in the Columbian mile at the Knights of Columbus track meet in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night was issued today by State Supreme Court Justice Alfred H. Townley

First Action of Kind.

Announcement of this action, the first of its kind in modern track history, was made by President Thomas J. Gray of the New York chapter of the Knights of Columbus.

Petkiewicz was barred from further competition in the United States by the A. A. U. yesterday at the request of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, governing body of international athletics. The I. A. A. F. has been investigating the status of Petkiewicz, who competed for Latvia in the 1928 Olympic games but later became a resident of Poland.

Barred in Latvia.

Latvian authorities barred the runner permanently from competition in that country and asked the International body to make the ban universal. A. A. U. officials, seeking to learn whether Petkiewicz was eligible to compete in the United States pending settlement of his case abroad, received word to the contrary from the I. A. A. F.

Boston, Mass., March 11.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins halted a terrific third period drive tonight to defeat the Chicago Blackhawks, their only troublesome National league hockey foe. The final score was 4 to 3. The victory was the Stanley cup champion's eleventh straight and the 17th conflict without a setback. The win also gave the Bruins a 3 to 2 edge over Chicago in the current season's series.

Beginning the third period Boston led, 3 to 1. After less than three minutes Artie Somers caged a brilliant goal and later Earl Miller netted a long pass from Tommy Cook for another. The Hawks had ten minutes to square the game. They put on a vicious four-man attack, but the Bruins, aided greatly by George Owen's timely stick checking about the net held them off.

C. A. A. U. to Hold Annual Track Meet at Oak Park

DE VOS FAVORED TO BEAT CHASTAIN IN FRIDAY'S BOUT

Clyde Chastain, who whipped Harry Ebbets in his last Chicago appearance, plans to show patrons at the Stadium Friday night that he is a middleweight championship possibility. The hard socking Texan, who meets Rene De Vos, moved into the 160 pound ranks only a few months ago, already has won from several of the leading battlers in that division.

Betting odds for Friday's fight favor De Vos, principally because of his greater experience. Should Chastain win the decision he probably will be sought as an opponent for Mickey Walker, the middleweight titleholder.

The Chastain-DeVos bout tops a card of four ten rounders.

Jack Dempsey's Chicago representatives expect Fidel La Barba, who will meet Earl Mastro at the Coliseum March 21, to arrive today. Mastro boxes Spug Russell in Peoria tomorrow night. He will return the next day to resume training for La Barba.

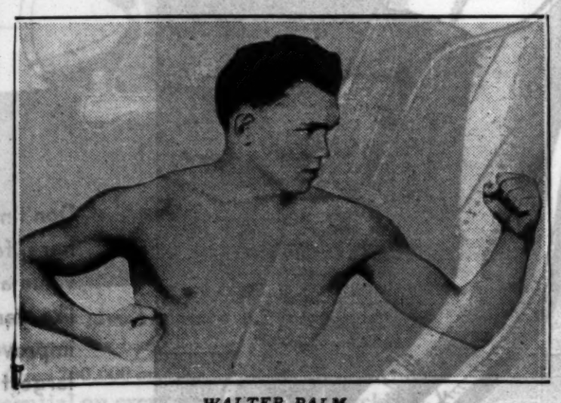
Can an Esthonian Beat a Swede? March 19 Will Tell

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The ingredients of the melting pot that will bubble in the inter-city Golden Gloves tournament at the Chicago Stadium one week from tonight are boys who trace their ancestry to every country in Europe, including the Scandinavian—in fact, two Scandinavians. Those two are Karl Ogren, welterweight champion of the Chicago team, and Walter Palm, who won the 147 pound title in the New York tournament. They'll meet in what is undoubtedly the best natural of the tournament.

If it were not that the two tournaments [those of THE TRIBUNE and the New York Daily News] were conducted a thousand miles apart, the stories of Karl and Walter would seem to jibe too well. Ogren's history has been told—the tale of a 16 year old Swede who came to America from Stockholm eight months ago, overcame the difficulty of a strange language, and after participating in several amateur fights went on to win the Chicago Golden Gloves.



WALTER PALM.

Esthonians a Hardy Lot.

Walter's story is almost a perfect parallel of Karl's. He's three years older than the Chicago champion, and hails from Tallim, in Esthonia, which is just across the way from Karl's native Sweden. Last June it was Karl who stared at the New York skyline from a westbound boat; five months later it was Walter. Neither realized that one night they would face each other from opposite corners of a ring in the world's largest indoor stadium.

It is written that the Esthonians of yore were a hardy lot, who took no back talk from their more important neighbors and not infrequently went in for a bit of pirating on their own in the Baltic seas. Some of that aggressive spirit must have been handed down to the present younger generation, for the youth of Esthonia took to boxing with a will.

It so happened that Walter was attending a military school where boxing was being introduced, and he soon displayed a punch and speed that attracted the attention of his elders. When he had completed his military course, he attended a health institute, where he studied for a year and was awarded a masseur's certificate.

Fought in Olympics.

Walter continued his boxing and when the 1928 Olympics came along, he was chosen as the welterweight representative of the Esthonian team. He advanced to the second round before being eliminated. Two weeks before leaving for America he donned the gloves for Old Esthonia again and defeated his opponent in an international match with Finland.

When he landed in New York last November he must have brought his inclination to fight with him, for he not only secured work in his chosen profession as masseur, but he also applied for and obtained a card in the Metropolitan association of the A. A. U. It wasn't long before he was fighting in New York tournaments, where he displayed a sharp right hand and a cool head. Winning the New York Golden Gloves was the high point of his career in America, and he's anxious to meet Ogren, of whom a Chicago friend has written. He was amazed by the fact that the two tournaments should bring together two natural rivals.

Shy and Popular.

Palm is shy, particularly on the subject of his boxing, but is one of the most popular members of the New York team. His residence in America is temporary, pending the acquisition of a quota number that will permit him to become a permanent resident. He speaks German and French and a bit of English.

Thus it is that fate has brought together two immigrant boys, born and raised in the same corner of the world, both with a common purpose. It will be Sweden or Esthonia after Karl Ogren and Walter Palm have left the ring at the Stadium next Wednesday night, but the better Scandinavian will have won.

STEEVE INJURES HAND TRAINING FOR N. Y. FIGHTS

May Be Lost to Golden Glove Squad.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The Chicago Golden Gloves boxing team which will meet New York in an inter-city series of amateur bouts at Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night, was given a jolt yesterday when Ed Steeve of Champaign, Ill., injured his right hand while boxing with Grant Fortney, heavyweight champion.

The injury occurred when Steeve turned loose a right overhand swing which landed on Fortney's head. Examination showed no bones were broken but the injury will prevent Steeve from boxing the rest of the week.

Steeve's hand first was hurt in tournament trials. He also complained of having injured his left hand after he had won the 160 pound title by defeating John Baima of the Lawndale gymnasium in the finals. In event the injury keeps Steeve out of the New York bouts, Baima will be moved to the first division and Fred Casserio of the Seneca A. C. will fight in the second division.

How Accident Occurred.

Fortney and Steeve were trading punch for punch when Ed turned loose the blow which landed on Grant's head. Ed, who is lighter than Fortney, forced the milling at close quarters and long range. Although Fortney had the better of the infighting, Steeve kept throwing punches at long range. During the stand-off style of boxing the Champaign boxer had a little edge and during the excitement of one of the rallies he let go with the punch which may keep him out of the tournament.

Other members of the Chicago team went through strenuous training at the Chicago Athletic association under the direction of Coaches Bennie Yanger, Jabber Young and S. H. Darwent. Seven of the boys went on the road in the morning while the others, who are not stopping at the club, did their road work either at their home towns or other sections of the city.

Fortney Was Busy Fighter.

Among the busiest fighters were Sammy Levine, alternate in the 112 pound class, and Fortney. Sammy boxed one round with Fortney, one with Jack Kranz, alternate in the light heavyweight division and one with Buck Everett, 175 pound champion. Aside from boxing with Levine, Fortney pulled on the mitts with Earl Watson, runnerup in the 135 pound class, for two rounds. He also boxed two rounds with Buck Everett.

Sidney Kaplan of the Opal A. A., second place winner in the 118 pound class, boxed two rounds with Carl Ogren of the Belle Plaine A. C., welterweight champion. John Baima of the Lawndale gymnasium worked one round with Ogren and two with Bennie Goldblatt, featherweight champion, who finished boxing by stepping a fast round with Kaplan. The day's boxing was brought to a close by two fast rounds between Fortney and Kranz.

Coaches and trainers of the Chicago team are enthused not only over the condition of the fighters but also their spirit. Each boxer is bent on winning his bout.

Roman Training at Joliet.

Alternates have been chosen in every class. Adam Smith of Rockford, Ill., will arrive on Sunday to be the alternate in the heavyweight division. Sammy Levine of Chicago is ready to take the place of Johnny Emmerick, second place winner in the 112 pound class. William Edwards of Fort Wayne, Ind., will arrive the latter part of the week to take the place of either Paul Leberto or Sidney Kaplan in the 118 pound division.

Paul Leberto, 118 pound champion, is training at the Barry gymnasium, while Chauncey Crain, the 135 pound titleholder, is working at the Lawndale gymnasium. Ralph Carnegie, runnerup in the 147 pound class, will be here on Saturday. Ralph is attending school in Benton Harbor, Mich., where he is in training. Joseph Roman of the Joliet Steel Works club is training under Director Gleason. All are reported in good shape.

Sox Rally Ties Giants; Play 11 Innings to 5-5 Deadlock

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 11.—John Joseph McGraw, a very proud fellow, walked out on the ball game at the end of the fifth inning this afternoon when his New York Giants were leading Donie Bush's White Sox, 5 to 0. Imagine his embarrassment when he learned later at his hotel that the best his athletes had acquired for the afternoon was a 5 to 5 draw in eleven innings.

Three games have been played in the 25 contest Chicago-New York series and the men from the Bronx have still to sip the nectar of victory.

Sox Win Moral Victory.

A draw being an unsatisfactory culmination for a baseball game, we hereby give the newspaper or moral decision to the White Sox. Not because of their clumsiness in the fourth inning, goodness knows, but because they rallied after two men were out in the ninth, making two runs to tie the score and effect the deadlock which prevailed until the umpires said it was too dark to play any more.

The last of the ninth being the high point in the game from the Chicago point of view, guess we'd better tell about that first.

The Giants were leading, 5 to 3. Smith batted for Caraway and fanned in a most unimpressive manner. Jeffries bounced to Jackson and the customers started to leave the grounds. After a count of 3 and 2, Hunnefield walked. Reynolds then tripled, scoring Hunnefield ahead of him.

Some folks thought Bush would yank Watwood, seeing as the left handed Mr. Hubbell was pitching, but he didn't, and Johnny rewarded the confidence by singling to right, scoring Reynolds with the tying run. There were no serious scoring threats by the Giants the remainder of the way. The Sox had a chance in the eleventh when they had men on first and second with one out. But they fizzled.

McKain Has Rough Going.

Hal McKain, the Sox pitcher for five innings, found the going stormy and what he lacked in behalf of the Giants his mates supplied through the medium of four errors in the fourth inning.

The Giants got their first run in the third inning. Hogan singled to right center and stopped at second when Judd singled to left. The bases were full when Fullis singled to right. Hogan was out at the plate on Farrell's tap to McKain. Leach's sacrifice fly to Reynolds scored Judd; then Crawford lined to Hunnefield.

The New Yorkers wound up their day's scoring with four runs in the fourth. Ott started it with a single to right, then Jackson fouled to Harris. An error by Jeffries, hits by Hogan and Judd, an error by Reynolds, and an infield out, a hit by Farrell, and an error by Hunnefield completed the messy scene which gave the Giants a 5 to 0 lead and caused the bored Mr. McGraw to leave for the comforts of his cozy apartment in the St. Anthony hotel.

Sox Open Up in Sixth.

The Sox first got into the offensive phase of the game in the sixth inning, the first pitched by No Hit Hubbell. Watwood led off with a single to center, paused while Harris and Cissell flied to Fullis, and moved to second when Clancy was hit by a pitched ball. Berg singled to center, scoring Watwood, Clancy going to second on the hit and ran on home when the ball got away from Fullis; Berg got to second on the error. Autrey batted for McKain and singled to center, scoring Berg. Jeffries ended it by forcing Autrey at second.

Jim Moore, outfielder, who knocked two homers in Sunday's game with the Giants, was hit by a pitched ball in the first inning and suffered a fractured left hand, an X-ray examination revealed tonight. He will be out two weeks, a circumstance which caused Manager Bush to wire a demand to Smead Jolley to report forthwith.

CARNERA K. O.'S MONTGOMERY FOR HIS NINTH VICTIM

Minneapolis, Minn., March 11.—(AP)—Primo Carnera scored his ninth knockout since invading the United States tonight. He put away Sully Montgomery, Texas heavyweight, after one minute and 15 seconds of fighting in the second round.

Montgomery briefly sought to take the offensive in the first round, but his opponent sent in a hail of rights and lefts. He was staggered just before the bell by a smashing blow. In the second round the Italian smothered Montgomery with punches and the former Centre college football player was decidedly on the defensive. Then Montgomery sought to clinch, but the Italian pushed him away. Carnera smashed over a series of rights to the jaw, and the latter fell almost out of the ring. He began rolling through the ropes, and then his inert form slid back as the referee finished the count and raised the Italian's hand. Several thousand Italian-Americans were in the crowd of more than 14,000 who saw the fight.

ROGER WETHERED TO LEAD BRITISH WALKER CUP TEAM

Tolley's Long Visit in U.S. Costs Him Captaincy.

LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—Cyril Tolley's long visit in the United States has cost him the captaincy of Great Britain's Walker cup golf team.

The Royal and Ancient club today announced seven of the ten men who will oppose Bobby Jones' American team on the sands at Sandwich May 15 and 16, and their leadership is in the hands of Roger Wethered, brother of the famous Joyce and himself British amateur champion in 1923.

Will Draw Three Others.

Named with him were Rex Hartley, Sir E. W. E. Holderness, J. N. Smitie, J. A. Stout, Tolley and T. A. Torrence. Three more names soon will be drawn from the Royal and Ancient hat to complete the list of ten from whom Wethered's fighting line of eight and two will finally be selected for the Walker cup battle.

Like the king, the Royal and Ancient can do no wrong in the realm of golf, but comment on today's selection mainly centers on why Wethered has been named captain instead of Tolley, who is Great Britain's amateur champion and is considered by many as one of the few figures of British amateur golf who tread the fairways in the grand manner of real champions and who possess golfing personality second to none in these links strewn isles.

Labor Golfer Omitted.

Criticism already has been leveled at the British selection committee for leaving William Sutton, laborer-golfer and native English champion, out of the first sixteen players first announced several weeks ago and from which today's seven were chosen.

The explanation in Tolley's case appears to be his presence in the United States coupled with the fact that he already has had his chance of captaining the British Walker cup team.

Wethered never has led the Britons against the United States, but has competed in most of the international battles. Of the seven named today, five are Englishmen and two are Scotsmen. The remaining three members of the team will be chosen from among T. A. Bourn, William Campbell, Robert Harris, C. O. Hezlet, J. A. Land, S. L. MacKinlay, and R. H. Oppenheimer. The chances are that the Scotsmen, Land and MacKinlay, will get two of the berths.

MORGAN PK. FIVE BEATS LANE, 25-23; PLAYS FOR TITLE

Morgan Park heavyweights, overlooked in the predictions of City league title dopesters, sprang the surprise that every south section team seems to reserve for its older opponents, by defeating Lane Tech, 25 to 23, at De La Salle yesterday. The two teams had been tied in the semifinals with two won and one lost, and the victory gave Morgan Park the right to meet Wendell Phillips for the City league championship.

FIVE CHAMPIONS TO BE IN BIG 10 SWIMMING MEET

Wolverine, N. U. Teams Hold Edge.

Swimming stars of the Big Ten will splash strokes at Northwestern university Friday and Saturday in the annual Western conference championships. New records in nearly every event are likely to be hung up since five of last year's champions are back again. These five hold the Big Ten record in their respective events.

The battle for first place will rest between Michigan and Northwestern. These two teams possess too much all around strength for the other competitors.

The Wolverines upset Northwestern, 41 to 25, in a recent dual meet and hope to repeat the accomplishment in the title contest. The Purple has an edge on first place winners but the Wolverines will count heavily in the other positions, a factor which won them the championship last year.

Last year's champions who will be back to defend their titles are: Walker, Michigan, 40 yard dash; Schwartz, Northwestern, 100 and 220 yard swims; Ault, Michigan, 440 yard swim; Kasch, Northwestern, 150 yard back stroke, and Peterson, Northwestern, 200 yard breast stroke.

Michigan's bid for another title will center around such stars as Walker, Ault and Smith, in the crawl events; Goldsmith, in the breast stroke; Valentine in the back stroke, and Walaitis in the diving.

GEORGIA, TEXAS WILL SEND FIVES TO STAGG MEET

Two more state champions have entered the twelfth annual national basketball interscholastic of the University of Chicago, Manager H. O. Crisler announced yesterday. Braselton, Georgia champions, and Denton High, Texas title holders, are the latest additions to the list.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

AT HIALEAH.

MIAMI BEACH, March 9.—Friend Don: Well, Don, I thought you'd want me to visit Hialeah race track before I came back, so I did, and I'll write you about it, because that is less expensive than telegraphing, and the department may be short of money after it gets my expense account.

In the first place, I didn't intend to make a bet because I did not know the horses racing here very well, but I got three "good things," so I bet on them, and all I can say is that I was sadly misinformed as to the speed of those three nags.

Well, the play is not as heavy as last year. First, the big shooters haven't as much money, and, secondly, the common or garden variety of fan doesn't like to put his money in an envelope and give it to some chap he never has seen before. I didn't have to worry, because none of my bets cashed. Anyway, there's nothing to worry about, because the bookies are right there to pay off if you happen to win.

Met a bookie friend who had gone in with three other fellows and put on a book. They were $47,000 winner on the meeting when I saw him and $47,020 after I had bet with him, plus whatever else they took in that day. His book was in the clubhouse section, where he said they paid $30 a race or $180 a day for the privilege. Over in the grandstand side, where the admission is $2.50 instead of $5.50, the fee is $25 per race, or $150 per day, and they told me about forty bookmakers a day cut in.

So if the track is not making money it certainly is not losing any, and with the gate admissions probably will quit winner. But Florida needs mutuels before there can be a good profit and proper beautification of the track. The syndicate which owns the track now is a "gentlemen sportsmen" proposition like our Arlington Park, and will put profits, if any, back into the plant. But it's easier to improve the breed of thoroughbreds with mutuels than on the nod, or the system here.

Of course you remember this system. The bookie displays his odds on a card. From his assistant you get an envelope, write down the name of your horse, what position you expect him to finish, the amount of your bet, how much you will have coming if you win, and your initials, then put your money in the envelope and leave it. Sometimes you go back to cash in.

Then, again, some of the big players establish credit or bet "markers," which are like I. O. U.'s, and when I mentioned "markers" to my bookie friend he made a wry face and said that was why the odds weren't better because it seems some gentlemen always forget to settle their "markers," and that is one of the bookmaking griefs at Saratoga and Belmont Park. My friend says his book handles about $45,000 a day, although some of the bigger books handle $75,000 with "markers," so some one has money yet. He seemed real pleased they had only $3,000 worth of doubtful markers.

There have been rumors some kind of certificate betting like pari-mutuels might be tried next year, but Frank Bruen, who is manager, said there wouldn't be anything different until the legislature met and passed a mutuel law, and that will be too late for next year.

Saw a lot of people you know at the track, Gov. Emmerson, who was there with Charlie McCulloch and Warren Wright, Charlie Bidwell, John Hertz, Teller Archibald, Jay Wyatt, Sol Kesner, and a whole lot more. The press boys all wanted to be remembered to you. Regards to the gang.

Iris, Hyacinth Tell Florida Spring's Back

BY BOB BECKER.

Peace River, Fla., March 11.—Although that fickle young lady known as Miss Spring, who brings robins and bluebirds to Chicagoland during the month of March, is disguised when she makes her way through Florida, there isn't any doubt but what the lady actually visits this state. And she makes her first appearance in March. Today on our farewell trip up this interesting river (farewell because we are about to hit the trail for home) we had a chance to see what Lady Spring does to this land of almost no winter and make comparisons of the landscape before and after her arrival.

Signs of Spring.

Three weeks ago when we traveled up the Peace river on a fishing expedition the sombre, gray, leafless cypress trees along the banks showed no sign of green.

Today the branches of these same trees are taking on a delicate green tint because the new leaves are coming out. Another indication of the new season is found in the wild flowers. Just as our northern spring brings out the blossoms on plants and shrubs so March, the beginning of the new season down here, introduces some gayly colored flowers to the landscape.

Today we passed bed after bed of water hyacinths in the river. These floating plants carry their own life preservers in the shape of round bulb like growths at the base of their stalks. Right now many of the plants are sporting lovely purple blossoms, which represent another sign of spring.

Iris in Bloom.

But the most beautiful flower seen along the river today was the blue iris or blue flag. And this lovely flower is another sign of spring down here.

The birds also told us about the new season, just as our robins and bluebirds broadcast their glad songs about spring in the north. However here along the Peace river the absence of certain birds rather than their presence is an indication of the turn of the seasons, because migrants leave for the north when winter is nearly through.

Today the bluebill ducks were quite scarce, whereas a few weeks ago they were here by the thousands. And we didn't see a robin all day, although early in February the redbreasts were traveling around in flocks numbering 50 to 100 birds.

Limited Bowlers' Tourney Opens Here on March 22

More than 300 teams and individuals are expected to take part in the first annual medium tournament at Mussey's March 22 and 23, an affair limited to bowlers averaging 160 or less in league competition.

FAVORITES LOSE QUARTER FINAL FOUR BALL MATCH

Horton Smith, Ed Dudley Bow at Miami, 1 Up.

Miami, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Horton Smith, sensational golfing youngster, took a 36 hole beating today as he and his partner, Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., were eliminated, 1 up, in quarter finals of the $5,000 international four ball matches. Smith and Dudley were favorites.

Neil McIntyre of Indianapolis sank a 12 foot putt for a birdie 4 on the 36th hole of Miami Country club course to advance himself and Harry Hampton of Chicago to the semi-finals.

Manero, Shute Triumph.

Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., and Densmore Shute, Columbus, O., developed a latter day spurt of birdies to take their 36 hole match, 3 and 2, from Al Espinosa, Chicago, and Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N. J., after the latter two had squeezed out an early morning advantage.

Cyril Walker, Saddle River, N. J., and Clarence Gamber, Boca Raton, Fla., played consistently to win, 3 and 2, from Jock Collins, Dayton, O., and Eddie Williams, Cleveland.

Hampton and McIntyre developed a smooth golfing combination that defied Smith's desperate afternoon attempts to forge another step toward the championship crown.

Overcome Two Hole Lead.

Sarazen and Farrell stroked consistently once they overcame a two hole advantage at the ninth hole of the morning round, with Farrell's 30 foot putt on the 11th and another win on the 13th.

Manero and Shute accomplished a late afternoon comeback after having been generally behind up to the 25th hole, when a spurt landed them 4 up at the 31st and game them their 3 and 2 match shortly afterward.

MURPHY STARS IN PRO DEBUT AT GALESBURG

Galesburg, Ill., March 11.—[Special.]—Stretch Murphy of Purdue led the Galesburg Fans to a 39 to 16 victory over Harper's All Americans from Peoria in his professional début here tonight. The game was played at the armory before 6,000 fans, the largest crowd ever to witness a basketball game here.

Murphy performed many one handed flips, for which he is famous. Taking the tip-off from Mark Harper, who once played with the Chicago Bruins, Murphy was the center of attention. He scored six goals from the field and three free tosses and was the high point man of the evening.

Murphy will test his six feet six inches in the stiffest basketball competition in the world tonight at the Stadium when he starts at center for the Chicago Bruins in their game with the Visitations of Brooklyn.

Murphy, a unanimous choice for all-Big Ten center for the last three years, is rated one of the greatest basketeers in Big Ten history. But he will have his hands full this evening playing against Pat Herlihy. It is doubtful if he ever played against the close man-for-man guarding he will meet tonight. Pat is a tall, burly lad, who is not far below Murphy in height, and is far his superior in weight.

K. C. CAGE TEAMS PLAY FOR RIGHT TO ENTER FINALS

One divisional championship and four third place ties will be played off tonight by teams in the Knights of Columbus basketball league at the Broadway armory to clear the stage for the championship round which starts Sunday at the Chicago Stadium Following is the schedule:

8 p. m.—De La Salle vs. Santa Maria for third place, central division.
9 p. m.—De Soto vs. O'Connor for north division championship.
10 p. m.—Setters vs. Carroll for third place, west division.

Armour Institute Beats Crane Swimmers, 39 to 36

Armour institute swimmers defeated Crane college, 39 to 36, in a dual meet at Bartlett gym last night. First place honors in eight events were divided. The 160 yard relay was captured by Crane, while the 300 yard medley went to Armour. Edward Knox featured for the victors with eight points.

Brooklyn Whips Detroit in First Exhibition, 11-3

Clearwater, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Pounding four Detroit hurlers for 17 hits, the Brooklyn Dodgers won their opening exhibition game today, defeating the Tigers, 11 to 3.

Clark, Morrison, Luque, and Elliott held the American leaguers to ten hits, while the Robins were finding easy marks of the offerings of Whitehill, Sorrell, Nelson, and Page. Bressler and Thurston hit home runs for Brooklyn, while Dale Alexander connected with a circuit clout for the Tigers. Score:

Brooklyn	201	002	51*—11 17 0

YANKS, 8; BRAVES, 5.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Sixteen well timed hits gave the New York Yankees an 8 to 5 victory over the Boston Braves in the third meeting of the spring exhibition series today. Rain threatened to halt playing in the fourth inning, but after a half hour's delay play was resumed. Three Boston pitchers, Brown, Cantwell, and Alonzo Smith, felt the fury of the Yankee war clubs, the longest hit being Ruth's triple in the ninth. Score:

SENATORS' LINEUP SAME.

Biloxi, Miss., March 11.—(AP)—With two probable exceptions, the Washington Senators will present against the New Orleans Pelicans in Friday's opening training season game practically the identical lineup of the club last year.

This was indicated by Manager Johnson after today's practice. He said that Red Barnes would be in the left field job in place of Goose Goslin, who is having contract difficulties, and that Jimmy McLeod, just up from Little Rock, would replace Joe Cronin, last year's regular shortstop.

Pitchers Marberry and Hadley will likely be called on for three inning tricks on the mound, with either Ad Liska or Lloyd Brown getting the odd three frames. Muddie Ruel and Bennie Tate will divide the catching department.

BROWNS' HOLDOUT TALKS.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Business Manager Bill Friel and Heinie Manush, the Browns' slugging outfielder, who is holding out, had a twenty minute chat today, and after it was over both said "there was nothing to report." Manush, however, promised Friel to "think over" the club's latest offer.

At today's practice session Al Crowder cut loose for the first time and made the efforts of the batters appear rather feeble. Manager Killefer said he was pleased with the pitcher's condition.

BARTELL REPORTS TO PIRATES.

Paso Robles, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—Dick Bartell, young infielder holdout, reported at the Pittsburgh Pirate training camp here today and indications were that salary differences might soon be ironed out.

Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitcher, is another Pirate who has not come to terms with the management. He is still in the east.

Today's rehearsal again was devoted largely to the art of base running under the direction of Manager Jewel Ens and Coach Max Carey, the latter a star of the paths in his career as a player.

TWO RED SOX MISSING.

Pensacola, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—With the arrival of John Winsett, former Mobile outfielder, here today, all of the Boston Red Sox players with the exception of Jack Rothrock, center fielder, and Johnny Heving, catcher, are in the fold. Rothrock is expected soon, but Heving has failed to notify Manager Heinie Wagner when to expect him.

Manager Wagner announced that his club would play another exhibition game with the Pensacola Naval station nine tomorrow and that Edgar Carroll, Bull Durham, and Danny MacFayden would work in the box for the Sox.

MAKE PROGRESS IN CURTAILMENT OF OIL OUTPUT

Crude Total Shrinks 88,600 Brls. a Day.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The combined efforts of federal and state authorities, oil producers and refiners to remedy the long standing condition of overproduction in the petroleum industry are proving successful. Another sharp decline in crude oil output occurred last week as the result of pro-ration, chiefly in California and Oklahoma, and recommendations by the federal oil conservation board that refiners curtail gasoline production.

Crude oil production last week dropped 88,600 barrels a day, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute, and this decline followed a shrinkage of 98,100 barrels a day in the preceding week. Thus, in two weeks daily average gross crude oil production has fallen from 2,722,050 to 2,635,350 barrels and the aggregate shrinkage of 186,700 barrels a day represents a decline of nearly 7 per cent.

California producers again led the conservation movement by reducing their output by 61,600 barrels a day last week, while in the previous week they made a cut of 83,000 barrels a day.

Increase in Texas District.

Oklahoma curtailed 12,900 barrels a day last week following a cut of 29,600 barrels a day in the preceding week. The only district to expand output measurably was coast Texas, with an increase of 4,050 barrels a day.

The refining companies also did their part, reducing the average daily run of crude oil to their stills by 267,400 barrels a day and reducing their operations from 74.6 to 72.4 per cent of capacity. The Prairie Oil and Gas company announced last night that it will extend the six day week to all its activities wherever possible and that it favors permanent restriction throughout the industry.

A new record for volume of business and earnings was set by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company last year, according to the annual report made public last night by Chairman A. W. Robertson. Furthermore, the company started 1930 with larger orders than a year before.

Balance Sheet Showing.

Sales billed last year totaled $216,364,588, compared with $189,050,302 in 1928. Unfilled orders on Jan. 1, 1930, totaled $62,025,299, a gain of about $15,000,000 over Jan. 1, 1929. Net income for 1929 was $27,062,611, equivalent after preferred dividends to $10.35 a share on 2,586,341 common shares. Net income for 1928 was $20,814,940. In that year the fiscal year was changed to conform to the calendar year.

Last year the company retired its $30,000,000 bonds. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1929, shows current assets of $136,104,758, current liabilities of $22,074,827, and surplus of $96,818,935. The average number of employes last year was about 50,000 and total pay rolls exceeded $88,000,000. There were 44,088 stockholders at the end of the year.

Record sales were reported by the W. A. Sheaffer Pen company for its fiscal year ended Feb. 28, 1929, and a gain of more than 25 per cent in earnings over the previous period. Net profits totaled $1,530,714, equivalent to $8.70 a share on the average capital stock outstanding during the year and to $7.86 a share on 194,700 shares of capital stock. Net profits in the preceding period were $1,209,204. Surplus now stands at $4,269,492, compared with $3,387,804 on Feb. 28, 1929.

FOX FILES SUIT FOR INJUNCTION IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT AT N.Y.

New York, March 11.—(AP)—A suit for an injunction to restrain John E. Otterson and H. L. Stuart from voting stock holdings in Fox Film and Fox Theaters corporation which he deposited with them under a trust agreement last December was begun in United States District court today by William Fox.

The stock of which Mr. Fox asked to be named the sole owner was voted by him in the recent meeting of stockholders of the two companies, under protest from Mr. Otterson and Mr. Stuart. Holding the majority control of the trusteeship, Mr. Fox being the third member, they wished to vote the stock against the plan of refinancing advanced by the Bancamerican corporation and other banks.

The suit is similar to the State Supreme court action decided last Wednesday, the day of the stockholders' meeting, in favor of Mr. Otterson and Mr. Stuart. In that action Justice Aaron J. Levy held that the trusteeship was valid by law and that the stock was being held in escrow by the Bankers Trust company. He denied the petition of Fox to be named sole owner of the stock.

RULES AGAINST STANDARD OIL OF IND. CLAIM

Hammond, Ind., March 11.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of Indiana was ruled against today by Federal Judges Baltzell, Sparks, and Slick in its claim for reparations against 49 railroads for allegedly improper freight rates.

Had the judges' opinion favored the oil company it would have meant the return of more than $200,000 in freight charges. Hearing on the claim was held in federal district court here several months ago.

In its petition the oil company alleged that the railroads overcharged them in shipping petroleum products from St. Louis to the Chicago territory.

U. S. SUPPORT BUOYS WHEAT IN WORLD DIP

May Quotations Here Top Other Marts.

Active buying of wheat by governmental agencies in Chicago yesterday placed quotations for May delivery above those in nearly every other grain market, both in the United States and abroad. After American grain exchanges had closed early in honor of William Howard Taft, with the unharvested crop at the lowest prices of the season, Winnipeg dropped 2½ to 3¼ cents more.

Canadian wheat at the market's close was 5½ cents lower than Chicago May prices, and wheat delivered in Liverpool was 1½d under local quotations. Argentine wheat sold during the day in London at 2 cents under prices of the same grade in Baltimore, in spite of eastern grain being held in readiness to ship.

Other Coöps Complain.

This irregularity in world grain prices, credited to federal farm board support of the Chicago market, not only placed local prices above those of all other markets, but was made subject to complaint by coöperatives at Minneapolis and Duluth. Officials of the stabilization corporation at Chicago were requested to increase their bidding at these two markets, while traders in Chicago pointed to the higher prices here as probable cause of increased glutting of storage.

"UP TO FARMERS"—LEGGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board today made it clear that the board has no intention of buying huge quantities of wheat with a view to removing the surplus unless farmers coöperate by reducing acreage. In a letter answering Gov. George F. Shafer, North Dakota, he declared that "there is no possible solution of the wheat problem unless we get the coöperation of the growers themselves."

Mr. Legge said that present stabilization efforts would undoubtedly result in the farm board's having upward of 100,000,000 bushels on hand at the close of the present crop season, but that the board had no intentions of carrying this over and giving the next crop a fair price level. The stabilization corporation would hold the surplus in hopes of a crop shortage somewhere in the world, but would dispose of it and take the loss if farmers took the position of "Let George do it."

Seeks Basic Price.

Gov. Shafer's telegram of March 8 asked for restoration of the basic cash prices recently dropped by the farm board as soon as terminal congestion was relieved by purchasing present country holdings for future delivery.

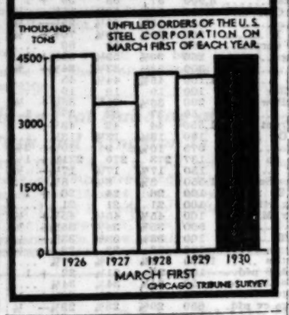
UNFILLED STEEL ORDERS ARE HIGHEST FOR THE SEASON SINCE 1926



MAIL ORDER, CHAIN TIRE SALES BLAMED IN FISK CO. LOSSES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 11.—The Fisk Rubber company and its subsidiaries show a deficit of $7,496,457 for 1929, compared with a deficit of $7,305,249 in 1928 and a profit of $4,816,257 in 1927.

President H. T. Dunn, in his report to stockholders today explained that the shrinkage in dealer unit sales contributed largely to the operating loss for the year of $2,515,219, including $2,250,000 for depreciation. The balance of the total loss for the year was due to interest and amortization charges of $1,520,903, and writedowns of rubber, cotton, and other raw materials, and of inventories, of $3,460,335.

"Concerning the shrinkage of unit sales to dealers," said Mr. Dunn, "up to 1929 and as far back as 1924, your company has solicited the business of and depended for its volume upon a large number of small dealers.

"As competition became more acute through mail order, chain, and factory owned stores operations, the weaker of these dealers found it impossible to compete. Proportionately, Fisk dealers outlets decreased and it became evident that only the strongest of independent retail tire dealers could survive. It was therefore necessary for your company to revamp its sales organization, sales policy, and product, so as to appeal to and secure this stronger dealer."

Form First Detroit Co. for Investment Activities

Detroit, Mich., March 11.—[Special.]—The investment activities of the $700,000,000 Detroit Bankers company, holder of the stocks of five Michigan banking institutions, will be handled henceforth by the First Detroit company, whose organization has been announced to take effect tomorrow. The new company assumes the active operation of the bond departments of Detroit and Security Trust company, its affiliate, the Detroit company, and First National Company of Detroit, Inc. The former investment companies retail their identity as holding companies only.

Growing Rayon Industry Is New Outlet for Labor

BY SCRUTATOR.

Rayon is, in commercial form, a comparatively new product. The industry making it has had a remarkable growth. Twenty years ago its output was negligible; even in 1920 only ten million pounds were made in this country.

In 1929, however, so great was the demand for rayon that 123 million pounds were made by domestic firms and another sixteen million were imported. Indicated consumption in the United States was thus 139 million pounds, worth at the average import price around 110 million dollars.

The number of wage earners employed in rayon was over 26,000 in 1927. Probably by the end of 1929 this had risen to 40,000, and productive capacity was figured at 160 million pounds a year. Forecasts by the trade itself, according to Francis E. Simmons of the department of commerce, are to the effect that consumption in 1930 will reach this figure.

Shows Change in Tastes.

Use of this manmade stuff, a lustrous textile produced chemically from the woody fibers of plants, is but one instance of the changing tastes of American consumers. About 60 per cent of all the rayon supply goes into knit goods, underwear and hosiery predominating. Nineteen per cent of the yarns are combined with cotton fabrics and 10 per cent more with silk.

The textile division of the department of commerce has gathered certain information on the use of rayon yarns compared in consumptive use with other fibers. It finds that raw cotton in this country had increased use, from 1925 to 1929, of some 300,000,000 pounds, rayon of 82,000,000, raw silk of 24,000,000, and wool a small decrease.

In the period silk and wool together had a consumptive increase of 66 per cent, raw cotton of about 10 per cent. Rayon uses, however, have been confined almost exclusively to wearing apparel, and with silk it is apparently cutting in appreciably on cotton goods.

Has Bright Prospects.

In the broader aspects of economics rayon has done some interesting things. The industry has preponderantly settled in the south to take advantage of climate and cheap labor. More than two-thirds of the 1930 production will come from Tennessee and the South Atlantic states.

Rayon is one of the industries that are moving ahead with bright prospects. It has widened demand and created increased consumption of lightweight clothing. It is one of the group, including radio and mechanical refrigeration, which is furnishing new outlets for labor displaced by the relative recession of employment in the basic industries like farming, rail transportation, and mining.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 11.—The speculative community seemed dead bent on compressing a full day's business into the half day session on the New York Stock exchange today.

The upshot was an abnormal volume of 2,635,500 shares for the period between 10 a. m. and 12:30 p. m., when the exchange closed in respect to the memory of former President Taft. This resulted in a great deal of confusion, throwing the ticker as much as 25 minutes behind floor operations and encouraging hasty profit taking and selling for the decline.

Call Money Firmer.

Closing prices were irregularly higher throughout the list. Liquidation was most pronounced in the more volatile issues. Recent favorites of the bull element were borne down en masse by a steady drain of realizing. A number of old line standbys like Steel jogged along within a point or two of last night's closing prices without getting very far in either direction at any stage of the game.

BEGIN NEXT WEEK ON BUILDING FOR SOL H. GOLDBERG

Liggetts Lease Store at Diversey-Milwaukee.

BY AL CHASE.

Contracts have been let and work is scheduled to start next week on a six story building to be erected by Sol H. Goldberg, head of the Hump Hair Manufacturing company, at the northwest corner of Diversey boulevard and Milwaukee avenue, in the Logan Square district. This project was pictured in the real estate department on May 26, 1929.

A number of leases for space already have been arranged, including a fifteen year term signed yesterday with the Liggett Drug Stores, Inc., for the corner store. The Liggett chain, which is affiliated with the United Drug company, now has forty stores in Chicago, including the former Buck & Rayner group and the MacLean chain.

Leases Already Closed.

The Goldberg structure, designed by Loebenko & Esser, will represent a reported investment in land and building of $350,000. The second floor will be used for merchandising purposes and the four upper floors will be leased for offices. It is stated that already leases have been closed for offices on two floors. Completion of the building is planned for June 1 at which date the Liggett lease becomes operative.

Asher J. Goldfine represented Mr. Goldberg in arranging the drug store lease. The rental is not disclosed. Harry D. Pauly & Co. and Charles K. Edwards were co-brokers for the lessee. S. S. McCully is president of the Liggett Stores of Chicago.

Tall Flats for Gold Coast.

Plans are being drawn by Bowman Brothers, Inc., for a seventeenth story apartment building which they state will be on a gold coast site, the location of which will be announced later. The building, it is claimed, will be erected along entirely new lines of construction, with thinner walls and with metal used on the exterior instead of brick or stone.

Albert Fuchs, Chicago florist and realty man, now a resident of California, has quit claimed the property at the southwest corner of State and Harrison streets to E. E. Freund. The ground, 50x110 feet, has old improvements. J. E. Beach was attorney.

GERMAN FORD MOTOR PAYS 10% DIVIDEND

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 11.—Declaration of a 10 per cent dividend by the German Ford Motor company today surprised banking circles, which, in view of the company's earnings and its favorable status, had expected up to 15 per cent.

The company's balance sheet shows a total turnover of 38,111,109 marks, a net profit of 2,219,051 and 1,500,000 marks set aside for statutory reserve, while 1,350,000 marks appears among the expenditures as provision for amortization of patents, an item hitherto unknown in Germany. The last three items together show that the company earned more than one-third on its invested capital of 15,000,000 marks.

The management expects to assemble 2,000 units, cars and motor trucks, in March.

SAYS INVESTORS NOW SCRUTINIZE ALL OFFERINGS

Investors learned a lesson about stock speculation last October and November and as a consequence are exercising scrutiny over every security issue that is being offered them, according to Trowbridge Callaway, president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America.

"They have turned rather definitely back to sound bonds," said Mr. Callaway, who was in Chicago yesterday after an extended trip to the Pacific coast, the south and the central west. "There is more consideration of present income than of speculative possibilities."

A tendency of small investment houses to merge has been noted recently, he added, and may continue. Banks, he said, were not going more fully into the investment business, and at least one large one in New York recently retired from the investment banking field. He found that conditions were good on the Pacific coast, and fairly good around New Orleans. The market for bonds was especially good in the large cities, he said.

Last night Mr. Callaway and Alden H. Little, executive vice president, addressed the central states group meeting of the association at the Blackstone hotel.

RAILROAD NOTES

Distinctive names for four passenger trains of the Illinois Central system are announced by President L. A. Downs. They are the Creole, the Louisiane, the Planter, and the Iowan. The Creole runs between Chicago and New Orleans, with connections to Louisville and St. Louis. The Louisiane is a companion of the Creole. The Planter runs between Memphis and New Orleans. The Iowan operates between Chicago and Omaha, Sioux City and Sioux Falls.

The Burlington handled 32,222 revenue freight cars during the first seven days of March, against 35,163 in the same 1929 period, a decrease of 8.4 per cent.

Inadequate terminal facilities are seriously handicapping fast freight shipments between Chicago and New York, according to the transportation department of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The trade group points out that while the record of "on time" deliveries from Chicago to other sections of the country have been averaging well over 90 per cent for the last year, the performances of the principal carriers between here and New York are averaging less than 70 per cent.

FRISCO EARNS $11.82 A SHARE ON ITS COMMON

New York, March 11.—(AP)—The pamphlet report of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway company for 1929, published today, disclosed net income last year of $10,192,073, equal to $11.82 a share on the common stock. This compares with $8,216,507, or $11.01 a share in 1928.

Railway net operating income for 1929 increased $58,795 to $21,028,240. J. M. Kuhn, president, informed the stockholders. Freight earnings increased $3,094,402, but passenger earnings declined $878,501. Surplus after dividends was $2,500,011 in 1929, against $1,970,251 in the previous year.

"Competition by motor buses for short distance travel and increased use of privately owned automobiles," said the report, "caused further reduction in passenger revenue, but not as large as in previous years."

North Shore Gas Co. Would Issue Preferred Stock

The North Shore Gas company of Waukegan yesterday petitioned the Illinois commerce commission for authority to issue 10,000 shares of its 6 per cent series preferred stock. With a par value of $100 a share, the issue would total $1,000,000. The commission's decision will be announced later.

Standard Statistics Co.'s Daily Stock Price Index on 90 Stocks Combined
Jan. Feb. Mar. Apr May Jun Jul Aug Sep. Oct. Nov Dec. Jan. Feb.

Reprint of the Standard Statistics Company's advice to its clients on September 30, 1929.

..."We advise still further emphasis upon conservative policies in security market operations. We would seek to further augment cash reserves. We would go through portfolios with a fine tooth comb and weed out all issues which were not of first rank merit, which did not have unusually good prospects immediately ahead of them, which were not of the character that we would be willing —if necessary—to carry through a further reaction in average prices.

"In a word, we lack faith in the present structure of stock prices . . . we foresee a period of anxiety and uncertainty, in which the repressive factors of short term duration will be steadily becoming more numerous. With all the emphasis possible, we caution against an overextended position. We believe that the unbridled enthusiasm for so-called "equities" is not a thing which can endure indefinitely, and that ultimately prices of even the best common stocks must return to a level where they can either be justified by current income, or by probable income at some reasonably near future date."

Isn't this a time to be really "hardboiled" about your investments?

—to make sure that the securities you own, or contemplate buying, are worth their present prices on the basis of present FACTS—not just future possibilities?

HAS it occurred to you that there are at least three tests to which you might well subject every stock before you decide to hold or buy it?

(a) At its current price and dividend rate, does it give a satisfactory yield?

(b) If it does, is it the stock of a company which will come through a period of business recession with its earning power substantially unimpaired and with bright prospects for the ensuing period of prosperity?

(c) If it passes both of the above tests, what are the chances of getting it well below the present price?

This is the sort of questions we believe the prudent investor should be asking himself today, whether his primary concern is to secure a satisfactory rate from his investments or to build up his estate through long-term appreciation in the value of his holdings. This is only another way of saying that we have reached a period in which facts really mean something again—that the recent crash has dynamited us out of a period of seemingly easy money into a period in which actual value is what counts.

The months that lie immediately ahead are going to witness the development of more profitable opportunities for investment than have existed for a long time.

If you have an investment in securities large enough to warrant the payment of a fee ranging upward from $1,500 a year for sound guidance, then this advertisement is addressed to you and you should read it.

Of course, if time were of no importance to you—if you could devote all your working hours to the problems—if you had practically unlimited resources in information and unequalled facilities for investigation, there would be no need to utilize such an organization as the Standard Statistics Company—the world's largest statistical and advisory organization—to help you secure the best possible results in handling your funds.

But if you lack either the necessary time or the essential facilities—or both—this institution can be of such great assistance as to make it eminently worth while to retain it for that purpose.

We are prepared to place at your command the results of an expenditure running into millions of dollars each year, every penny of it devoted to the development of investment and business information and advice. This we propose to do through the Standard "Supervisory Service."

There is, for example, the work of the field investigation staff—a group of highly trained analysts, located at strategic points throughout the country, who are continually studying industrial and other properties at first hand, through intimate contact with corporation executives, bankers and others. Their function is to "beat" the news. And they are highly successful in doing just that. As a result, our clients in many instances have the benefit of vital information long before it becomes public property.

"Supervisory Service" is not the name of any fixed form of assistance. It is not, in fact, one of the thirty odd publications edited and distributed by this organization. On the contrary, by keeping this particular type of supervisory work flexible and highly specialized, we propose to render an investment service de luxe—especially for you—the best that can possibly be furnished—to dovetail with your plans and problems.

Naturally, therefore, we can accept only a very limited number of relatively large individual accounts for this highly specialized Supervisory Service.

Briefly—and in a very general way—this Supervisory Service would bring you, among other things, the following tangible features:

First—an intensive analysis of each security you are now holding, with a definite recommendation—in view of your particular problems—whether it should be held or sold, together with reasons for such advice.

Second—in each case where a selling recommendation is made, we further tell you what security should be bought to replace the one disposed of, unless it should seem desirable, at the time, to build up your cash position.

Third—every security on your list is under continual observation, so that if anything should occur to alter the status of one of them, you are notified promptly and advised what action to take.

Fourth—our entire staff of investment analysts and field investigators would be constantly on the alert to discover issues that would be more profitable to you than those you were holding.

This last phase of the Supervisory Service is, perhaps, its most important function—to discover and bring to your attention new opportunities which we believe should prove more profitable than the average.

For nearly a quarter of a century the Standard Statistics Company—the world's largest statistical organization—has been engaged solely in furnishing investment information and counsel. It has a staff of nearly 1,000 people engaged in that work. Your banker will tell you about the character of the company and the quality of the service it renders.

If a service such as this would meet your needs, please fill out and mail the coupon below.

LIVABLE OFFICES WE HAVE PLANNED

A daredevil aviator.. but he preferred conservative furniture

ONE of the most famous aviators in the United States, if not in the world, recently became an executive of one of the great flying services. He selected his office furniture from the Danersk collection and showed a decided preference for sturdy pieces, simple in design, true to old traditions.

Here are some of the rich charactered pieces—each built by hand by Scotch and English craftsmen—which impress visitors to his office with a feeling of quiet, intelligent dependability:—

The rugged Hastings desk (pictured below), of choice European walnut inlaid with ebony. Massive bracket feet derived from the old-time chests we inherit from pioneer America.

The William and Mary hutch, a low set walnut cabinet in which are stored books, cigars and other personal belongings. Its graceful moldings and interestingly carved Spanish feet are typical of the period.

A mahogany arm chair—the original seated George Washington when he first met the Senate. This chair is adorned with a six pointed star. The chairs of the Senators bore five pointed stars.

The Pine Valley chair, deeply cushioned, indescribably restful. Its design dates back to a staunch and worthy chair from Old Quebec.

Does the furniture of your office do justice to the integrity of your business methods? Why not write for our brochure "The Livable Office," and let us aid you in planning an office in the spirit of a gentleman's study.

From time to time as you wish to select additional pieces, you will find them available at our showrooms. The delays and hazards associated with specially designed furniture are avoided. Indeed, because you are dealing direct with the maker, you can purchase these interesting pieces at no greater cost than furniture less thoughtfully produced.

hope for relief in the market congestion for the next sixty days, Mr. Legge said the "tendency seems for the congestion to become worse rather than better."

He outlined the liquidation of stocks in foreign countries as the doubtless cause of the situation here, voicing the opinion that auch would be the case regardless of American price levels, and called it "a distressed condition."

Can't Compete, Says Legge.

The farm board's request that wheat production be curtailed ten per cent was made because, in Mr. Legge's words, "we cannot hope to compete in the export markets on that commodity, with the exception of a comparatively small quantity of high protein wheats," which he said would always be in demand for mixing purposes in foreign flours. Other areas of the world can produce at lower costs, he explained.

ALL GRAINS SUFFER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A semi-demoralized condition prevails in the world's grain markets and each day of late has witnessed further declines in prices. September wheat in Chicago dropping yesterday to $1.07, a new low for the season, while durum wheat at Duluth closed 4⅞@7⅝c lower, with the July delivery there down to 89c at the last.

Short covering in May wheat in Chicago caused a rally of ⅝c after an early break, influenced by pronounced weakness in Liverpool, but all deliveries turned weak toward the last and the finish was ⅜@2⅛c lower, with old crop months showing the most strength. March finished at $1.06¼; May, $1.11@1.11¼, and July, $1.05⅛@1.05¼, the latter being within ⅛c of the lowest price of the season.

Owing to the financial conditions in Europe and the extremely low prices of other feedstuffs Broomhall has lowered his estimate on world import requirements of wheat for the 1929-30 season to 650,000,000 bu, compared with actual clearances of over 900,000,000 bu the previous year. North America is expected to have to furnish only 180,000,000 bu to Aug. 1, and other countries 75,000,000 bu.

Winnipeg Wheat Weakens.

The downward revision in estimates on world needs probably had some effect on the Winnipeg market, which closed 2⅞@3c lower for the day, with May wheat there 5½c under Chicago at the last. As near as can be estimated North America had over 400,000,000 bu wheat available for export, of which Europe seemingly will require less than half. Minneapolis was 2@4⅛c lower for the day. Liverpool lost 1@1⅛d and May there was 1¼d under Chicago at the time that market closed.

Dry weather reports are increasing from the American southwest, and the need of moisture was confirmed by the Kansas weekly report.

New Low on Corn.

Liquidation was on in corn at the start, with all deliveries except May selling at a new low for the season, but short covering developed in the May, which advanced it 1⅜c from the low, and the close was ¾c higher to ⅞c lower with May, 81⅝@81¾c, and July, 83½@83⅝c. There was nothing in the general situation to account for the rally. Detailed government report on farm reserves showed holdings in eight leading states of 719,000,000 bu, or 3,000,000 bu in excess of last year.

Oats showed stubborn resistance to selling pressure and closed ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, with March 41½c and May, 42⅝@42¾c.

Continued liquidation was in evidence in rye, with all deliveries at a new low for the season and both March and May sold the lowest since July, 1914, March touching 62½c, compared with 55c for the cash grain 16 years ago. Closing trades were at net losses of 2¼@2¾c with May, 62¾c, and July, 64½c. Cash rye at Duluth was quoted as low as 58c

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was unchanged today. Buyers continued to show interest at 3.61c in certain positions, but as a rule holders were generally asking higher levels, although there was a sale of 28,000 bags of Philippines about due to an outport refiner at the 3.61c delivered price. Raw futures were quiet with operators as a rule inclined to limit fresh commitments, and price movements narrow and irregular. Sales in the No. 1 contract were 11,800 tons and in the No. 2, 1,000. Closing prices follow:

Top yesterday, $11.65; average, $10.80.
Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 6,500 cattle, 14,000 hogs, and 17,000 sheep.

Hog receipts dropped below all expectations yesterday, resulting in a general reaction of prices on the cash trade, which finished 10@15c above the previous session. Light weights were in demand at the full strength, while buyers of medium and weighty grades took the meager supply of butchers reluctantly at the advanced quotations.

The extreme top advanced to $11.15 while the general average showed 10c gain at $10.55, but prices are still 40@50c under the high point of the season established two weeks ago and are unevenly 85c to $1.20 lower than a year ago. Only 5,000 were estimated left at the close. Five western markets expected 53,000 today against 58,800 the previous Wednesday.

Future Hogs, $11.30.

Light hogs sold freely on the futures market at 10@15c higher prices, while trading in medium and heavy grades lagged all day. A phenomena was the fact that April, May and September light weights all sold at the one price, $11.30. Offers to sell March hogs at $11.25 were 40c above the highest bid.

Bids for April and May medium grades were made at $10.50 and offers at $10.65. Heavy grades for March and April delivery were offered at $10.30@10.35 and bids were made at $10.00@10.10. May heavy were offered at $10.35. On the "to arrive" market, bids for light for this week's delivery were made at $11.05@11.20 and heavy grades for today's delivery sold at $10.40.

Cattle prices held steady on yesterday's slow trading, athough peak sales were below the previous session, due to poorer quality. Choice 1066@1140 lb yearlings topped the price list at $15.00, while bulk of cattle of beef merit sold at $11.35@13.75. A fairly large number of plain quality 900@1100 lb averages sold at $11.00@11.75 and the poorest grades of beef steers were purchased at $10.00.

Cows and heifers were generally steady. Calves held firm. Stockers and feeders were unchanged. There has been an increase in cattle receipts this week, the total at 20 markets for the first two days of the week at 123,000 comparing with 112,000 a week ago, with 107,000 a year ago and with 111,600 two years ago.

Lambs Bring $11.65.

Top lambs advanced 10@15c more yesterday, to the highest price level since February 24 and show $1.00@1.25 advance since the low point of the season two weeks ago. Fancy 84 lb Wisconsin lambs reached $11.65, which compares with $10.50 at the low point of the season. Most handy weights brought $11.25@11.50, with $10.75@11.00 paid bulk of good medium weights and $10.10 for 107 lb averages. Aged sheep and yearlings ruled strong to 25c higher, 94 lb yearling wethers selling at $9.40 and handy ewes at $6.40. Feeding lambs were stronger.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 6,500 cattle, 14,000 hogs and 17,000 sheep, against 6,933 cattle, 14,957 hogs and 18,847 sheep the previous Wednesday and 7,857 cattle, 16,836 hogs and 14,773 sheep a year ago.

STEEL MAGNATES FLEE REPORTERS VIA FIRE ESCAPE

Eaton Blocks Youngstown, Bethlehem Merger.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., March 11.—Cyrus H. Eaton, guiding genius behind the Republic Steel corporation, has successfully thwarted, at least temporarily, plans to merge the Bethlehem Steel corporation with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

After a conference of steel magnates that lasted more than eight hours, Eaton emerged with a broad smile. It was a victory smile and told more plainly than words that Eaton and his associates had succeeded in blocking the proposed merger.

"If a statement is given out it will have to come from Mr. Grace or Mr. Campbell, spokesmen for the respective interests," Eaton said when asked to comment on the conference. It was reliably learned that the chances of a deal between the Youngstown and Bethlehem companies is in even more doubt of completion than it was before the conference.

On Twentieth Floor.

After Eaton came out of the conference room, newspaper men waited thirty minutes for the other steel magnates to emerge. Then one of the reporters tried the door and found it open, but the room was vacant. It was discovered that eight millionaire steel men had crept down a steel fire escape to elude the reporters. The office in which the conference was held is on the twentieth floor.

Those who conferred with Eaton and Ferdinand Everstadt, New York partner of Otis & Co., were Samuel Mather, director of the United States Steel corporation; W. G. Mather, president of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company; S. L. Mather, director of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company; Henry G. Dalton, first vice president and director of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company; James A. Campbell, chairman of the board of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube; Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube; Elton Hoyt II., of Pickands, Mather and company, and Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Directors of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company will meet tomorrow morning at Youngstown to consider the Bethlehem proposal, originally understood to be on a basis of four shares of Bethlehem for three of Sheet and Tube, but it was said to be unlikely that any action will be taken. The Youngstown board will meet to consider advising stockholders of the Bethlehem proposal.

Report Hot Session.

The all day session was hotly contested, according to rumors that drifted from the conference room. Eaton, reported to control the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, was apparently in command of the situation from the start. It was learned that he had the voting power of 500,000 shares behind his demands, enough to block successfully any measure requiring a two-thirds majority.

Eaton had endeavored to acquire the Youngstown Sheet and Tube and merge it with the Inland Steel company. He then planned to add the combined properties to the Republic Steel corporation, a $350,000,000 concern now being formed.

It was rumored in local financial circles prior to the conference that Eaton and his associates had voting power of enough shares to block the contemplated merger and that he was drafting plans to absorb both Youngstown and Bethlehem into the gigantic Republic combine.

WALL ST. STOCK TRADING LIVELY IN SHORT DAY

significance to account for activities on either side of the market. Call money was slightly firmer, holding at 4 per cent, with the prospect of a further hardening as withdrawals are made between now and the end of the week to meet income tax payments.

An attempt to revive interest in the motor shares was a feature of the abbreviated proceedings. Reports from the manufacturing centers are still conflicting and there is little to indicate that any substantial improvement of the situation in this industry has taken place. However, the stocks have been pretty thoroughly liquidated and bull leaders submit that it is scarcely to be expected that the motor groups should experience two lean stock market years in a row.

General Motors did its stuff in something like old time fashion for a time before the market closed for the day, rising to a new high for the year of 45⅝, a gain of 1½ points on the day. The issue opened on a block of 10,000 shares, up ⅝ of a point, and hit 45 on a sale of 15,000, showing to the satisfaction of the rank and file that operators of some importance were concerned in the transactions. Auburn advanced some 5 points to a new high, but was not able to hold more than a point or so of its lead, and Chrysler and other shares of the group perked up somewhat.

Attracts Bear Selling.

Reactionary tendencies of the utilities the last few days attracted further bear selling in the group. The bear crowd succeeded in hammering Foreign Power to a new low for the year. On the other hand, Electric Power and Light, a leader of the natural gas group, went skipping up more than 5 points, and Peoples Gas continued its boomlet, rising another 5½ points.

Simmons shares weakened further and managed to sink to a new low for the year. Bears on Simmons never have become greatly alarmed over sporadic attempts to run them to cover, and no great attention was paid to a recent sales statement which indicated a growth in gross revenue as compared with a year ago. The closing sale reflected a net loss of 4 points on the day.

DISCUSS NEW ASPECTS OF RY. ENGINEERING

Detailed reports on technical aspects of railway operation, ranging from grade crossing protection to the provision and chemical treatment of railway water supplies, were presented before the annual convention of the American Railway Engineering association yesterday at the Palmer house.

The report on grade crossings, prepared in coöperation with the highway research board, discussed devices designed to reduce accidents at highway grade crossings, including stop and go signals to be operated from an approaching locomotive cab.

A highway crossing gate designed to lower automatically at the approach of a train. This would prevent an automobile being blocked on the railroad right of way. Killing weeds by chemicals at a speed of 30 miles an hour was another subject.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Radio's Sales Soar.

It may surprise some people to learn that retail sales of radio products in 1929 reached the highest volume on record. Preliminary figures compiled by Radio Retailing show that sales of sets, parts, and accessories amounted to $805,328,000 last year, as compared with $690,550,000 in 1928. This represents a gain of 16.6 per cent.

Does Replacement Business.

Friends of American Brake Shoe and Foundry company maintain that the stability of the company's earnings during the last ten years has been overlooked by investors in the market of late. The company's ability to show good profits in good and bad times is ascribed in large part to the fact that a large portion of its business is for replacements.

Estimated Earnings.

Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., is said to be making overtures to the management of White Rock Mineral Springs company with the idea of absorbing the latter. It is expected that earnings of Canada Dry for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1930, will show earnings around $8 a share.

Seen Under Accumulation.

Though showing very little on the tape, it has looked for some time as if American Cigar were under accumulation. Declining earnings last year were ascribed chiefly to plant modernization for the purpose of increasing the output of Cremo cigars.

Stromberg Electric Co. Earns $444,091 in 1929

Stromberg Electric company reports net income for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31 of $444,091, compared with $190,345 in 1928. The year was the most profitable in the history of the company. The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 shows current assets of $652,359 and current liabilities of $145,350, which compare with $624,140 and $72,533, respectively, at the end of 1928.

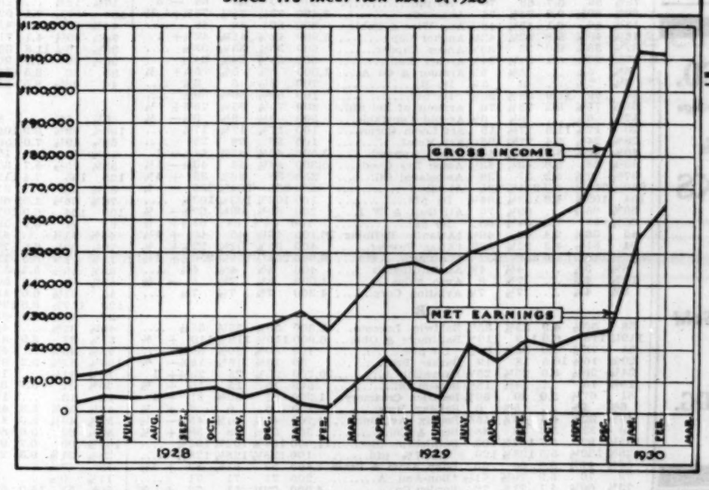
SINCE ITS INCEPTION MAY 5, 1928



Chicago, Illinois, March 10, 1930.

To the Stockholders of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company

In order that you may be informed as to the Company's financial position and past earnings, we are submitting a graph showing by months the gross income and net earnings from the Company's inception May 5, 1928, to February 28, 1930.

We wish to emphasize the fact that the earnings from the first month have been sufficient to more than cover all operating expenses. In view of the large expenses incurred in organizing a new company, and the many heavy non-recurring charges which have been met, we feel that this report is evidence of stability and sound management.

Gross income and net earnings have been rapidly increasing. Net earnings from operations and interest earned for the month ending February 28, 1930, were $65,789.25, which is equivalent to $1.33 annual earnings per share of stock on 593,095 shares outstanding.

The Company is in a strong cash position, and when this cash is invested in the business, greater returns from these funds can be expected.

Depreciation and depletion is charged annually, the rate being determined by Messrs. Brokaw, Dixon, Garner & McKee, Petroleum Engineers and Geologists of New York, the total amount for 1929 being $113,935.09. All property and equipment owned by the Company is carried on the books at cost, appreciation created by new wells drilled and negotiated contracts not being reflected in the balance sheet.

On March 1st the new 10" line connecting the Blue Springs field to the main pipe line system was completed, adding three million feet to the present daily deliveries. Accordingly, a further substantial increase in the earnings can be expected for the current month.

The Company has important plans for new projects and further expansion of its present system during the year 1930.

The Company owns very large natural gas reserves in Texas, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky, which assures the Company's future position in the rapidly expanding natural gas industry.

The Company has paid a regular quarterly dividend of 2½% in stock, conserving its cash for future development.

With well organized executive and operating staff, thoroughly experienced engineering department, large natural gas reserves, and adequate capital, the Company is in a splendid position to become the outstanding leader in the natural gas industry.

FRANK P. PARISH,
President.

The Ace of Spades

By WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Jim Rutledge, accompanied by Sim Hart, is sent out with a herd of cattle to fulfill a contract made by his father, Chandler Rutledge. On the trail they are overtaken by word from the Moss outfit, enemies of Rutledge. The Moss men start a stampede and drive off some of the Rutledge cattle. Jim recovers them, but in doing so shoots in the injury and pursue him. Jim takes refuge in a ranch house, where he finds Ellen Lawson alone in the house. She hides him when the Moss gang comes to the house inquiring for him and sends them off on another trail, even though she learns that Jim has injured her brother. Jim rides on into the town, after saving Ellen from the unwelcome attentions of Pete Moss. Shear, the town marshal, threatens to arrest him for the attack on Steve Lawson, but Harrison Pendleton, an old trail driver, arrives on the scene in time to save him from arrest. Shortly afterwards Shear kills Doc Brown, who he claimed had threatened his life. This causes a great deal of excitement in the cattle town. Jim goes into the local gambling den and is astonished to find Ellen Lawson there. She tells him she has come to speak to her brother, Steve. Jim guides her to where Steve is sitting in a poker game with Shear, Buck Roe, and others. As they reach the table the lights go out and when the room is again lighted Shear is found crumpled in his chair dead with Jim's knife in him. Ellen's right hand is covered with blood. She had become separated from Jim in the dark and some one had jostled her. In putting out her hand for support she had touched the crumpled figure. Jim and Ellen are questioned by the sheriff, Manders, and Jim is arrested, but is later released. Jim is determined to find the murderer to clear himself. Ellen arranges a meeting to warn him against Dave Moss and Jim learns that Moss is trying to force her to marry his son, Pete. He suggests that she marry him. They are quietly married and Jim goes on with his investigation.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX.

THE SLY FOX.

Jim slammed the door behind them and bolted it.

"Back door locked?" he asked.

"I—think so."

"Make sure."

Without another word he walked into the parlor where Mrs. Glen stood, whiteface and anxious. He strode across the room to the table and blew out the lamp, then pulled the window shade.

Mrs. Glen was trembling. "Who is it?"

"Don't know for sure. They tried to get me—a crowd of 'em."

Ellen had come into the room. "The back door is bolted—and the kitchen windows. Did they—hurt you?"

"No. I got one. Hit him, at least. Go upstairs, you an' Mrs. Glen both, an' lie down on the floor till I come up."

"What will they do?" Mrs. Glen asked.

"Don't know. Not a thing, I reckon. They won't attack the house. But we don't want to run any risk. If they're drunk they might fire a shot or two this way. We'll find out soon. Don't be scared. Do as I say. An' it'll be all right."

"What are you going to do?" Ellen asked breathlessly.

The heart of the young man sank, but he read the story aloud.

"Going round the house to make sure it's all locked up. Then I'm coming up. I'll kinda do some sentry duty at the windows to make sure they're not stickin' around."

He watched for an hour, but there was no sign of the attackers. They had retreated. Their ambuscade had failed, and they had no mind to try to storm a house from which they could be picked off at leisure by a wary foe.

Ellen sat beside him, her hand in his. He told her the story of the last few hours, from the burglary of the gambler's house to the attack after the play.

"Mr. Manders must have meant that perhaps Sam Moss killed Mr. Shear on account of Mamie Dugan. That's why he sent you to the play," she suggested.

"Yes. And that the killing in the play gave Sam the notion. His point was that the ace of spades led to the Moss gang, whether Sam did it on account of the girl or the old man had it done. What he says is true enough—unless the killer used the ace of spades for a blind to throw suspicion on the Moss crowd."

"Yes, but—I think it was Dave Moss back of it, just as he was back of this awful attack on you tonight."

"Even that last isn't proved, honey." He gulped out the word of endearment awkwardly. "I'm crowdin' the Browns an' maybe Manders too. They might have thought it best to bump me off before I got any inside. I'd hate to believe it of Manders, but he may have mighty good reason for keeping in his own hands the investigation of Shear's death. He acts thataway. I may know more about that tomorrow."

"Why tomorrow?"

"Just a chance I may. I aim to drop in an' see the town cobbler."

"What for?"

Jim told her.

Her fingers tightened on his, almost convulsively. "I wish you'd quit this—this detective work. It's dangerous. Some one will . . . hurt you. I know they will. Let's get away from here to yore home in Texas."

He smiled grimly. "I will, sweetheart, soon as I've hung this murder on the fellow that did it. Got to clear my good name."

Jim was surprised to discover that the word sweetheart had come easier than the word honey. He was getting used to the idea. As he watched her, sitting beside him in the moonlight with her big eyes turned lovingly up to his, there swept through him an emotion almost unnerving. She was his, this soft, innocent young creature moving toward life with such eager and impassioned love. Her happiness was in his care. It came to him with more than a touch of awe that this was a life job he had entered upon so lightly. He could add to all that joy and zest, or he could destroy it utterly.

While the newlyweds were eating breakfast Mrs. Glen brought the morning Globe into the house from the yard.

"Here's something about last night's doings, but they've got it all wrong," she cried excitedly, handing the newspaper to Jim.

A headline on the front page stared at him:

FATALLY WOUND
SAM MOSS

The heart of the young man sank, but he read the story aloud:

While the honest citizens of this town were preparing for well earned slumber last evening a band of Texas ruffians roamed the streets with murder in their hearts. They shot down and desperately wounded Sam Moss. They attacked and knocked senseless Buck Roe, who says he thinks his life was saved by the chance arrival of passersby.

Though he is desperately wounded with a bullet in his side, Sam Moss states that he recognized the leader of the miscreants as one James Rutledge, recently arrested for the murder of Joe Shear and afterward released by the sheriff. Roe also recognized Rutledge. These assaults, which occurred at different times and places, were entirely unprovoked. Both of the wounded men were witnesses against Rutledge in the Shear case, and it is believed that this was a cold blooded attempt to put them out of the way.

Law abiding cattlemen are welcome in this city, but it is time for the desperadoes who enlist as cowboys to learn they cannot run this town for their criminal purposes.

"That Walt Hickman, who runs the Globe, is hand an' glove with old Man Moss," Mrs. Glen sputtered indignantly. "Everybody knows that."

"But it's so unjust," Ellen protested, the angry color in her cheeks. "I never heard of such a thing. To try to kill you an' then to say you attacked them with a lot of desperadoes."

"It's kinda nervy," Jim agreed, grinning ruefully, "but no more than I expect. Old man Moss is some fox. He started right out to get the jump on me with his story."

'Mother Nature' Recites Story of Evolution

It Seems Picture Made Censors Nervous.

[SILENT]
[One star means fairly good, two stars good, three stars excellent, four stars extraordinary.]
Produced by UFA.
Directed by Dr. M. E. D. Kaufman.
Presented at the Cinema theater.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

"I wish," the manager of the Cinema theater said to me several weeks ago, "that you'd look at this film and see if you find anything in it that would prove offensive to the average intelligent observer."

So I looked at "Mother Nature," a scientific picture dealing with the theory of evolution, which the censor board was holding up because they thought it suggestive. [And they passed "The Cock-Eyed World."]

Now such men as Dr. Alex Hedlecka, John Hopkins, and Dr. William S. Gidley of the Smithsonian institution have looked upon this production and found it good—even great. Universities have sent classes to study what it reveals through the medium of cold light photography. I, layman, found it an interesting pictorial dissertation, with its subject matter unobjectionably handled and its subtitles decent and delicate. Some of the cuts that had been ordered were ridiculous. A pair of doves billing and cooing on the branch of a tree was one of them.

After weeks of debate the fluttering objectors have yielded some points. Now "Mother Nature" is being shown practically intact as to photography. It is shy, I am told, a few of the original subtitles, and some of those left have been changed to read cryptically. Why, heaven knows, for the film is certainly not one to appeal to morons or sensation seekers, and those who will be interested in it shouldn't be bothered with "button, button" reading matter.

"Mother Nature" is a study of human and animal life from the beginning of time. From the ameoba to the monkey. It is a thoughtful, highly intelligent offering.

There are several short subjects on the Cinema's bill of film fare, and in the lobby, cheering coffee and cigarets.

"THE COHENS AND KELLYS IN SCOTLAND."

Produced by Universal.
Directed by William J. Craft.
Presented at Woods' theater.
THE CAST.

COHEN	GEORGE SIDNEY
KELLY	CHARLES MURRAY
MRS. COHEN	VERA GORDON
MRS. KELLY	KATE PRICE
McPHERSON	E. J. RADCLIFFE
McDONALD	WILLIAM COLVIN
PRINCE OF MORANIA	LLOYD WHITLOCK

George Sidney has a terrible time saying "It's a braw, bricht nicht, th' nicht" and the audiences at Woods' hugely enjoy his struggles.

As a matter of fact the Monday night patrons seemed to approve of "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland" from start to finish. If one likes abiesirishrosers, one apparently likes them equally well staged in the ghetto, London, the Sahara, or Scotland.

This is the fourth of a series of pictures dealing with the adventures of the Irish and Hebrew clothing business partners. This time, however, Cohen and Kelly are not partners when the film opens. No, they have split up.

Unknown to each other, both, with their respective wives, are in Scotland for the purpose of buying up plaids. Reason? O, we must leave something for the picture to show you.

Messrs. Sidney and Murray and Mesdames Gordon and Price handle the leads as per their usual hearty fashion, and the supporting cast is an adequate one. True, E. J. Radcliffe and William Colvin, who play two canny Scottish clothiers [though not canny enough!] have a fierce time talking like Scots, but, hoot mon, so would we. Direction and photography are all right, and the dialogue just what you might expect.

See you soon.

John Stands Treat for Maxwell Clan; Calls Pirate Ancestor

Here is a scheme that might not work so well for the Jones, the Johnson or Smith clans, but for the Maxwells it did very well.

The idea for the reunion belonged to John Maxwell, and its lure was a feast to which he invited the other Maxwells, the only fee exacted being that they should listen to a speech by him.

The Maxwells gathered at 35 East Van Buren street last night. They heard talks in which the dialect of Scotia lingered, even if the host did tell them that they sprung from an old Norse pirate, who had conquered the Isle of Man. They agreed that since he had been one of the bigger and better pirates, there was no reflection on any one who was descended from him.

The guests heard that a lineal descendant of this bigger and better pirate sits in the British house of lords. They applauded when they regarded themselves as descendants of younger branches of the clan, who had made places for themselves in various parts of the earth. They all departed happy, leaving a happy host behind them. John Maxwell runs a vegetarian restaurant at the address at which the banquet was held.

Seeks $120,000 Fund to Help Produce Plays

Goodman Theater Starts Campaign Today.

The survival of the Goodman theater, which in its five years of existence has continued to strengthen its position among Chicago's arts and entertainments, in the face of financial difficulties, will be decided by the success of a campaign to raise $120,000. Subscriptions will be sought in efforts that will begin today.

The theater cannot survive without that support; with it, it will begin a program of expansion with the end of making it the foremost producing theater in the United States, unique among civic theaters. That was announced yesterday by Robert B. Harshe, director of the Art Institute of Chicago, parent institution to the Goodman theater.

Ten thousand subscriptions will be sought. If the theater receives that public support the Art institute will guarantee it against loss, as it has done in the past. But with that support, the theater probably would need no aid from the institute, and would be on a paying basis for the first time in its history, Cloyd Head, business manager of the theater, said.

The Art institute's budget for the following year having been reduced by $100,000, the institute does not feel that it can continue to aid the theater materially, according to Mr. Harshe.

"If we succeed in obtaining 10,000 subscriptions, we will no longer be limited financially, and will engage a larger company, including actors and actresses of conspicuous talent, and will be able to produce a much greater variety of plays. We will have guest actors for some of the plays. We expect to be known particularly for our interesting repertory," Mr. Head said.

The last year has been particularly successful for the Goodman theater, Mr. Harshe said. The plays it has produced were equal in importance to any in the country, he declared, and attendance being satisfactory. With only a desultory attempt to sell subscriptions 1,500 persons were numbered as subscribers, Hubert Osborne, who is interested in the theater, said.

"We feel that the producers of the theater have built up a solid basis which deserves public support. It is now up to Chicago. Does it want such a theater? If it does, we can build it into a tremendous institution," Mr. Harshe said.

He will announce the proposed campaign and program of expansion to members of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs in the Goodman theater at 11 o'clock this morning.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

What do you think of Henry Ford's diet idea: Fruit for breakfast, proteins or luncheon, starchy foods for dinner?

The Answers.

Mrs. Esther A. North, 6355 Cottage Grove avenue, housewife—I imagine that that would be the healthy way to live. But it is not convenient for every one to take the heaviest meal at noon. For myself, I am hungry in the morning and want something more substantial than fruits alone.

Harry Rommen, 717 Waveland avenue, accountant—Applied with moderation, Mr. Ford's diet is splendid. This I know from experience. Most people eat too much meat. We should take more fruits and vegetables. There should be changes in the diet, but not too much of a mixture.

Miss Gladys Patterson, 1311 North Dearborn street, interior decorator—I am not counting my calories; I always eat what I want. I think the ideal meal contains both proteins and starchy foods. Most persons would not be satisfied with fruits alone for breakfast.

Russell Flint, 4438 Greenview avenue, salesman—Looked at from a chemical viewpoint, Ford's diet idea is right. Fruits containing citric acid, like oranges and grape fruit, are preferred for breakfast. We should eat the protein foods at noon because the body can work them off during the afternoon.

Miss Katherine Keating, 6339 South Ada street, clerk—Elderly persons should not eat meat at all. Thus they would prevent high blood pressures, and would have good tempers. I do not care for starchy foods. Vegetables, fruits, milk and tea instead of coffee—that's my idea of a good diet.

THE STAGE

"THE RIVALS."

Richard Brinsley Sheridan's comedy, revived by the Art Institute Civic Repertory company at the Goodman theater, March 11, 1930.

THE CAST.

Sir Anthony Absolute	Carl Kroenke
Captain Absolute	Harry Mervis
Faulkland	Neal Caldwell
Acres	Roman Bohnen
Sir Lucius O'Trigger	Whitford Kane
Fag	Hale MacKeen
David	Hiram Sherman
Thomas	Thomas K. Fuson
A Boy	Elsie Dvorak
Mrs. Malaprop	Mary Agnes Doyle
Lydia Languish	Katherine Krug
Julia Melville	Ellen Root
Lucy	Bernard Ostertag
Julia's Maid	Sara Fenton

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE classic comedy of Georgian manners, as written in the rhetorical fireworks of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, is a severe test for the modern actor. The elaborate style, the highfaluting deportment, the mincing mannerisms of cane, snuff box, lace kerchief, and filigree fan that these pieces require has passed out of Thespian practice. Staging one of these ornate old pieces today is like putting a crew of standardized motor car mechanics at work on a job of Buhl cabinet making. They are extremely difficult to cast.

So when the Goodman theater company is discovered in an effective and fairly adequate production of Sheridan's "The Rivals" huzzas are inevitable. These players earn their praise. Last night's premiere was a sound interpretation of this piece, whose rôles are encrusted with the traditions of vanished greatness.

As heirs to the bluntness of modernism, the Goodman players do not give the impression of being to the artificial Georgian manner born; but they have been well schooled in the old flourishes, and they carry off their difficult assignment briskly and blithely. The characterizations are firmly sketched; the rigmarole of a plot holds the attention until it warms to the mellow merriment of Bob Acres' duel; and the laughs are neatly registered. Mrs. Malaprop's most celebrated "ism"—"as headstrong as an allegory on the banks of the Nile"—has fallen dead in many a more pretentious revival, but last night it exploded a roar.

Mary Agnes Doyle does not strain for the points to be scored by Mrs. Malaprop's amazing vocabulary, but she makes them, nevertheless. Hers is a very plausible treatment of the old she-dragon who had swallowed the dictionary; it is a malapropism in the easy style of a gentlewoman, without self-consciousness or effort. The Bob Acres of Roman Bohnen is a fair approximation of the English drama's most admired coward. As Sir Lucius O'Trigger, Whitford Kane is perfectly at home, of course; no "all star" cast could improve upon this version of the Hibernian duelist.

And so on down the list. They are all good: Katherine Krug for the languishing of Lydia; Ellen Root for the romantics of Miss Melville; Harry Mervis for the debonair militarism of Capt. Absolute; Neal Caldwell for the Byronic moods of Faulkland; Hale MacKeen for the snobbism of Fag, and Hiram Sherman for the homespun provincialism of David. The performance will improve when the trick of Sheridan's over-worded dialogue is thoroughly mastered; but it was ripe enough last night to put another little feather in the Goodman cap.

The costuming deserves a special footnote. It is rich, decorative, and precisely in the period. In the matter of wardrobe the Goodman competes vigorously with all forms of the drama west of the boulevard.

"The Rivals," done so competently, is a vibrant starting bell for the Goodman's drive toward a subscription list.

Will on Wrapping Paper Disposes of $500,000 Estate

Pana, Ill., March 11.—(AP)—The will of the late Mrs. Emma Walker, widow of Joshua B. Walker, former banker of Taylorville and Pana, an unusual document, written in pencil on a sheet of wrapping paper, disposing of property valued at $500,000, was offered for probate today. The document was penciled in a St. Louis hospital and was not signed by two witnesses.

Doctors Oppose Senator Jones' Maternity Bill

Call Project Invasion of State Rights.

Determined opposition to the proposed maternity and infancy act now being urged in the United States senate by Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.], co-author of the Jones 5 and 10 law, was voiced by the council of the Chicago Medical society last night. The doctors urged their associates throughout the country to fight the act as "paternalistic, un-American, impolitic, and wholly useless."

The names of the noted dry senator and the house sponsor of the act, Congressman J. G. Cooper [Rep., O.] were linked in a resolution unanimously adopted by the doctors. They charge the proposed maternity and infancy legislation is a "product of political expediency and not in the interest of public welfare." That act would provide $4,500,000 federal funds to the state which would supply an equal amount. The combined appropriations would be applied to infant welfare work.

In discussing the council's resolution, Dr. Charles B. Reed, president of the medical socley, said the Jones-Cooper proposal merely was an attempt to continue the Sheppard-Towner plan and to "invade state rights in about the same way that the prohibition law has invaded them."

The society's resolution denounced the propesition as an "imported socialistic scheme unsuited to our form of government."

"It appropriates $4,500,000 out of the United States treasury for the next three years in annual installments of a million and a half, payable on the contingency that the states, which would like to graft off the federal government for the public health and infant welfare work they should do themselves, will raise an equal amount.

"Illinois has refused to be a party to such a scheme, and the infant death rate has declined 50 per cent faster than has Indiana's, which has sought federal aid in terms of the old Sheppard-Towner law that the dry senator thinks should be revived.

"Infant mortality in states that stood on their own feet and paid their own way, like Illinois, has declined in almost every instance as fast, and in notable instances, faster, than states that were willing to accept public tax money to pay their private bills. Senator Jones is seeking to continue and extend this pernicious system.

"Representative Cooper is abetting him. Together they are sponsoring another invasion of the liberty and independence of the states and the citizens of those states. It is just one more scheme to extend the power of the federal government into private concerns similar to other schemes that have followed in the wake of the 18th amendment and the federal dry laws."

At the same meeting the council noted "progress" in regard to the Public Health institute. The council adopted the report of a medical advisory board appointed by the institute.

This report, it was said, "sustains and demonstrates many of the allegations which the Chicago Medical society has brought against the conduct of the institute heretofore. . . . We believe that it is only fair at this time to express our confidence in the ability and wisdom of our colleagues on the medical advisory board of the institute and we hope that in due season they will be able to bring about such changes in the character, personnel and management of that organization as to make it acceptable to the Chicago Medical society."

The institute had been regarded as unethical because it had advertised its services.

Latest Co-op Apartments Are 'Tailor Made'

BY THALIA

Some of the owners of the new apartments at Astor and Goethe streets are fortifying themselves against the unreliability of the promised date of completion by not planning to move in until the fall. The apartments won't all be ready at the same time anyway, because the interior division of rooms and decoration is being managed individually, according to the specific plans chosen by each of the occupants.

The Frank Hibbards are planning to move their furnishings from their apartment at 191 East Walton to the new building about the first week in May, but they themselves are to go out to Lake Bluff for six weeks, and will then depart to Watch Hill for the summer.

The Harold A. Howards who have been residing at the Lake Shore drive hotel expect their place to be ready for them by the first of June, but they wouldn't think of curtailing their annual summer stay at Bar Harbor, and so are not even considering moving in until autumn.

The John H. Winterbothams hope to be in some time this spring, but aren't counting on it too much, and the same is true of the Potter Palmers. Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hopkins, who were to have had one of the apartments, changed their minds and bought one in the 1500 block on Astor parkway, which won't be ready until next December. They and Mrs. Hopkins' daughters, Kay and Marjorie Goodman, are still in Arizona.

Others who are to occupy the Astor-Goethe building include the Tiffany Blakes, and Mrs. C. Morse Ely.

Announcement has been made in the east of the engagement of Miss Katharine Brady, daughter of Mrs. Henry H. Brady of New York City and Scranton, Pa., to John Grant Beadle, of Chicago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Grant Beadle of Galesburg, Ill., and nephew of Mrs. Albert Blake Dick, who was his mother's sister. Miss Brady attended Rosemary hall at Greenwich, Conn., and the Finch school in New York. Mr. Beadle prepared at the Taft school for college, and was graduated from Yale in 1927. The wedding is to take place next fall.

The cash register at the Junior league second hand sale yesterday recorded $2,200, and the stock, intended to last two days, was exhausted shortly after noon. Due to the zealous efforts for publicity exerted by the provisional members, who were in charge of the sale, eager bargain hunters arrived on the scene long before the opening at 8 o'clock, and the crowd was so tremendous a little later that the police had to be called.

Despite the near riot resulting from the number of patrons, the sale was managed without any major altercations, and even the hangers were disposed of in a few hours. One of the highlights of the morning was the arrival of a prospective customer with infant in arms. The baby was intrusted to the amateur salesgirls, and was passed from one to another, until the mother had completed her shopping exploration.

One telephone call revealed a surprising offer. The owner of a fine singing canary said she would rade it for one of the garments on sale. Informed that such a transaction was not quite in line with the policy of the sale, she said, "Well, I'll bring it down anyway, and I'm sure you'll take it when you hear the bird." Miss Marianne Stevenson was manager-in-chief of the sale, and her assistants included Mrs. Alfred Wolfe, chairman of the selling committee; Miss Ruth Holloway, Miss Emeline Bush, Miss Janet Kirk, Miss Mary Ott, Miss Narcissa Swift, Mrs. Charles O'Connor Jr., Mrs. Ward Vilas, and Miss Patricia Hanley.

The Chicago Drama league announces a Sunday evening supper at the Casino next Sunday evening. Dr. Horace Bridges is to speak on "The Passing Show," commenting on the current theatrical offerings. Supper is to be at 6:30 o'clock, and the program at 7:30 o'clock. An open discussion of the current plays will follow the lecture.

Among the women who are to give luncheons in Winnetka next Monday before the style show for the benefit of Northwestern settlement are Mrs. James S. Pole, Mrs. Ernst von Amon, Mrs. Morton Knode, Mrs. Harry Wells, Mrs. C. R. Glover, Miss Edith Kohlsaat, and Mrs. John Hooker.

Mrs. William O. Goodman gave a buffet supper party on Saturday afternoon for the cast of "Little Women" at the Goodman theater, at which time announcement was made that the next play to be presented will be "The Poor Little Rich Girl."

Mrs. Elmer Schlesinger has been on from Washington, D. C., to visit her mother, Mrs. Robert W. Patterson of the Drake hotel.

Italy's position in the world of culture and politics, both past and present, will be discussed by Prof. Walter Bullock of the Romance language department of the University of Chicago, tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock at the loop Y. Albin Polasek Called to Judge Sculptures for Philadelphia Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Albin Polasek, head of the sculpture department of the Chicago Art institute art school, has had a signal honor conferred on him. He has been appointed a jury of one to pass upon contributions in the Chicago area to the biennial exhibition of sculpture-in-the-open-air that opens in Philadelphia on May 15 under the auspices of the Philadelphia Art alliance. Lorado Taft, Chicago's internationally famous sculptor, will open the exhibition with an address.

A number of important prizes are offered. The Fairmount Park Art association of Philadelphia offers $1,000 for the best piece of sculpture suitable for permanent erection out-of-doors. The Philadelphia Art alliance will give two prizes of $500 each, one for a group or a single figure suitable for placement in front of the Art Alliance building in Philadelphia, and the other for the best piece of sculpture irrespective of subject or prospective erection. The Garden Club of America will award a gold medal to the best decorative group or single figure suitable for a garden.

Sculpture by such important contemporary artists as Malvina Hoffman, Mr. Polasek, Katherine W. Lane, Stirling Calder, Hunt Diederich, Karl Gruppe, Grace Talbot, Gertrude K. Lathrop, Edith B. Parsons, Beatrice Fenton, and Herman A. MacNeil has been invited. The exhibition gives every promise of being one of the most important activities of the early summer.

The Fort Dearborn Camera club's eighth annual exhibit of pictorial photography now is hung in the clubrooms at 537 South Dearborn street. The prints are representative of the outstanding work of the year by members of the club and are extremely interesting. The exhibit is open to the public every evening. It closes March 14.

BOY, 2, LOSES $40,000 ESTATE SHARE, BUT IS AWARDED A MOTHER

Akron, O., March 11.—(AP)—A 2 year old boy lost his claim to a $40,000 estate, but won a mother in court today when Judge L. S. Pardee officially decided he was the son of Miss Lovella Rush, 20, of Barberton, O., instead of the son of Mrs. Carl H. Long.

Miss Rush testified she had "loaned" the boy at birth to the other woman, who pretended he was her own. The transfer was made in a hospital, and apparently deceived even Mrs. Long's husband.

Nearly a year ago, however, both Mr. and Mrs. Long were killed in the Cleveland clinic disaster. When the estate came into court for settlement Miss Rush claimed the boy as her own. She named his father, but said she did not know his present whereabouts.

The boy, who had been known as "Carl Long Jr.," now will be named "Richard Rush," his mother said.

With Richard eliminated as a potential heir to the Long estate, brothers of Long and children of Mrs. Long by a former marriage agreed upon a basis for settlement out of court.

Jacques Gordon Plays, Perhaps Last Time in Chicago as Soloist

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It may have been, though one sincerely hopes not, the last opportunity to hear Jacques Gordon as soloist when he appeared with the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday afternoon. As already has been told, he is leaving the orchestra at the end of this season to devote himself to the gentler voiced art of the string quartet, and as has been told by indirection, a series of recitals in which he was announced for the spring have been canceled.

At any rate he was present in the best of form yesterday afternoon. In the seldom played Concerto in E by Bach, his fine, full bodied tone matched the sturdy, unsentimentalized, but warm music in ideal fashion. Later in the program he played Ernest Schelling's Concerto, another work that has been heard at these concerts only once, and here again he was a success, perhaps a greater popular success than in the Bach.

When Mr. Schelling wrote his concerto he made one error of judgment. He became unduly optimistic over the ability of a solo violin to stand out against an overstuffed orchestra accompaniment, and there were times yesterday when even so commanding a tone as Mr. Gordon's got pretty well lost in the stuffing. At the same time the work is founded on such excellent thematic material, and there were so many places where Mr. Gordon seized the opportune to play brilliantly and persuasively that the performance deserves to take a high rating in the season's events. Incidentally the page opposite the program told that Mr. Schelling had contributed $500 to the orchestra's pension fund.

Mr. Stock contributed to the pleasures of the afternoon by repeating Bossi's extremely agreeable "Intermezzi Goldoniani" and Beethoven's "Pastoral" symphony. The latter is one of the good things of the orchestral repertoire, even though the storm scene, which Hector Berlioz considered to be "a frightful cataclysm; the universal deluge; the end of the world," is coming to sound more than a little naive these days, about as important as a musical delineation of the emotions of a man making out his income tax. But as a performance by Mr. Stock and the orchestra, it was uncommonly interesting.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 11.—An angry French perfumer is bringing court action against Elizabeth Arden, one of America's beauty specialists.

He is Maurice Babani, who has taken his grievances to Examining Magistrate Delahaye. Mr. Babani later may file suits for several million francs.

For years, M. Babani declares, he made Elizabeth Arden's perfumes. He charges that two years ago their business relations ended and some months later detectives found a French factory where bottles copying Babani's were being made for Elizabeth Arden. He also charges Elizabeth Arden proceeded to manufacture and market the perfume which he created for her on the condition that he alone be allowed to manufacture it.

Jessie Gladys Graham is the manager of the Pari's office and an associate of Elizabeth Arden.

Hold Missionary Session.

Centralia, Ill., March 11.—(AP)—Dr. George I. Howard, an evangelist missionary from South America, called on the people of North America to work for South Americans for the "good of the world." He spoke before the missionary convention of the Methodist Episcopal church here today. The Rev. Benson Baker, veteran missionary to low castes and out castes in India, told of that work.

British Preacher Tells Convention the Papacy Would Regain England

NOTTINGHAM, England, March 11.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. Alfred Sharp, in his presidential address at the annual National Council of the Evangelical Free Churches, today said: "We are approaching the time when once again there will be a clash between the two opposing forces.

"Rome works with deadly persistency. The prize—the winning back of England to the Roman faith—is a great one. All that devotion, strength and persistency can accomplish will be thrown into the conflict. I have no fear of the result of the free churches to stand firm."

Continuing, Dr. Sharp said the free churches never could accept state domination. The bishop of Durham had contended the dominion of the state in the mother church should be abolished, but to obtain "this freedom," Dr. Sharp added, the price must be paid.

The conference, which lasts for three days, received the welcoming Anglican deputation headed by the Rt. Rev. Henry Mosley, bishop of Southwell.

French Writer Says Women Will Rule in Homes of World

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 11.—The overthrow of the dictatorship of man and a new social system in which women will be supreme in the home and man's economic equal is foreseen by Lucien Romier. Already the author of "Who Shall Be Master, Europe or America?" his new book, "Woman's Promotion," is causing much discussion throughout Europe. In his former book he notes mass prosperity and other American factors and the differences in the status of women. In discussing the newer book today he said:

"Man's authority, it is easy to observe, throughout the world is on the decline. On the other hand, woman is progressing at such a tremendous rate that the old social system has been upset. Woman's emancipation has been so rapid in fact that it has been difficult for her to find her equilibrium and she will have to create for herself an entirely new situation."

M. Romier pointed out that woman already has attained legal equality with man in a large part of the world and everywhere else is swiftly realizing her independence. In Germany 11,000,000 women now are working outside their homes and in France 4,000,000.

"Woman will displace man," M. Romier predicted, "in all the professions requiring the qualities of conscientiousness, tact, finesse and regularity, such as secretaryships in a large proportion of administrative duties, and even in such work as is done by prescription druggists. The trades and professions must be reclassified, turning over to women the work for which they are peculiarly qualified."

The revision of the economic situation also will raise the extremely difficult problem of marriage and the home, says M. Romier, a subject also dealt with in his former book. Among educated women 60 per cent are independent at present, he now says. M. Romier does not believe, however, that woman, under the new social system, will entirely abandon her domestic profession, but, on the contrary, she must become supreme in the home.

"In matters of love and marriage," he says, "woman will be freed of all fetters except modesty, for woman without modesty cannot keep any man's interest. The European man, like the American, must relinquish his dictatorship in the home, and it will be to their mother that the children will look for authoritative decisions."

Present Age Reeks with False Sentiment, Bishop Wilson Insists

We live in the most sentimental age in the world's history, according to the Rt. Rev. Frank E. Wilson, Episcopal bishop of Eau Claire, who spoke at the noonday Lenten service in the Garrick theater yesterday. Bishop Wilson stated that hundreds of thousands go to the movies daily to enjoy a good weep and added that an emotional insincerity has seized the American public.

The talk about cold-blooded commercialism and hard-hearted industrialism Bishop Wilson declared to be without foundation.

"We think we are hard, but as a matter of fact we are painfully soft," the Eau Claire prelate said. "The moving pictures present prolonged appeals to your most watery emotions. The air is filled with speeches consisting of flowery rhetoric which says nothing but makes you feel fine.

"Public sentiment vaporizes over anything that touches its softer sensibilities. One of the scandals of the day is the way juries render verdicts in accord with emotions rather than the dictates of justice. I would guarantee that if all newspapers of Chicago would collaborate in presenting some wholly unworthy cause, embroidered with quantities of sob stories, the public would forsake its judgment and pour thousands of dollars into something that never should be done."

Bishop Wilson concluded by saying that Christianity is not a search for religious pleasures but perseverance in religious convictions. He pointed out that Christ called on his followers "to persevere unto the end" in order to be saved.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

The plant food value of rock phosphate has been well demonstrated by high school agricultural students throughout Illinois. This is apparent in the results, announced this week, of a statewide contest in experimental projects underway throughout last year, in which 119 students participated. J. E. Hill, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, says that the 119 tests indicate that rock phosphate increases yield and quality of grain crops and enables a follow-up legume to get a better start.

The entire state was represented in the list of participating students, and the range of crops that Illinois produces shows up in the report. Of the contestants in the enterprise 52 tried wheat, with a legume crop to follow; 25 experimented with corn; 13 with oats, and 7 attempted alfalfa production. There were a dozen more who tried the rock phosphate on sundry other farm commodities—soy beans, barley, peas, and others. Awards are as follows:

Dora Devore, Sullivan High school boy, placed first with a wheat and clover test plot. Virgil Hoffman of Walnut was second with a corn project, and Clyde York of Jacksonville placed third with a test on wheat followed by a stand of sweet clover. Fourth honors were shared between Albert Kallal of Jerseyville and Amos Huls of Carthage. Linden Cusey of Heyworth, with an alfalfa experiment, placed fifth.

Dr. W. L. Burlison, head of the agronomy division; Dr. George Dungan of the crops department; Dr. F. C. Bauer of the experimental station service, and R. H. Wilcox, associate professor of farm management, all connected with the University of Illinois, judged the reports.

Is Life Over for the Femme of 40? Your Answer Wanted

BY DORIS BLAKE.

What do men talk about when they get together at lunch time?

We can't speak for all of them. Only for "Joe and John and Tom and Some Others," as signature to their letter ascribes. They talk girls. They get downright personal, too.

One of them, Joe or John or Tom says that a woman at 40 should be saying her prayers. One of them, Joe, or John, or Tom, says: "No. At 40 a woman is in the prime of life. Even if she has several children and her husband is dead she ought to be looking out for the lone years when the children are married and gone. She ought to fuss about herself, dress well, go to beauty parlors and try to look as young as she can. For she is going to be a long time alone if she doesn't take on another husband."

Now, you, my readers, are asked to contribute to the momentous question of whether a woman of 40 should be on her knees or on the qui vive?

I say: "How about rendering unto Mrs. Cæsar, the beauty shop owner, the marcel and facial tolls that are hers and unto prayer——"

Of course a woman of 40 should be saying her prayers. So should one of ten, twenty, and thirty. So should boys of all ages be exercising the creak out of their knee joints as well as their souls in daily devotion. It never did any one any harm, man or boy, girl or woman. And it is reported on excellent authority that a great deal of good comes from the habit. It is respectfully and reverently recommended. But no more for the woman of 40 than for the one of 22, and no more for one sex than for the other.

But what really provoked the luncheon debate was another preceding it. It seems the group is divided likewise on the subject of whether a widow with children has a chance at all to marry. A widow with no encumbrances, it is heartily agreed, has chances.

Marriage statistics do not support the lunchers' verdict that a widow with children is out of the running. In fact, she makes up quite a body of second-timers. The facts that she has children, is alone, and in need of protection lends her quite a lure. If she is a good mother, there is additional appeal in that.

ANITA PAGE, the young Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star whose beauty has won millions of hearts, says: "I always use Lux Toilet Soap. It keeps my skin so wonderfully smooth."

Anita Page

"FOR the girl who wants to be charming, one thing is essential," says Anita Page, the girl whose blonde loveliness has won her universal devotion on the screen. "It's smooth skin!

"No matter how lovely your figure—your eyes—your hair—you can't have that compelling something unless your skin is softly clear and glowing. And if it is, you're sure to be attractive!

"Screen stars, you know, have to keep their skin silky smooth and fine-textured every minute. Motion picture directors found out long ago that without lovely skin no girl can hope to win and hold the hearts of millions. The glaring close-up lights reveal even the tiniest flaws!

"Several years ago, some of us discovered just the care our skin needs to keep it always at its best—Lux Toilet Soap! Then more and more of the stars began to use it, until now almost every girl I know is devoted to this delightful soap.

CATHERINE DALE OWEN M.G.M. uses Lux Toilet Soap

"Catherine Dale Owen, for instance. Did you ever see smoother, lovelier skin? And Kay Johnson, too. They both use Lux Toilet Soap regularly.

"Regular care with Lux Toilet Soap—that's my prescription for lovely skin—and any girl can follow it!"

KAY JOHNSON, M. G. M., "Leaves my skin so smooth!"

9 out of 10 Lovely Stars use it—in Hollywood—on Broadway—in Europe

Of the 521 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, 511 use Lux Toilet Soap.

The Broadway stage stars are devoted to it, too. And now even the European stars have enthusiastically adopted it!

You will like Kotex
because of its rounded, tapered corners

And you will like the assurance that 85% of America's leading hospitals use this very same absorbent.

YOU'LL discover, once you use Kotex, any number of things about it which distinguish it from any ordinary sanitary pad. One of these is the fact that it's shaped to fit. That means you have inconspicuous protection. You can wear any kind of frock under the most difficult circumstances and you're entirely free of self-consciousness. You can feel immaculate and dainty, for Kotex deodorizes by a special process, which is most effective.

Then, too, Kotex is hygienically safe. It protects health at a time when vitality is low. Over 85% of our leading hospitals have chosen the very same material of which Kotex is made, because of its remarkable efficiency and surgical purity. What a comfort to know you are using the same sanitary protection hospitals find best.

Superior Absorbent

Kotex, you know, is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding . . . a cellulose substance which performs the same sanitary function as cotton, with five times the absorbency.

Then, of course, there is the reason most women first began to use Kotex. It is disposable. Just think what that fact alone has meant to the women of America and women all over the world. You will want to try Kotex if you haven't already. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

IN HOSPITALS . . .
1—Kotex absorbent is used in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much!
3—Kotex is soft . . . Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

GRACE DIXON, WAR WORKER, DIES IN WEST

Leader in Many Charity and Club Affairs.

Miss Grace Dixon, a daughter of the late Arthur Dixon, founder of the Dixon Transfer company, and a sister of George W. Dixon, died yesterday in the Pasadena hospital, Pasadena. Death was caused by uremic poisoning. She had been ill several years.

Miss Dixon was well known in Chicago for her interest in charity and her home service during the world war. She was a former president of the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, sponsoring benefits in its behalf and also for the Park Ridge School for Girls. She was chairman for Illinois in a nation-wide financial campaign in 1919 for the Y. W. C. A.

During the war Miss Dixon aided in the second Liberty Loan drive as chairman of the Chicago Reserve district. She was active in the Chicago Woman's club and on the board of the Woman's exchange. She was also chairman of the legislative department of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs in 1922. She was a member of the Woman's Athletic club, the Casino club, the Three Arts club, and the Wednesday Fortnightly club. For years she taught a class in the Fourth Presbyterian church.

In her earlier life Miss Dixon was a lover of outdoor sports. She was an expert swimmer and golf player, and could manage a yacht with great skill.

Miss Dixon is survived by six brothers and three sisters: Mrs. W. B. Martin, Mrs. Walter Faithorn, Mrs. Paul Walker, Arthur A., George W., Thomas J., William W., Homer L., and Alan C. Dixon. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Musicals Give Radio Audience Happy Evening

Piano Soloist, Mozart Story Are Features.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

If the radio audience made the most of its opportunities last evening, it found much of value.

Alexander Brailowsky was soloist on the chain program through KYW, 7:30 to 8. Time limitations prevented other than the playing of short length pieces, but these were treasures to hear when produced by this great pianist. It is interesting to note that as illustrating his interpretive inclinations rather than as displaying his technical prowess, he used slightly over a minute and a half in playing Chopin's "Minute" waltz.

A dramatization of the life and works of Mozart by the Paulist choir, a soprano soloist, violin soloist and an orchestra, from New York, through W-G-N, 8 to 8:30, loomed large in things important and impressive. The almost unbelievable story of the short notice writing of the overture to the "Marriage of Figaro" was skillfully handled. A portion of the A major Concerto for violin was a pretty feature, while the events leading up to the writing of the composer's great "Requiem" (Mozart's last work) was enhanced by a portion of the mass being sung by the Paulist choir.

Delicately, sonorously, and richly invested with color and variety, the chamber music concert from W-G-N, 9:30 to 10, wove a magic spell of beauty. Six English tunes arranged for string choir and flute; Bach's Air for G string, Ben Simon, violinist, being the soloist; two woodwind selections, played by the woodwind choir, by Herbert Johnson, pianist, are illustrated numbers on the list.

Mme. Belle Forbes Cutter, soprano, and Albert Rappaport, tenor, were stars in a Musical Comedy Memories program through WBBM, 9:30 to 10.

E. F. ALBEE DIES; FORMER HEAD OF KEITH VAUDEVILLE

New York, March 11.—[Special.]—E. F. Albee, former head of the B. F. Keith vaudeville interests and many years the virtual ruler of that branch of theatricals, died of angina pectoris in Palm Beach, Fla., tonight, according to word received here. He was 72.

Mr. Albee's wife and his two children, Reed Adelbert Albee, and Mrs. E. C. Lauder Jr., were with him at his death. He left for the south three weeks ago, apparently in the best of health. The body will be brought here for burial by his family.

Mr. Albee was born at Machias, Me., Oct. 8, 1857, son of Nathan S. and Amanda A. Albee. His father was the grandson of William Albee, one of the original Minute Men of 1776. His great-great-grandsire took part in the first naval battle of the revolution against Great Britain.

He had scant education when he joined a wagon show, which he followed for seven years, feeding the lions, watering the elephants, and performing other chores.

In 1883 he went to Boston and met the late B. F. Keith, who gave him a job as chief of staff. Mr. Albee introduced Gilbert and Sullivan. When he staged the first excerpt from the "Mikado," and charged 10 and 25 cents admission, the police of Boston had a difficult time holding back the crowds that tried to get into the theater.

Keith and Albee won success in Boston and built vaudeville theaters in other cities.

Mr. Albee remained in partnership with Keith until the latter's death. Keith divided his fortune, estimated at $15,000,000, equally between his son, A. Paul Keith, and Mr. Albee. When A. P. Keith died in 1918, he, in turn, left a portion of his theater holdings to Mr. Albee.

Comedian, Who Taught Chaplin How to Act, Dies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 11.—Harry Weldon, celebrated British comedian, who taught Charlie Chaplin how to act, died today at 48 after an illness of several months. Weldon scored his first success in a vaudeville sketch, "The Football Match." Charlie Chaplin was then playing odd rôles under the same management at $10 per week. He was assigned as understudy to Weldon, and one night in Liverpool Chaplin played his part, but was far from being a hit.

What could be wiser than to follow in the footsteps of those who know to their everlasting joy what Konjola has done? Read the testimonial here. Konjola is a compound that will surprise you. Six or eight bottles should be taken as a systematic treatment. It contains no heart-depressing nor nerve-deadening chemicals. Konjola is sold at the rate of 25,000 bottles a day.

Now read what Mrs. Morgan says of Konjola:

"For seven years I had indigestion. All medicines I tried did no good, and diets, however strict, failed to bring relief. This long and painful siege of stomach trouble impaired my general health. But what a change Konjola made! Today I can eat anything I like without discomfort, and I am better than for years. I was advised by friends to take Konjola and now I gladly recommend it."

Buy Konjola at any drug store—

Here Are Methods of Curing Habit of Thumb Sucking

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A "Play Booklet" by Mrs. Bevans for mothers of pre-school children will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Some cases of thumb sucking being touched upon yesterday, suggestions for dealing with the habit are next in order. Of course, one of the first things to do is to remove the cause, if possible. If a child resorts to thumb sucking as a comfort, try to remove the underlying reason for his needing comfort. Try some of these general expedients:

Find out if he is in good physical condition. If not, make him so and keep him so.

Remove causes for nervous or emotional tension. Don't let him get overtired. Keep him active and outdoors as much as possible.

Understand him. Love him, but not sentimentally.

See that he has three important things: Freedom, and interesting occupation, and companionship. Then try to deal with the habit, itself, and that just as early as possible. There are various ways of doing this, recommended by various teachers and pediatricians. Some of them are noted below. But it must always be borne in mind that what works with one child may not work with another.

Also, this warning must be posted—again one which advises you to take into account the individual disposition of your child. Be watchful if you use any mechanical device. Sometimes the frustration which these obstacles present produces a rage, or a nervousness, or a rebellion against restraint of activity which is in itself worse than the habit it is directed toward curing. Following are a few statements relative to the habit of finger sucking:

Children often drop the habit when they begin school, because it stamps them as babies. Many wrappings of the particular finger with adhesive tape is recommended. Cardboard around the elbow. Removing the hand gently and without comment every time it is put in the mouth has been a method used with very little children—the persistence breaking up the habit routine.

Long sewed up sleeves on nightgowns are sometimes successful. Also, in cases where a child sucks his fingers only on going to sleep, the substituting of a cozy toy like a doll or furry animal has a comforting effect. Later, this can be discontinued.

This has been necessarily only a brief handling of the subject. Additional help may be obtained by reading, but not a great deal has been written on the subject.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cereals for Puddings.

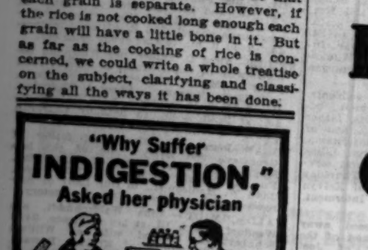
There are different ways of making breakfast cereal, cooked in the top of a double boiler, quite good enough for pudding service. Dates with farina, or white corn meal mush, make an excellent morning mush which, if put into molds rinsed out with cold water while it is hot and then allowed to cool and perhaps chill, may be served with cream and sugar as a perfectly good dessert.

And then there are ways of cooking either the coarsely ground grain or flour so as to prepare what would perhaps be just a pudding, although possibly it might be used as a cereal.

One of the excellent little puddings of a quite simple type and one to be served hot as a luncheon dessert when one feels the need of pampering himself a bit, is the following: Cook one-half cup graham or whole wheat flour with two cups of water and a level teaspoon salt in the double boiler for an hour or more and add some raisins or dates, if you choose, but we can have a good pudding without them.

Serve it hot with a little sugar and cream and perhaps a grating of nutmeg. There are many other sorts of graham puddings, but none as easy to make or simpler than this. It is only necessary that the flour be fresh and preferably of the old fashioned type. If the flour is stale or has not been properly cared for, the pudding will have a strawy taste that is not agreeable.

Not many people know that the easiest way to cook a small amount of rice is to put it into the double boiler with twice its measure of boiling water and then cook it for an hour. This is the best way of getting rice so that each grain is separate. However, if the rice is not cooked long enough each grain will have a little bone in it. But as far as the cooking of rice is concerned, we could write a whole treatise on the subject, clarifying and classifying all the ways it has been done.



"Gas and 'sour' stomach can now be corrected without the use of burning, irritating soda, or vicious, habit-forming cathartics."

Calcium Carbonate, (2½ times as effective as soda) in tablet form, is the ideal anti-acid: sure, swift and positive in its relief, yet safe in its use. It is the only remedy which does not upset the acid equilibrium of the body and is incapable of over-dosage.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are Calcium Carbonate in its best and most convenient form, blended with other valuable substances. That's why we urge their use as the only kind for children, and best for men and women.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

Strange Tribes Appear on Sports Accessories

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The first smart spring accessories in Paris are making use of strange tribes as decoration. Hunting scenes, like the bookish tourist sees in Roman friezes, march across the newest of Parisian scarves and bags. They are less civilized, however, and much more jazzy. Headhunters and tribesmen with their slaves and satellites are the subjects that are depicted on fashionable accessories just coming out in Paris.

Naturally such sporty decors are for sports accessories, and, being intended thus, they are made out of rough, hand woven materials suitable for sports.

If you wear a plain dark tailored suit, as many chic ladies will do this spring, you add human and sartorial interest to it by carrying a handbag like the one sketched. It is made of shaded orange basketweave woolen, and has a mounting of an ebony wooden top with a crouching black savage for a handle, big knife in hand, and a short raffia skirt amidships. On the side of the bag is embroidered a hunting scene in primitive Africa.

Below this is sketched the accompanying scarf made also of orange basket weave wool and embroidered with the same hunting exploits. This scarf owes some of its chic to its normal waistline length and its unusual breadth.

A black silk umbrella, no longer than the bag, accompanies this accessory ensemble, and is made one with it by the ebony figure of the head tribesman with his curved ivory knife that is sculptured on the handle.

Sculptured wooden hat ornaments are also designed by Moulin to match these sets. They are jointed and can be curved around the hat like the ebony cat shown at the top of our sketch.

Longs and Shorts Equal in World of Hairdressing

by Gabrielle Donnelly

To keep on bobbing, or growing, is the lady's own business, it would seem from a canvass of hairdressing centers and photograph rows upon rows of debutantes and stage and movie stars.

There is nothing radically different to report in hairdressing. Everybody thinks that longer hair is called for by the lengthened skirt and some are heroically trying to answer the call. Others already have met the emergency and some, again, refuse to recognize it.

The hairdressing places have all three stages of hair growth in mind. They are ready for whatever the customer wants. Short, growing stage, or long, one can find charming coiffures to suit. The young, it is true, seem to lean to long hair. The older women who believe they clip off a year or two with short locks continue to keep the year clipped. The in-between stagers haven't much say as theirs is a period of helpless waiting.

This latter class, at the moment, do contribute the least attractive heads, by a long way. But criticism is hardly fair, for in spite of the advice to roll the straggling ends up and moor them, somehow, to the back of the neck, it is much easier advice to give than to put into practice. Not that the owners of the disorderly heads aren't willing. The hair isn't. You can't hurry its growth, either. It takes its own sweet time.

I saw a fascinating head, the other night. The hair was combed back off the forehead in front. About three-quarters of the way down the back of the scalp was a deep soft puff, clear across, from ear tip to ear tip. Directly beneath the puff was one row of sculptured curls running the same width across the head. And beneath this row, like a brief postscript, was a short, short row of curls [confined to the center of the back of the neck, practically].

The coiffure was extraordinarily pretty and dressy. But migoonness, who could manage that by herself, and what a nice growth of hair you'd need for such a coiffure! It hinted, however, of the possibility of such a hair arrangement.

Connoisseur Speaks.

When I was a country hick I came to Chicago to spend the summer with my cousin, who was a student at an art school. There was an exhibition of the pupils' work to which we all went. We stopped in a room where the parents and teachers had gathered; there were several pieces of sculpture standing around.

Not wanting to appear dumb, I said to my cousin, in the hearing of everyone else: "Pretty good work for young students, I think."

One of the teachers froze me with a look, and explained loudly that those particular pieces were casts of the most famous Greek works—the Apollo Belvidere, the Victory of Samothrace, etc. O, was I embarrassed!

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MILDRED H.: CONTINUE TO darken the lashes with mascara. It is the more satisfactory method. Dye used for the purpose is easily detected unless applied by an expert hand.

L. T.: LIQUID ROUGE, CAREFULly put on, is the most natural rouge. It should be applied with a bit of cotton and blended while still wet. You must be careful to avoid a hard edge of color where the rouge leaves off. Paste and powder rouge are easier to apply.

PACKARD

The PACKARD Dealer Can Serve You Best

Where would you most naturally get a prescription filled—in a reputable drug store or at the Indian Herb Man standing on the corner, robes and whiskers flowing beneath the blaze of cheap publicity, with nothing between him and his business but the wide blue sky?

The same with your transportation prescription. Most people would prefer to fill it at the place with the largest reputation instead of the longest promise. And, therefore, while a used Packard may be a good buy elsewhere, it is more naturally a better buy from a Packard dealer.
